PRESS FOR DETAILS OF PARRAL FIGHTING

Funston Making Every Effort to Get American Version---Washington Fears for Safety of Tompkins' Command.

Washington, April 14.—American Consul Edwards at El Paso telegraphed today that his reports indicated there had been no further fighting with American troops since the affray at Parral Wednesday night.

When Secretary Baker left the cabinet meeting he said there was "absolutely no change in the Mexican situation" and that the status of the American troops was the same.

Consul Edwards said Americans reaching El Paso from the interior of Mexico brought varied rumors of the fighting at Parral, but no confirmation of the report that 150 Mexicans were killed. All his information was that the Americans retired from Parral Wednesday and there was no news of further hostilities.

Arrival in the suburbs of Mexico City last night of Gen. Carranza with his retinue from Queretaro was reported by Special Agent Rodgers, who said it was believed Carranza planned to remain there during the negotiations for withdrawal of the United States troops and be in close touch with Gen. Obregon and other cabinet members.

Fear for Tompkins and His Men.

Deep anxiety was plainly manifested in official circles today over the fate of Major Tompkins and his little force of United States cavalry, attacked in Parral, Mexico, on Wednesday. Known to be outnumbered, perhaps beleagured in a district notoriously anti-American, it was feared the troops might be in grave danger.

Lack of information regarding the outcome of the first battle the American troops have had in Mexico with the natives and what steps Gen. Funston has taken to prevent further trouble, the question of what effect the attack will have on the administration's Mexican policy was under consideration today by President Wilson and his official family.

Gen. Carranza's note and telegram urging the withdrawal from Mexico of the American troops and all information at hand regarding the latest military developments were ready to be laid before the cabinet. It was said to be practically certain that no immediate order for withdrawing the troops would be given.

Gen. Funston today reported that he had received no word from Gen. Pershing on the fight Wednesday at Parral, but that he is continuing to press for information.

Secretary Baker said today there had been as yet no change in Gen. Funston's orders, but declined to discuss questions of policy raised by the Carranza note. The border commander's hands were entirely free, he said, to make any necessary disposition of the 30,000 men under his command.

FUNSTON SEEKS DETAILS.

Making Every Effort to Get American Story of Fighting.

San Antonio, Texas, April 14.—Maj. Gen. Funston is making every effort today to learn from Gen. Pershing the American side of the story of the fight at Parral. Wireless, field telegraph and every other available means of communication have been employed to get a report on the incident and the measures General Pershing has taken to relieve the little cavalry force that was forced to fight for its life Wednesday night.

Secretary Baker's instructions had not reached Gen. Funston early today, but scouts already are investigating Carranza troop movements in northern Mexico, through which the line of communications extends and officers in charge along the line of the Columbus to Casas Grandes have taken steps to guard against attacks.

BULLETIN.

General Pershing's Camp at Front, April 12.—(Via Aeroplane to Chihuahua April 13, Via El Paso Junction, April 14.)—About forty mounted men, believed to be Villa soldiers of Gen. Tarango's command, attacked last night an automobile supply train and were driven off after a short fight.

There were no American casualties. One Villa bandit was killed.

Any extensive movement of troops along the line, the seizure of railroads or the dispatch of additional men into Mexico will depend upon the exact wording of Secretary Baker's instructions and upon the character of Gen. Pershing's report.

PERSHING AND HERRERA MEET.

Carranza Commander in Pleasant Chat With American Leader.

Pershing's Camp at Front, April 7.—(By Courier to Columbus, N. M., April 14.)—A report reaching here from Mexican sources last night was that Julio Agosta, a Villa leader near Guerrero, had declared he would no longer fight against Americans. Agosta has been considered one of Villa's most steadfast men. His announcement, if true, is taken as strengthening the reports that Villa has met with serious defection among his own people. A conference of considerable significance took place here today when Gen. Louis Herrera, commander of the Carranza army, called upon Gen. Pershing. The meeting occurred in the middle of a mesa, five miles broad and twenty miles long. The two staffs sat in the open in a circle of cracker boxes and bacon tins, the only available chairs in the American headquarters camp. A hot sun blazed on the tins and flashed from the silver buckles on the leather chappare encasing the legs of the Mexican officials.

It was the first meeting by the men since the Pershing expedition crossed the border with a general of the Mexican staff. Herrera had arrived with twenty-five men several hours earlier at the ranch houses, about a mile from the American camp. His first greeting there was from an American private, a cavalryman who was at the ranch trying to buy food. This private walked up to the Mexican, whose coming into the region was unannounced, and held out his hand to the general, of whose rank he was ignorant. Gen. Herrera shook hands.

The conference, Gen. Pershing said this afternoon, was very pleasant. Gen.

Mayor Hosey Beats Retreat from Crowd of Angry Bloomingdalers.

IN DISGUST AND ANGER HE FLEES

Turbulent and Almost Riotous Protest Meeting Before Board.

"You don't know what you're talking about! You make me tired; you make me tired!"

And with these words, uttered in a mighty burst of wrath, Mayor William J. Hosey grabbed his hat and rushed from the office of the board of works Thursday night, leaving Chairman Robert E. Kelly and Member Frank E. Singrey, of the board, and City Attorney Guy Colerick to continue a turbulent and at times riotous combat of words with about fifty of the citizens of Bloomingdale and the north end of the Fourth ward, over the location of the new garbage incinerator on the grounds of waterworks pumping station No. 2

Got the Mayor's Goat.

It was the first time that those who have been associated with the mayor in more than a dozen years of a political and official career filled with tempestuousness, had seen him quit the field of strife. But the radical disagreement of the crowd of remonstrants with his views "got his goat" and he could stand it no longer.

The mayor, however, had earlier pleaded that another engagement would prevent his remaining long in the meeting, though he had continued in the wordy battle until 9:30, giving and taking with good will.

121 GIVEN WORK BY EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

During the past week 121 persons, 109 men and twelve women, were given jobs through the Fort Wayne branch of the state free employment bureau. The demand for help has been so great that the bureau was unable to fill more than half of the orders that were received. The demand for help is not only confined to Fort Wayne but many orders have been received from various cities. Saturday an order for six boilermakers, three blacksmiths and three machinists were received from Gary, all of which goes to demonstrate that there is plenty of work for all who want to work.

During the week the men were given employment as follows: Laborers, 76; boys, 2; dishwashers, 3; distributors, 3; drivers, 8; clerk, 1; dairyman, 1; farm hands, 6; machinist, 1; porter, 5; teamsters, 2.

Twelve women were given employment as follows: Dishwasher, 1; day workers, 2; general housework, 1; housework, 1; nurse girl, 1.

This will be the first time in the history of the club that girls have taken part in the staging of the productions.

At a business session of the Purdue Alumni association of Fort Wayne at Harmony hall on the evening of April 12 the following officers were elected: President, L. D. Nordstrum; vice president, Roy Young; secretary-treasurer, A. J. Magley. The annual stag banqtet will be given in the near future.

FROM COAST TO COAST FOR PURSE OF $3,000

A man, well up in years, judged from the fact that his brow was wrinkled and his hair had turned to white, walked into The Sentinel office at noon Friday, and announced himself as W. S. Chapman, aged 72, of Millington Green, Md. He stated that he was a hiker from Baltimore, Md., to Sacramento, Cal., on a wager of $3,000

He began his long journey on March 9, 1916, and has two years to complete his task in order to win the money which has been put up by the Jockey club of New York city. He is following the Lincoln highway as closely as possible, and states that he has enjoyed his experiences thus far. However, he was not very well pleased with the condition of some of the highways in Ohio.

Mr. Chapman has secured a written statement from the mayor of each city where he has stopped, one of the conditions necessary to win the wager.

East of the river there is recrudescence of activity on the part of the Germans, although no heavy actions are recorded in the official French communication of today. A small attack of French positions south of Douaumont in the part of the line where some of the heaviest fighting of the Verdun campaign has taken place, is said by the French war office to have geen repulsed. Along various sections of the front, east of the river, the artillery was more active.

Several minor engagements have occurred along the ocast of Asia Minor, between coast defenses and warships, one of which is said to have been hit.

It is said that in March 80 trading vessels of hostile nations, with an aggregate tonnage of 207,000, were sunk by German submarines or by mines.

FINAL WORD TO BERLIN WITHIN NEXT 48 HOURS

Washington Will Submit Testimony in Submarine Cases and Demand Evidence of Germany's Good Faith.

Washington, April 14.—After a prolonged cabinet meeting today it was announced that a communication to Germany on the submarine question would go forward as planned probably within the next forty-eight hours. It was said the case was complete without the affidavits which arrived on the steamer St. Paul.

The plan to present the American case with the accumulation of evidence that not the Sussex alone but other ships as well have been destroyed in violation of Germany's promises to the United States remained unchanged.

With the statement of fact will be a demand for evidence of Germany's good faith to make good her assurances. Nothing in the nature of a time limit will be attached, it was understood.

Developments in the strained situation are expected to follow rapidly.

The evidence collected by Secretary Lansing was placed before the cabinet today. Affidavits on the Sussex case which arrived on the steamer St. Paul were not before the cabinet but it was said other evidence was so complete that they were not entirely necessary to the preparation of the case.

The president and the cabinet showed no disposition to let the Mexican situation postpone action on the submarine question. The administration considers the German note practically shows that a submarine attacked the Sussex.

The president and the cabinet are understood to have agreed that the presentation of the facts shall be accompanied by a definite and final demand for evidence of Germany's good faith and observance of her guarantees, but probably will be accompanied by no time limit which properly could be described as an ultimatum.

EVIDENCE CLOSELY GUARDED.

Affidavits Collected in Sussex Case Arrive in New York.

New York, April 14.—Guarded by Sir Charles Allom, of the British foreign office, the evidence in the Sussex case, which has been gathered for the American state department arrived here on the St. Paul. It included affidavits of the survivors and was part of an exceptionally large amount of embassy mail, filling twenty big sacks. The affidavits are those gathered by attaches of the American embassies in Paris and London.

Among the St. Paul's 586 passengers was Edward H. Huxley, of Englewood, N. J., president of the United States Rubber Export company of this city, who was a passenger on the Sussex, escaping uninjured. Mr. Huxley after confirming previously cabled news dispatches regarding the attack on the Sussex, stated positively that from the hour that the vessel left the British shore until the moment that she was attacked and for nine hours thereafter not another vessel was sighted except the destroyer which came to the rescue. Mr. Huxley made this assertion in connection with the text of Germany's note of April 10 to the state department citing an attack by a German submarine on an unarmed vessel in the vicinity of the Sussex at the hour when the latter met with mishap. Mr. Huxley also said he was positive the Sussex carried no ammunition. The German note declared that a "violent explosion" on the ship which was torpedoed warranted the "certain conclusion that great amounts of munitions were aboard."

When he and other passengers were in the junior officer's room on board the rescuing destroyer, Mr. Huxley said a warrant officer who had talked with the captain of the Sussex declared that the captain had said he had seen the wake of a torpedo.

Mr. Huxley showed a letter which he said had been written by Captain Thomas Carroll, French embassy, in which Carroll said: "I have just helped take from the poor Sussex nearby the body of a woman with a piece of a German torpedo imbedded in her stomach."

The Sussex had on board only three military officers—two French and one Russian—Mr. Huxley declared. It was understood that Mr. Huxley planned to visit Washington and confer with state department officials regarding the Sussex.

AMERICAN PEOPLE READY.

Cheers and Shouts of "Yes" Answer President Wilson.

Washington, April 14.—President Wilson speaking at a Jefferson day banquet of democrats from all parts of the country here last night, prayed that the United States would not be drawn into a quarrel not of its own choosing, but asked if the people were ready to go in where the interests of America were coincident with the interests of humanity, and have the courage to withdraw when the interests of humanity had been conserved. He was interrupted by cheers and shouts of "yes."

ROBS SLENDER LARDER TO BUY BOOZE; GETS COUNTY ROAD JOB FOR 120 DAYS

While his wife worked as a kitchen slavey and scullery maid in a cheap restaurant to get money to support her three little children, Henry Elwell, her husband, was robbing the meager larder of the family home in the stables at the rear of 421 East Berry street, toting off the eggs and the flour to get money to buy booze.

That is why Elwell was touched up with a fine and costs that footed $20 and given a jail sentence of one hundred days, altogether aggregating a penal term of four beautiful spring and summer months, which Judge H. Waveland Kerr in the city court Wednesday morning adjudged that the devoted husband and tender father should spend working on the public highways of Allen county under auspices and direction of the board of commissioners, the per diem of $1 to go to the wife paying for their keep.

His wife, as provided in the "lazy husband" act.

Mrs. Elwell testified that for months she had not seen the color of money earned by her husband, though she admitted that he did now and then purchase groceries. Last Saturday night he came home, brewed a quarrel and then went out and invested in a quart of whisky. He raped the pantry of the flour and eggs, toted off the family clock and some clothing and was hawking them about for drink money. Elwell's defense was that his wife preferred to slosh around at dish-washing in a restaurant to remaining at home, caring for the children and cooking his meals while he earned the living. Of the three children—aged, respectively, 7, 4 and 2 years—one is at the home of Mr. Elwell's brother and two are cared for at the Relief union.

Milk Prices May Advance; Lose Money, Say Dairymen

Radical changes are to be made in the dairy business in Fort Wayne in the event of the organization of the "Milk Dealers' Protective Association," which is now being agitated. A meeting of the dairymen of the city was to have been held Thursday evening in the assembly room of the court house, but because of the downpour of rain the attendance was so small htat it was decided to postpone action until a later date.

The claim is made that there is not a dairyman in the vicinity of Fort Wayne who is actually making money and is really [illegible] the [illegible] abolish the credit system. An agitation is also on to increase the price.

"We will either raise the price or quit selling to grocers at wholesale," one of the local dairymen predicted Thursday evening. "If we expect to make a profit we must do one of these two things."

To rectify the alleged evils and abuses in the dairy business in this city the movement for the milk dealers to organize was started.

The proposed constitution and by-laws declare that "the objects of the association shall be for the mutual protection of each member, and the [illegible] [illegible] of all members [illegible]

Henry Hilgeman, of the contracting firm, secured the contract in Chicago Thursday, where he closed up matters with H. H. Fish, head of the Western Newspaper Union. The Fort Wayne branch of the Western Newspaper Union has had its offices and plant in the old Carnahan building, 810-12 Clinton street, for about twenty-three years.

WOULD PROTECT ARTISTS.

Should Have Lifetime Equity In Paintings, Says Authors' League.

New York, April 14.—The Authors' League of America has begun a movement to arouse the interest of organizations of artists in the enactment of a law giving artists a life time equity in their painting. This would protect painters whose works greatly increase in value in their life time. The idea was suggested because of the experienc of Ralph Blakelock, one of whose paintings recently was sold to the Toledo (O.) museum for $20,000. Blakelock sold it twenty years ago for $50. For sixteen years he has been an inmate of sanitariums and asylums. A similar movement was started in France but was discontinued when the war broke out.

The Store That Does Things

MADE IT TOO HOT FOR HIM

Ninth ward, made the onslaught that set off the powder magazine in the chief executive's surcharged bosom and he was at the moment ably abetted by George H. Crouse, the Columbia street commission merchant, who is a resident and large property owner in Bloomingdale. Both were pressing hard on the mayor, with accusing fingers close under his nostrils. To the confused noise of the three-cornered combat the crowd added a din that made it impossible to distinguish much that was said until the mayor's voice, loud with temper and seething with disgust, proclaimed his state of mind and he rushed from the room.

Returns, But Does Not Stay.

The mayor returned hot-foot a moment later to snatch up a forgotten umbrella and he laughed sardonically as he hastened in and turned around and went right out again.

There were jeers and calls for Mayor Hosey to come back and answer some more questions, but the other engagement pressed and he was seen no more during the hour and a half further that the objectors remained to argue the garbage site question and heckle the board.

The mayor had not taken his departure, however, until he had pretty thoroughly cleared his system of the notion he conceived of all the storm and tempest that for weeks has been clouding the seas of public opinion in Bloomingdale.

"There is nothing to this but a state of overheated imagination," the mayor had more than once declared, as he defended the board of works and himself

Singrey Brews a Near-Riot.

Frank E. Singrey, one of the majority members of the board and its former chairman, contributed much to the gaiety of the occasion and came near starting a riot.

"What have we got to do to get consideration here—must we pay money?" shouted one Bloomingdale property owner, as he leaned over the counter in the board office, carrying on a supplementary debate with Member Singrey.

"Don't you say that, mister; don't you say that," shoulted Singrey. "This board can't be bought. You can't buy us."

"O, I guess you can when it comes election time and you want our votes," rejoined the Bloomingdaler.

Member Singrey leaped to his feet and advanced belligerently to the counter, shaking his fist.

"You stop right where you are," he shouted in a voice thick with passion. "You can't come in here and accuse me of graft. I'll have you in a cell in the other end of this building in ten minutes. This board is honest—it never has taken a cent. No one can buy us. Don't you accuse us. I'll have you locked up."

Chairman Kelly and others sought to mollify the outraged member of the board by explaining that the Ninth ward citizen had not said what Mr. Singrey had supposed and in no wise had aspersed the integrity of the board or its members. Member Singrey couldn't unravel it that way and sat brooding over the supposed insult and frequently raised his voice in protest against the accusation. For a time it appeared that a Donnybrook fair would be staged then and there on the flooor.

Crowd Has Sense of Humor.

Once during the course of one of Member Singrey's several addresses to the crowd he solemnly said:

"Not one of you can say that this board, this administration has ever failed to give Bloomingdale something whenever it had a chance."

The crowd had its sense of humor right with it. A prolonged and welkin-splitting chorus of derisive howls greeted this sally of the board member. They wailed, they hooted and they shrieked.

"You bet you haven't!" "You gave us the asphalt plant and its stink!" "You gave us the old crematory!" "You want to give us this new garbage plant!" "You want to hand us anything that nobody else wants!" These and other accusing phrases were shouted in almost indistinguishable confusion.

And so the battle raged until almost 11 o'clock, having been a continuous performance for more than three hours. Near the end of the meeting, breath being exhausted and temper having burned itself out, the turmoil abated and a better feeling prevailed.

Chairman Kelly Unruffled.

Chairman Robert E. Kelly, of the board, a Bloomingdale resident and an extensive property owner there, had to face the hostility of the people among whom his whole life of more than half a century has been passed. His friends and neighbors of a life time were pleading that he reverse his judgment. Through it all the chairman kept his temper, presided over the meeting with calmness and poise, gave everybody a square deal and with rare good temper and forebearance ignored some unpleasant things.

Many times during the meeting, when turbulence rose high from the fused heat of many excited minds, he averted what seemed an imminence of unwise extremes. He raised his hand in mute appeal or lifted a few words in monitory protest and "Confusion heard his voice and Wild Uproar stood ruled."

At times a dozen persons were speaking and shouting at once and often the talk ascended to a mare discord of high-pitched voices in which no man could have sworn to more than his own words.

Speakers Beg Reconsideration.

Councilman Deitschel headed the Bloomingdale delegation and after the board had disposed of its routine business of the session, opened the ball. He said the people of his ward believed they were getting the worst of a bad deal in which faith had been broken and had come over to appeal to the board for a reconsideration. Chairman Kelley then opened the meeting to a free discussion and it became free enough.

Rev. G. W. Doege, the young and public-spirited pastor of Trinity German Lutheran church, in Bloomingdale, arose and read from manuscript his well considered and temperately stated views and presented a strong argument against placing the garbage plant at No. 2 station. Following him August W. Stahlhut, George H. Crouse, Edward Oelschlager, Lawrence E. Heiny and other Bloomingdale residents and property owners spoke in protest and arguments against the site chosen. L. J. Libbing spoke for the people of the north end of the Fourth ward and during the night engaged in several arguments with Mayor Hosey and members of the board. At the end several of them prayed the board to reconsider the decision that had been made and to procure figures to be shown that the chosen location for the plant would not prove a costly choice. Several of the Ninth ward people protested that the garbage plant would impair their property values hundreds of thousands of dollars.

City Attorney Explains.

City Attorney Guy Colerick made a good-tempered argument, reviewing the history of the garbage plant project for the past eight months, stating that the first plan contemplated relieving Bloomingdale of the old crematory and that there was no thought of placing the plant at No. 2 station. Bloomingdale, he said, was the victim of circumstances. The garbage plant must go somewhere; nobody wanted it; every place proposed as a site had stirred up the hostility of the residents of that section. The board had chosen the site that promised the most satisfactory service and the greatest economy. He frankly admitted that it would injure property values in Bloomingdale.

Finally the meeting broke up. The board will not reconsider its judgment and the garbage plant will be built at No. 2 station unless the people of the Ninth ward find and adopt a legal recourse that will prevent it.

Herrera, he said, told him about the disposition of Mexican troops and inquired about positions of some of the American columns. Shortly before sunset Herrera and his escort rode out to rejoin his troops who, he said, were on their way to Santa Rosalia. He said he had several hundred men. The American scouts in camp watched Gen. Herrera with much interest. They said they had been reliably informed about two weeks ago that Herrera had declared, after the American expedition crossed the border, that if the Americans passed Casas Grandes, he would join Villa. Since that time the Americans have progressed so far to the south that Casas Grandes is but a short first section of the line.

He asked many questions about Villa, in fact, not appearing to know as much about the recent course of the bandit as the Americans who have been close on his trail of late. Herrera had heard troops at camp today say that Villa is really dead, but said he knew nothing except the rumor. The supply train of mules, following cavalry column, which went south from here yesterday, was fired upon several times some distance out of this camp. The supply train guard chased the Mexicans who did the shooting, taking them prisoners.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of Sunday School Course of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR APRIL 16

PETER AND CORNELIUS.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 10:1-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—There is no distinction between Jew and Greek; for the same Lord is Lord of all, and is rich unto all that call upon him.—Rom. 10:12.

Thus far Christianity had to do with Jews and Jewish proselytes only. Now its circle begins to widen so as to include the Gentiles. The central figure of this lesson, Cornelius, was a captain commanding one hundred men in the Roman army. The chasm between blacks and whites, which so widely exists in America, is nothing compared to that which divided the Jew and Gentile. We take the whole story of Cornelius in today's lesson and consider the Easter story next week.

I. A Prepared Convert (vs. 1-8). (1) His position. Caesarea was on the great sea and was the political capital of Judea. It was about seventy miles from Jerusalem and thirty from Joppa. Cornelius, who was captain of a band of men born in Italy, was a Roman citizen, and perhaps had been connected with the great Roman general Scipio. (2) His character. He was a man of promptness, appreciation and obedience, (v. 33). He was also a God-fearing man, whose piety included his whole household. He was a man of prayer and generosity (vs. 31, 32), for he gave "much alms" to both Jews and Gentiles. The result was that he was honored greatly by all, especially by the Jews. It does not seem that Cornelius was a proselyte to the Jewish faith (vs. 28-11:3), and he certainly was not as yet a saved man (11:13, 14). Cornelius was a man of a vision, not of dreams or of trances, for this vision came in the open daylight (v. 30), when an angel, looking like a man, appeared unto him. His fear was calmed and he was informed that his prayer, for he was a "seeker after God," had been heard. The "memorial" (v. 4) spoken of was that part of the meal offering which the priest burned upon the altar and which ascended unto the Lord as a sweet savor (See also Mal. 3:16). Cornelius is put to a strange test. He is to send for an unknown man to receive instruction. The angel was not to enlighten him, as it is man's province to witness for God. There is not a recorded Bible conversion without some human instrumentality. Cornelius, soldier that he was, at once obeyed instructions and sent out two devout retainers after Peter. Man alone could finish the work of the angels.

II. The Prepared Preacher (vs. 9-23). Tanning was considered an unclean occupation, but in Simon's house was the man God wanted to use on this occasion. No matter how poor a preacher, or unlikely the situation, if we obey God we can preach better than Gabriel. God laid, as it were, his right hand on Cornelius, and his left upon Peter, and drew them together. Again God uses a dream, linking the natural and the supernatural. A hungry man dreams of food, a very common occurrence, and God gave supernatural direction to a natural dream. God knows the right time to do the right thing. We do not need dreams for our guidance as we have a full and sufficient revelation in the Word for our guidance.

III. The Prepared Ones Meet (vs. 23-33). Cornelius had his whole household ready when Peter arrived (v. 24), perhaps more people than on the day of the first great Pentecost. He said, "We are all here present in the sight of God to hear all the things that have been commanded thee of the Lord." This is a great statement if we consider its full content. Peter refused to accept worship, that alone belongs to Christ (v. 25) and he explained how God had thrust him outside of the circle of Jewish believers. He then rehearsed what God had done and asserted that "He is no respecter of persons," and that in response to those in every nation who work righteousness God had sent forth Jesus for the salvation of men, (1) That men might have peace through him (v. 36); (2) That he might be Lord over all; (3) That he had been anointed with the Holy Spirit and power; (4) That he had been crucified (1 Pet. 1; 18, 19; 2:24); (5) That God had raised him from the dead; (6) That he is to be the judge, and (7) That because of what he had done—"through the name of Jesus"—all that believe shall have "remission of sins." (This is a good sermon outline.) Following this wonderful sermon, there occurred the Gentile Pentecost (vs. 44-46).

Practical. Cornelius had a lack, and he went to God to have it supplied (v. 4). Peter found his enlightenment in prayer.

God revealed his regard for all mankind, and that Jesus Christ can and will save all who come to him by faith.

At Caesarea the infant church discovered that its field is the world and that the Pentecostal program was for all mankind.

This occasion taught Peter and the church that henceforth we are to regard all men as brothers and seek to win them for their Savior and ours.

ASKS AMENDMENTS OF SCHOOL LAWS

State Board of Education Had Made Several Recommendations.

Indianapolis, April 14.—Three resolutions adopted by the state board of education, at its recent meeting, are being made public by Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction. One is a recommendation to the state legislature requesting that the law prescribing the qualifications for teachers be amended, another deals with qualifications of a grade school teacher and the third is a recommendation that teachers in non-commissioned high schools be required not to attempt to teach more than two years' work during a school year.

The recommendation to the legislature follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the state board of education that the act of 1908 requiring that after Aug. 1, 1908, all new teachers in the public schools of the state should be graduates of high schools and should have not less than 12 weeks training in a school accredited for the training of teachers following such graduation in order to receive a twelve-months' license should be amended as to require a period of not less than one year of 36 weeks in an accredited school for applicants to be eligible to receive a 12 months' license. And also that to be eligible to receive a 24 months' license, such graduates should be required to spend a period of not less than two years of 36 weeks each in an accredited school for the training of teachers."

The board recommended that grade school teachers be required to have at least one year of professional training above graduation from a commissioned high school in order that the pupils may be better prepared for taking up the work in commissioned high schools.

In addition to limiting the work of teachers in non-commissioned high schools, the board urged that, should the school authorities permit a teacher to attempt to teach more than two years' work, the pupils from such schools shall not be allowed advanced standing in any commissioned high school after October, 1916.

Why Constipation Injures.

The bowels are the natural sewerage system of the body. THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING

Job 5: 8-27.

8 I would seek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cause:
9 Which doeth great things and unsearchable; marvellous things without number:
10 Who giveth rain upon the earth, and sendeth waters upon the fields:
11 To set up on high those that be low; that those which mourn may be exalted to safety.
12 He disappointeth the devices of the crafty, so that their hands cannot perform their enterprise.
13 He taketh the wise in their own craftiness: and the counsel of the froward is carried headlong.
14 They meet with darkness in the daytime, and grope in the noonday as in the night.
15 But he saveth the poor from the sword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the mighty.
16 So the poor hath hope, and iniquity stoppeth her mouth.
17 Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth: therefore despise not thou the chastening of the Almighty:
18 For he maketh sore, and bindeth up: he woundeth, and his hands make whole.
19 He shall deliver thee in six troubles: yea, in seven there shall no evil touch thee.
20 In famine he shall redeem thee from death: and in war from the power of the sword.
21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue: neither shalt thou be afraid of destruction when it cometh.
22 At destruction and famine thou shalt laugh: neither shalt thou be afraid of the beasts of the earth.
23 For thou shalt be in league with the stones of the field: and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee.
24 And thou shalt know that thy tabernacle shall be in peace; and thou shalt visit thy habitation, and shalt not sin.
25 Thou shalt know also that thy seed shall be great, and thine offspring as the grass of the earth.
26 Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season.
27 Lo this, we have searched it, so it is; hear it, and know thou it for thy good.

The Barge Canal Report.

Congressman Cline, by telegraph from Washington Thursday evening, advised the meeting of the Erie and Michigan Deep Waterways association, in session here, of the filing of the long-expected and anxiously-awaited report of the United States army engineers upon the feasibility of the proposed barge canal to connect Lake Erie with Lake Michigan by way of the Maumee river and Fort Wayne. Mr. Cline summarized the report by stating that the three engineers concurred in the belief that the construction of the canal was feasible by either the northern or southern route out of Fort Wayne, and estimated the cost of the undertaking at $148,000,000.

Upon the commercial necessity for the canal, however, there was a sharp division in the engineers' board. Colonel Judson and Major Bond were able to find no commercial justification for the outlay necessary to build the waterway. In other words, they express the belief that the available traffic and the demands of business are not of sufficient volume to warrant the government in proceeding with the construction at this time. Colonel Millis, however, disagrees with his conferes. His investigation had led him to the conclusion that the commercial warrant for the canal does exist; that its importance would justify the outlay and that as an element in the transportation between east and west the canal would be worth the outlay. He believes that in the saving of the present long haul about the lower peninsula of Michigan and as a connecting link in transportation between the central west and the eastern seaboard the canal would be so valuable a factor that it should be carried through to completion.

Very naturally there will be local disappointment in the adverse majority report, but there is occasion for gratification, nevertheless, in the findings of Colonel Millis. It is just possible he may be right and the majority wrong in the conclusions. At any rate, with the place of the late P. A. Randall as president of the Waterways association filled by the selection of Mr. S. F. Bowser, there should be no cessation in the efforts to sustain Colonel Millis' conclusions.

The candidacy of Edward G. Hoffman, of this city, for democratic national committeeman from Indiana to succeed Senator Taggart is being received with notably high favor all over the state, and at Indianapolis it is admitted that the contest is probably between Mr. Hoffman and W. H. O'Brien, of Lawrenceburg. The cordial and unanimous endorsement given Mr. Hoffman by the Twelfth district committee has resulted in many assurances of support for him from other sections of the state. He should be given Indiana's place on the democratic national committee.

The Northern Indiana Gas and Electric company has just announced a lower schedule of rates for artificial gas at Lafayette, to become effective on July 1. We gathered from the general tenor of recent objections at Lafayette to the recent gas and electric merger that that city was confident all it ever got out of the gas company was the worst of it. Perhaps Lafayette will not be gracious enough to come forward with a voluntary and complete retraction of its crool, crool words.

Telephone concerns are uniting in a complaint to the Indiana state tax board regarding what are termed the excessive high taxes levied upon them in this state and have appealed for a lowering of the figures. Let us hope the telephone companies are not deluding themselves that they are alone in the conviction that taxes are too high. Just a suspicion of that same sort of view is being entertained by most folk who have taxes to pay.

Governor Ralston's selection of Anthony Deahl, of Goshen, as a member of the Indiana public service commission, is apparently a most excellent one. Mr. Deahl is a lawyer and the present county attorney of Elkhart county, but he has never held what may be considered important public office. He is known as a "dry" democrat, has been active in the cause of good citizenship in his home city and county, and is rated as a thoroughly high-grade citizen.

"Times and men are getting better," declared a speaker at the meeting of the Indiana wholesale grocers. The first proposition was unreservedly admitted. Then the wholesale grocerymen adjourned and hurried home to look up their list of bad accounts for confirmation of the latter section of their orator's pronouncement.

THIS MAY LOOK LIKE A JUNE 7 GRIN, BUT IT'S ONLY A FLOWER SHOW SMILE.

T. R. has been pelted with bouquets, verbal and floral, from Sululand to Oyster Bay but they do say the colonel's grin was never so broad and so genial as when New York friends pelted him with flowers and filled his arms with roses at the international flower show.

POPULATION GROWTH

(Bradstreet's)

Estimates made by the census bureau experts indicate that the population of continental United States is growing at an average rate of over 1,600,000 a year. According to their figures, the population on July 1 last was 100,809,318, and on January 1 last 101,208,315. They now estimate that the population on July 1 next will be 102,017,302, or a gain of 1,617,984 for the twelve months. For the curious in those matters the bureau furnishes calculations indicating that the population of the country is increasing at the rate of 4,433 persons a day, 184 an hour and 3 1-15 a minute. It is proper to say that the census bureau estimates are based upon the rate of increase between the censuses of 1900 and 1910. As a matter of contemporaneous human intest, it may be noted that in calculating figures of per capita circulation the treasury experts use somewhat larger estimates of population, their figure for January 1 last being 101,577,000, or in round numbers 368,000 in excess of that given by the census experts for that date. According to the census bureau, the western states have led in the rate of growth, Washington heading the list, with Oklahoma, Nevada, North Dakota and New Mexico following, in the order named. It is worth while to notice that there is a considerable variance between the figures given by the census bureau experts for the population of New York state and that arrived at by the state enumerators last year. The population of the state as figured by the latter as of the date of June 1, 1915, was 9,692,254. The national census officials estimate that the population of the state on July 1, just one month later, was 10,080,568. There is here a difference of over 394,000, and that on the basis of a calculation allowing an increase of 186,000 a year. It may be noted that the police census in New York city showed a considerably greater number than that revealed by the state census.

STILL MORE ABOUT GASOLINE

Gasoline's long flight skyward begins to show the expected tragic results. Among the "innocent victims' of the present gasoline raid are a Baltimore motor transportation company which went out of business last week on account of the increased cost of motor fuel, and one of the largest of the New York taxi-cab companies which failed the other day for the same reason.

It is not only the owner of a small car who can qualify as the innocent victim of the soaring cost of gasoline. Department stores in some of the large cities use over 10,000 gallons of gasoline a month for which they are now paying $2,400 a month. Thus all shoppers are "innocent victims" because the extra charge must, of course, be paid by them as their share of the cost of delivery of the goods they buy.

That is why everybody is tremendously interested in Uncle Sam's present investigation of gasoline.

The federal trade commission is now working on this inquiry with the department of justice. Among other points which will be considered is "the exact relation between the several companies into which Standard Oil was dissolved in 1911."

That is exactly what the "innocent victims" want most to know. According to Herbert S. Bigelow, of Cincinnati who has studied the subject, "the Standard's privilege of taxing the American people is worth three times as much as it was when the trust was prosecuted."

If indirect methods of controlling the big oil corporations only result in tripling the burden of the people, why should not Uncle Sam try direct competition?

He owns his own gas lands.
Why should he not develop them?

HURRAH! A YELLOW RAMBLER

Because the Chinese have been farming some sections of their country for 4,000 years, the United States department of agriculture believed that they must have discovered many things which would prove of great value to American farmers. So a "plant explorer," Frank N. Meyer, was sent to China three years ago, with instructions to collect vegetation adapted to swampy or alkali lands, or to conditions of drought or excessive heat.

Meyer tramped about 1,500 miles in his search. Perhaps his most valuable discoveries are those which concern the growing of aquatic plants and vegetables, which offer promising possibilities for the utilization of swamps.

The find which flower lovers will most appreciate is that of a yellow rambler rose.

In a time when most of the nations of the earth are industriously swapping destructive devices, one way or another, it is a comfort to record any constructive endeavor of man, however slight it may be.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS THE BASIS OF ALL LAW

Nowhere in all the centuries of recorded speech will you ever find so brief and comprehensive a summary of the moral obligations due from one man to another as in the Ten Commandments. They form the basis of all the law, written and unwritten, that has ruled and guided mankind from the time of Hammurabal until the present. But they are only one of the inspired features that make the Bible the Book of Books, whose teachings have guided mankind for centuries. The Big Print Red Letter Edition, offered by this paper to its readers, is the most comfortable and convenient form in which the Bible is printed. Suppose you read the coupon offer in today's paper, elsewhere. You ought to have a copy for your family and yourself.

HUNGARIAN MILLS FORMING BIG TRUST

Development Occasion of Much Apprehension in Austria

Zurich, March 15.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Considerable apprehension has been excited in Austria by the announcement that the Hungarian flour mills are being organized into a powerful trust. Almost wholly dependent upon Hungary for wheat and other breadstuffs, the Austrian millers and bakers fear that this new corporation will increase still further their subjection to the other half of the monarchy.

Among the various questions which have arisen during the war, where the interests of the two nations have been divergent, none has occasioned more bitter feeling than those connected with the grain trade. Austria is chiefly an industrial country and Hungary an agricultural one, exporting enormous quantities of grain every year; a very large proportion of which goes to Austria.

Wheen foodstuffs began to get scarce in the dual monarchy, Austria naturally suffered first. While in Hungary everybody had plenty to eat, the prices were moderate the Austrians were on short rations, paying exorbitant prices, and having to suffer all the inconveniences and annoyances of the break ticket system.

Charges of selfishness and attempted extortion were made against the Hungarian landowners and peasant farmers, but the millers were also accused of taking unfair advantage of the situation. They managed to get the government in Budapest to put all kinds of obstacles in the way of sending grain to Austria, insisting that they ought to have all the milling profits.

Remembering this, the Austrian millers are the more alarmed now at the prospect of this new trust in Hungary, feeling certain that very little grain will be allowed to cross the frontier. The bulk of it will be converted first into flour and meal in the country where it is grown. Moreover the Hungarian millers will be able to fix the oats and rye buying and selling prices of both grain and flour.

In the struggle the Austrian millers are handicapped by the fact that many of them are in a small way of business, whereas the Hungarian mills are mostly of considerable capacity. And in addition the natural advantages are all on the side of Hungary so far as production is concerned.

Hungary cultivates over 25,000,000 acres of grain, against Austrias 16,000,000. Hungarys' chief products, however, are wheat and corn, while Austria's are

HE HAD MARRIED 13 WIVES SINCE 1902

When One Obtained Divorce Two Others Were in Court

Santa Fe, N. M., April 14.—That three of thirteen women her husband had married since 1902 lived in New Mexico was the testimony of Mrs. Emelie Edwards-Vissers in her divorce suit against Arthur L. Vissers, a traveling man, who makes rounds periodically of Albuquerque, Santa Fe and Las Vegas. She was granted a divorce on testimony that she, in company with Mrs. Irene Rogers Vissers, the alleged eleventh wife, had both met another wife, Mrs. Effie Vissers, who married Vissers in 1914 and had never been divorced from him.

Three of the wives of the traveling man, who, like the proverbial sailor, seemed to have had a sweetheart in every port, were in the courtroom at the trial. The women testified that Vissers was "captivating" in his wooing, was "aristocratic" in his bearing, danced "divinely," and possessed a "striking" personality. The three New Mexico wives were given in the court proceedings as Jessie Diamond Vissers, Albuquerque; Crystal Vissers, Las Vegas, and Myrtle West Vissers, Santa Fe, while the Texas wives were given as Mrs. Maggie McGan Vissers, Houston, Tex.; Tulo Longworth Vissers, Fort Worth, and Effie Vissers, El Paso. All of the women were widows when Vissers is alleged to have married them.

Come Saturday to

Malloy's 1018 Calhoun St.

Thirty young women enjoyed an afternoon as guests of Miss Marie Landenberger, who invited the company in honor of Miss Dorothy White. A part of the time was spent in sewing, but Miss Landenberger had planned a guessing contest concerning a sewing basket that caused both merriment and interest. When the contest ended Miss White found herself the possessor of a white needle and thread case, all ready for future use. Tables were laid for refreshments with appointments in yellow and white, including nut baskets, place cards and flowers that were a combination of jonquils, daffodils and snapdragon blossoms. A lovely bouquet of flowers indicated Miss White's place at the table. Miss McIntosh, of Indianapolis, and Miss Kelsey, of Huntington, were visiting guests.

Both Miss White and her fiance, Charles J. Worden, were honor guests last evening at an auction bridge party of charming appointment, given by Misses Margery and Louise Pickard at their home in West Wayne street. Pink roses were the decoration of the rooms and a bouquet of pink roses and swansonia formed a gift for Miss White and Mr. Worden received a boutonierre of a pink rosebud with a tiny blossom of swansonia to wear.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A disturbance is centered this morning over Lake Ontario, and another overlies southern Texas, with high pressure over the plains states. Precipitation has resulted from this distribution of pressure over a belt from the great lakes southwestward to Arizona, but in the greater portion of the western and southern states the weather has been fair. Practically seasonal temperatures prevail but the weather is colder in the lower lake region, Ohio, central Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and on the southeastern slope.

H-O-O-P-S-? OF COURSE NOT; JUST A HOOP SKIRT EFFECT.

By Betty Brown.

No, she isn't wearing hoops—really, nobody wears hoops these days, but the modiste who made this wonderful dancing frock kindly explained to me that it is made in "the raised hip style and in hoop skirt effect." It may seem extreme, but that most conservative of fashion censors, the Fashion Art League of America, gives it official sanction, so you may accept it as one of the modes that will rule ballroom fashions this season. The billowy skirt is made of net in blue and gray and rose tints that blend in cloud-like effect. Ir dozens beads trim it, and beads and jewels embellish the long, tight bodice of black velvet.

"Style at a Price"

NEW SKIRT SHORT AND WIDE

By Betty Brown.

Late spring styles will bring no startling changes in the fashion world. That is the news I hear from a noted designer of modes. As the wide skirt, paniered and puffed into barrel-like roundness and width has been established designers are concentrating their attention on the skirt—for this season the skirt really makes the gown.

MUCH COLOR IN SPRING HATS

Did you say dye famine? It may be on the way, but it hasn't arrived, if one may judge by the colors that bloom in spring millinery. The Easter bonnet may be all-black straw or gray braid, but most likely it will be a rainbow tinted affair of Georgette crepe or printed silk.

The effect of flowered crepe drawing tightly over a low crowned, wide brimmed sailor in gray or rose tints is charming and especially becoming to girlish faces.

NEW-FASHIONED GIRL LENDS CHARM TO OLD-FASHIONED FROCK.

By Betty Brown.

The new fashioned girl in the old fashioned gown lends enchantment to the spring "fashion views"—she's the belle of the fashion shows, and before long you will be meeting her at afternoon teas or wherever well dressed girls gather.

"The old fashioned girl with her alert movements, erect carriage and athletic strides gives to the old fashioned gown just the suggestion of modern vivacity that makes it quaint and almost saucy," says Mme. Alla Ripley of the Fashion Art League of America, whose 1800 designs are models for all "old fashioned gowns," and the gown I am showing you today illustrates what she says. It is a one-piece street frock in drab color faille with bask made coat-style of striped black and white faille; the striped material trims the skirt which you will notice is extra wide and of uneven length at the bottom. The final touch of quaintness is the frilled collar of white organdie.

AT KEITH PALACE

MATINEE FOR KIDDIES.

Chance for Youngsters to Enjoy Sigsbee Dogs Saturday.

Every kiddie in Fort Wayne will want to see Sigsbee's wonderfully trained dog acrobats at the New Palace and to that end a special matinee has been arranged for the little folks on Saturday afternoon. These dogs are almost human in their intelligence, performing tricks that are not only new but amazingly new. They open a bill of unusual class at the New Palace, a program that includes Ed Blondell, the big fat boy, who resembles nothing more than he does Clumsy Claude of the funny picture sections. Blondell is appearing in the skit, "The Lost Boy." Those French Girls, two animated young girls, who seem to be a combination of springs and dynamos, are presenting a high speed arrangement of song, dance and physical culture demonstrations. Mumford and Thompson, the comedy guys, in their laughable talk fest, followed by some really delightful vocal efforts, also are favorites on this new bill. Thurber and Madison, a male acrobatic dancer and a clever woman, are taking the audiences along on a shopping tour. They close with a satirical number, "In Vaudeville." Bert Howard, the comedy pianist, plays a piano in a score of different ways, tells some stories and has some modern adaptations of nursery rhymes.

AT THE TEMPLE.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM."

Makes Powerful Appeal at Temple—"Damaged Goods" Coming.

One of the best dramatic productions of "Ten Nights in a Barroom" ever seen in this city was witnessed in the initial performance of the play by the Temple Stock company last night. Five acts and twelve scenes are comprised in the most powerful temperance lesson ever written, and in spite of the fact that the drama is one of the oldest now on the American stage, an appreciative audience followed the fortunes of Joe Morgan, the drunken father, who, aroused at last at the very threshhold of pauperism and ruin, reforms over the deathbed of his little daughter and is restored to manhood's highest estate through his emancipation from strong drink. The part of Joe Morgan was cast for Maurice Jenkins and his many friends were delighted with his wonderful interpretation of the role.

For the first half of next week the management has secured the great success, "Damaged Goods," which will be seen for the first time in this city, in stock. It will also be the first time that this piece has ever been seen in this country at popular prices. Manager Biemer states that no one will be barred from seeing this great moral lesson.

AT THE GRAND

"THE SOCIAL PIRATES."

First Episode in Sensation of Year Friday and Saturday.

At last!—the sensation of the year—"The Social Pirates," featuring those stellar lights, Marian Sais and Ollie Kirby, in the roles of Mona and Mary, the two very attractive and wonderful girls, who foil the society vultures by the use of woman's wiles and sharp wits, is here. The first episode will be shown today and tomorrow at the Grand. In this most wonderful production that has startled the moving picture world with its grandeur and magnificence there is suspense that holds with a vise-like grip through every scene. Every episode is a different, exciting adventure met with but the two girls, and each is separate and complete in itself. When you see the first one you can hardly wait for the next, so eager are you to see what will happen to the girls.

The tricks and schemes used by unscrupulous schemers who prey on society are exposed by Mona and Mary, bound by a compact to right the wrongs of the helpless victims of these schemers. The girls choose as their prey the apparently impregnable tricksters, whose cleverness has placed them beyond the reach of the law. The way in which they succeed in dealing justice to these vultures of society is truly remarkable.

In "The Little Monte Carlo," the first of the series, which will be shown tomorrow, the girls befriend Stella, a former chorus girl, and by a clever ruse succeed in bringing justice to Holbrook, a man about town, who has wronged her. Don't miss it. "Myrtle, the Manicurist," is a Broadway all star feature, in three reels, and is a whole show in itself. It will be shown in connection with the "Social Pirates."

WAYS OF NEW SPRING COAT

As to flare and width all skirts agree—as to length and style no two coats seem to be of the same mind—or style. Our old friend, the tailor-made serge is invariably below-the-hip in length; the coats of taffeta often stop before they reach the hip line. The very short coat that flares out boldly from the waist line is the coat most favored by the fashionably dressed.

CATHOLIC BOYS' HOME MAY BE ERECTED HERE

Knights of Columbus Seek to Arouse Interest in This Matter.

Following the adoption of a report on the feasibility of establishing a home for delinquent Catholic boys in Indiana, by the state council of the Knights of Columbus lodge, members of the Fort Wayne order are endeavoring to arouse sufficient interest to have the institution erected in Fort Wayne. According to an official of the lodge the chance to have the institution located in this city is very good.

The establishment of this home for boys has had the qualified approval of both the bishops of the state, and have given the Knights of Columbus commission on a home for delinquent children assurance that they will co-operate and assist them in a substantial manner. Several available sites have been offered to the commission but the members deem it advisable to raise the necessary funds for the erection of a building before selecting a location.

The proposition has been under advisement for six years and people interested in the affair are of the opinion that the time is ripe for action. Stephan A. Callahan, chairman of the commission and grand knight of the local order, has sent a letter to every member of the order in Indianapolis urging his support on the matter of securing the building for Fort Wayne.

David Warfield as Van Der Decken

David Warfield as "Van Der Decken."

A large audience and one of the most representative of admirers of dramatic art went to the Majestic theater on Thursday evening to see David Warfield in his new play, "Van Der Decken" of the "legendary tale of the sea," by David Belasco, as the programs also expressed it. Only people who have seen Belasco plays and who have also seen Mr. Warfield can fully appreciate what it means in the way of a play, to see "Van Der Decken." The play is wonderful in its pictures of Holland and sea life a century ago, with the interior of a fisherman's hut and the dressing and habits of the inmates so faithfully and realistically expressed by Marie Bates, Ernest Stallard, William Hoag, Fritz Leiber, Frederick Graham, Harold Russell, Horace Graham and Jane Cooper.

The numerous details of the first act were absorbing in an educative way and the leading up to the appearance of Van Der Decken himself, keyed the interest of everyone beyond the point of merely seeing Mr. Warfield, to an eagerness for the progress of the play. There was a breathless interest at times in the audience as Mr. Warfield related the story of Van Der Decken and again as he sees Trintie Staats and in her recognizes the spirit of his young wife from whom he had been separated two centuries before. The crux of realistic action in the act comes with the storm and the lightning that strikes Van Der Decken in the face, stage work that has never been surpassed in anything seen in this city.

The entire play was impressive to an unusual decree partly for the production of the old legend, partly because of Mr. Warfield's art and partly for the presenting in a beautiful and attractive manner the belief entertained by many people of the reincarnation of the spirit time after time in a human body until it attains a state of perpetual grace.

And in quite a convincing manner Mr. Warfield makes his audence see that through his act of relinquishing Trintie and sending her home, he lifts the curse from himself to an extent that he can again pray. Not often does one see in a theaatrical performance such a moment of reverential beauty as is expressed when Mr. Warfield finds he can again call upon the Deity whom he had cursed so long before. Also, so beautiful a presentation of a man chivalrous and courteous as Von Der Decken is described in the legend, and as Mr. Warfield acted him, were a something to ponder in these days of laxity in courtesy and respect of attitude on the part of both men and women of the younger generation. The love of home which the legend typifies and beautifies and which Mr. Warfield delivers with a force that is tense and lingering makes its appeal individually. It is the main thread of the play and it is perfect in its presentation. Mr. Warfield's art always leaves an audience with a sense of having seen real life, not acting.

Terre Haute Young Woman Shoots Man She Says Wronged Sisters.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 14.—Miss Jennette McMahan last night shot and dangerously wounded Lawrence de Carle, called the police and when the officers responded, told them she shot the man because he had wronged her small sisters and had not been punished by the court. De Carle was hurried to a hospital, where it was said his wounds were dangerous, and the woman was held on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. De Carle pleaded guilty in the circuit court April 5, to a charge of mistreating a girl 14 years old. He was released on suspended sentence.

The shooting was in De Carle's room in a hotel, where Miss McMahan accompanied him on his invitation, after she had accosted him on the street and told him she wanted to talk about private matters.

Miss McMahan is 27 years old and a half sister of the two girls, 14 and 10 years old, who were in his rooms when the man was arrested April 5. De Carle is 46 years old, unmarried, and a well to do tailor.

McHugh, "Grandstand King," Negotiated Contract for Pageant Seating.

Cleveland, April 14.—Patrick A. McHughes, who, the police say, killed Francis M. Covell and then shot himself to death at Conneautville, Pa., after notifying the sheriff of his deed, was known far and wide as the "grandstand" king.

P.A. McHugh

The man whose life came to a tragic end furnished the chairs used in the grandstands of every circus in the United States. He also made the chairs used at the great Hudson-Fulton pageant and the inauguration of President Wilson.

The tragedy was the outcome of a dispute over a lease. When it was over Covell's body lay on the boiler steps, his partner, Sherman Pease, lay senseless on the floor, and John C. Arter, of Cleveland, was bleeding from many wounds.

The McHugh Seating company, of which P. A. McHugh was the head, has been awarded the contract for the placing of the seats for the Centennial pageant to be given here in June. McHugh was here but a few weeks ago at which time he submitted his bid. His death will have no effect upon the company's taking the seating contract here.

It seems that after all there is a knack to this long life business. Alec Panoche, oldest member of the Mt. Carmel tribe of Indians, submitting the suggestion that baths should be taken never less than once a year.

PIONEER PREACHER CALLED.

Rev. John M. Dustman, Who Worked in Indiana, Dies in Van Wert.

Van Wert, O., April 14.—Rev. John M. Dustman, a pioneer resident of this county, is dead at the family home, south of town. He was 75 years old and was a native of Fairfield county, his residence here dating since childhood. In an early day he was ordained a minister in the English Lutheran church and in course of his active career filled the pulpit of churches at Carey, Upper Sandusky and in Tuscarawas county and at Butler and Middlebury, Ind. He belonged to the old-time school of preachers of the gospel, who were noted for their sacrifices and gentle ministrations in the years when this part of the country was being settled. His direct survivors are one son, Stanley Dustman, who lives in Indiana; three brothers, D. C. Dustman, of York township; H. C. Dustman, of Ridge township; F. L. Dustman, of Columbus, and three sisters—Mrs. Lodema Poe, of Gordon avenue; Mrs. Joseph Ross, of Ohio City, and Mrs. Boroff, of Scott.

DISTURBS HOME LIFE

Domestic Chores Sidestepped by Children Training for Big Spell

Hicksville, Ohio, April 14.—Two thousand rural school pupils are in mad competition for the honor of being declared the champion speller of Defiance county. Parents are buying dictionaries, the cattle are being neglected and the chores postponed until dad helps son or daughter out on a list of difficult words. Any boy or girl who shows the least proficiency in the art of throwing the proper letters together to make a difficult word, at once becomes a teacher's pet. Pupils are studying spelling books as if they were dime novels. Thus, pupils, teachers and parents are all worked up over the contest. District matches are to be held in the different sections of the county next Friday afternoon and then will come a county spelling match at which the champions of the districts will be pitted against each other for the honor of being declared the best in the county.

KICKED BY A HORSE.

Columbia City, Ind., April 14.—Garland Herrold, the nine year old son of Mr. Frank Herrold, of Columbia City, operator at the Pennsylvania depot, met with a most unfortunate accident. He is making his home with Mr. and Mrs. John Winters, of near Etna. He went to the barn to lead one of the horses to water with a rope tied around its neck, and while he was returning to the barn the horse kicked him. He does not know himself how it was done as it all happened so quickly, but the horse was feeling good, and in jumping around, kicking up its heels, the accident occurred. A gash two inches long was cut about the eye, on the left side of his face, laying the flesh open large enough to lay two fingers in it. Nine stitches were taken in closing the wound.

DUNKARD AS LAZY HUSBAND.

Warsaw, Ind., April 14.—The jury in the case of the state against Percy Petgen, who resides near Silver Lake, charged with non-support of his wife and children, returned a verdict of guilty and the defendant was given a fine of $25, having been prosecuted under the "lazy husband" act. This was the first case tried in this county under that new law. The evidence taken was of a sensational nature and during the entire trial the court room was crowded. Petgen is a Dunkard and for this reason the case was all the more interesting as an act of the nature of the charge brought against Petgen is not tolerated in their church.

The charge against Petgen was brought by Calvin Eiler, father of Mrs. Petgen.

UNABLE TO GIVE BOND.

Bluffton, Ind., April 14.—Benjamin Smith was unable to furnish bond in the sum of $500 when arraigned before Judge Denney at Portland, on a charge of criminal assault, and was remanded back to the county jail to await trial. His alleged victim is Miss Flossie Ellen Smith, 14-year-old girl now living in Bluffton. The Smiths formerly resided south of Portland. Smith was arrested here Tuesday by the Bluffton police and turned over to the Jay county sheriff. John Smith, stepfather of the girl, has been in the Wells county jail several weeks, awaiting trial also on a criminal assault charge, for alleged abuse of Flossie Smith, who is his stepdaughter.

MISIONARY LEAVES GRABILL

Grabill, Ind., April 14.—After spending eight days in Grabill and adjoining towns, Miss Sallie Botham, a returned missionary from Africa, has gone to Berne, where she will hold several meetings in interest of the missionary cause. During her stay here, Miss Botham held eight meetings in Grabill and neighboring towns. The three meetings held at the Missionary church here were well attended. Reports from the meetings held at Auburn, Leo and Harlan by Miss Botham, were to the effect that they also were all attended.

WILL GET HORSE THIEVES

Van Wert, Ohio, April 14.—William Miltenberger and William Holland, two men who were arrested last fall at South Chicago at the instance of Sheriff Gunsett for the theft of a horse and buggy from Norah Snyder, at Ohio City, were placed under arrest by the officers of that city as they were released from the Cook county jail. The men took a horse from the hitching rack at Ohio City and drove it to South Bend, where it was traded. The men proceeded to South Chicago, where they sold the buggy to a milk man.

GOSHEN VETERAN DEAD.

Goshen, Ind., April 14.—Charles F. Slote, aged 71 years and a civil war veteran, died Thursday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Jonas Richerick, here, of paralysis after a prolonged illness. About two weeks ago he was stricken while chopping wood at the Richerick home. The deceased was a member of the Forty-eighth Indiana regiment of volunteers and served through the war. For about eight years he had resided with his sister. He had been in poor health but only in the past few weeks has his condition been serious. After being stricken he never rallied.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES

Huntington, Ind., April 14.—Oliver P. Gustin, a civil war veteran and pioneer of Andrews, died at his home in Andrews, after an illness of several weeks of dropsy. Mr. Gustin was seventy years of age Tuesday. Surviving are two children, Frank Gustin of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Maggie Kurchil, of Wabash county; three sisters, Mrs. Myra Blackburn, of Allen county, Mrs. Manda Murray, of Toledo, O., and Mrs. Mary Parks, of St. Joe, Ind., and seven grandchildren. Mrs. Gustin died five years ago.

BIG DEAL IN HICKSVILLE

Hicksville, Ohio, April 14.—The deal for the sale of the American building, under way for some time, has just been closed. William Purdy, the owner, traded it for a 243 acre farm at Roselms, Paulding county. This is Hicksville's largest business block and in it Hicksville has as fine a building as can be found in a town of this size in the state. Mr. Purdy has now disposed of the major portion of his Hicksville property, having sold the Hicksville Handle Co. some time ago. It is not known just what Mr. Purdy will do.

PLANNING CENTENNIAL DAY

Hartford City, Ind., April 14.—The centennial celebration in Hartford City, which is to be held for one day only, some time in October, will be combined with the fall festival, which is an annual event in Hartford City, if present plans materialize. A big parade will be a feature of the centennial work in this county and there will be a distribution of books containing a history of Blackford county.

MODERN ROME HAS ENOUGH HOUSES NOW

Italian City Enjoying Novelty for First Time in Many Years

Rome, Italy, March 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—For the first time in the history of modern Rome there are enough houses in the city to accomodate its population. According to recent municipal statistics, the city has almost a room for each of its 600,000 inhabitants. In the twelve-year period cited, the population has increased 106,500, the number of new rooms 95,887, and at a total building cost of $12,000,000.

The solution of the housing problem of Rome has been closely studied by American cities through their own experts and through United tates consular reports because here new, cleaner and roomier dwellings have not meant an increase but a decrease in rents for poor people.

The problem in Rome has offered peculiar difficulties, partly because Rome has been at times the most populous and at other times the least populous of the cities of the world. In its most populous days, when its inhabitants have been variously estimated at from one to three million, it solved its housing problem by the invention of the sky-scraper of nine stories. When the temporal power of the Papacy ended in 1870, Rome had a population of 200,000, living in ancient, damp and unhealthy stone houses, and since that date it has been struggling to provide enough room for its yearly increasing population, coming in part from foreign countries but principally from its own provinces.

The two citizens who have been most prominently identified with the solution of the problem are former Mayor Nathan and former Premier Luigi Luzatti. The method of the latter was to raise city taxes on old houses and to let new ones go free of taxes for a given period. Mayor Nathan put an extra tax of three per cent. on land on which the owners refused to build. He also secured the adoption of ordinances providing low taxes for dwellings occupying but one-fourth of the building plot and the rent of an apartment of which did not exceed $20 a month. Other parts of the scheme involved the preservation of ancient Rome as public monuments and parks and inducing the poor population to leave the old buildings for the higher, healthy sections outside the ancient medieval sites.

The result of these various measures has been the building up of the over Tiber section known as Prati and the high quarter above the ancient city, which really lies in the Tiber bottoms, known as Alta Roma, outside of Portia Pia and generally surrounding the central station of the State railway. In these quarters may be seen blocks of model apartment houses that are not unlike in aspect those in the newly built uptown sections of New York city, the suburbs of Chicago, Kansas City or Cincinnati. With the improvement of the street car communications, the poorer people are also gradually removing far outside the ancient walls and building little homes on the Campagna Romana which thirty years ago was a bandit-infested desert filled with the ruins of ancient Rome.

Meanwhile ancient and medieval Rome is being cleaned and beautified While many of the famous palaces are still inhabited by the owning prices, they are slowly abandoning them, subletting parts for business offices and living apartments, themselves building new palaces and villas on the Janiculum, the ia NomentVana, and elsewhere.

The effort of the Italian government to give employment to laborers whom the war has thrown out of their regular positions has in some instances stimulated work on new public buildings, and when the war is over it is expected that the ambitious project of tearing down some of the squalid dwellings near the Vatican will be put into execution and new streets laid forming a proper vista to St. Peter's.

DO LITTLE ON PLATFORM.

Democratic Congressman to Take Up State Policy Soon.

Washington, April 24.—Not much progress has been made thus far on the Indiana democratic platform, which is being worked into shape by a committee from the Indiana delegation in the congress. Senator Kern and Representatives Adair and Dixon, the members of the committee, have not held a meeting since the conference Sunday, at which they were appointed to draw up the state platform. However, it is said that the committee expects to have a meeting soon and decide on some of the disputed points in the platform.

CHEAPER GAS FOR LAFAYETTE.

Lower Schedule of Rates Goes in Effect on July 1.

Lafayette, Ind., April 14.—C. M. Geist, president of the Northern Indiana Gas and Electric company, has announced a reduction in artificial gas rates to Lafayette consumers effective July 1, 1916, which, it is estimated, will result in a saving of $25,000 per year. The existing net flat rate is $1 per 1,000 cubic feet. For this is substituted a sliding scale which provides a net price of 90 cents for the first five thousand cubic feet; 80 cents for the next twenty thousand feet; 70 cents for the next twenty thousand cubic feet and a rate of 60 cents per thousand cubic feet for all over fifty thousand cubic feet.

RAW RECRUITS, GUN SHY, TAUGHT HOW TO SHOOT WITH "KICKLESS" WEAPON.

Corporal H. R. Meals, expert shot of the U. S. Marine, using the sub-calibre rifle.

Seattle, Wash., April 14.—Most green soldiers are "gun shy."

And unless they're properly "gun broke" at the beginning they never make good marksmen.

The U. S. marine corps uses what is known as the sub-calibre rifle to get the recruit accustomed to his weapon.

It is a regulation army rifle attached to a counter balance, by which, through an ingenious device, target practice may be engaged in without the firing of a shot.

A little plunger, sighted automatically as the rifle is trained, strikes the miniature target when the trigger is pressed. It is adjusted to 200, 300 and 500 yard ranges.

Constant practice with the sub-calibre rifle by the soldier or marine novice gets him accustomed to the feel and sighting of his weapon. When he begins actual ball target practice he has so mastered the handling of his rifle that the high-power "kick" is properly received.

If a recruit is surprised and shaken by the rifle "kick" he never entirely conquers his fear of the gun as the

CARNIVAL SEASON IN VIENNA DREARY

After Twenty Months of War Fancy Wearables Are in Oblivion

Vienna, March 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Vienna's second carnival season in war time is, if possible, drearier than the first. This year the police have officially prohibited all public balls and dances and even private dances or entertainment are not allowed in public halls, most of the latter having been turned over to the military authorities for one purpose or another.

After twenty months of war, white kid gloves and dress suits, patent leather shoes and ball gowns, fans and cotillion favors, seem to have passed into oblivion. Even were public dances allowed, there would be no young men to dance, and among the young women all inclination for such pleasures seems to have died out for the duration of the war. Though some dancing schools are still going on, pupils are few.

Money is still being expended on amusements during the carnival season but it is nearly all going into one channel, and that is the theater and opera. Night after night all these places are filled to overflowing, for the public has discovered that theater-going is far less expensive than the ball gowns and numerous other accessories demanded in the ordinary carnival season.

Naturally, the industries which have hitherto supplied all the fashionable requisites for balls and parties, have suffered greatly. Some have failed entirely, while others have saved themselves only by turning their factories into other uses having some bearing on the war. For instance, one of the finest fan factories is now making soldiers' knapsacks.

Caps are fast replacing hats in Vienna. As is known to all observing travelers, Vienna, alone among the great cities of Europe, has hitherto been conspicuous from the fact that all its men and boys insisted on wearing hats, disdaining the cheap and comfortable cap that is popular among the working classes in London, Berlin and Paris. Austria has always possessed a large hat industry and hats were almost as cheap as caps here, but the war has caused a shortage of wool and the cheap felt hats have doubled in price. The result is an increasing number of converts to the cap.

One-fourth of the world's lead supply is from Great Britain.

SIMPLE APPLICATION THAT DISSOLVES BLACKHEADS

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of powdered neroxin from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make larger pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of powdered neroxin and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition. Any druggist will sell you the powdered neroxin for about two ounces will be enough for the above use.

BEULAH WARREN IS SEEKING DIVORCE

Asks That Ties With Her Convict Husband Be Dissolved.

Another chapter—most likely the last—was started in the local story of Charles Luther Warren, check swindler, poppy dreamer and love pirate, whose devious operations in Fort Wayne caused a sensation six months ago, when on Friday Beulah Youse Warren begun action in the superior court for divorce from Warren, who is now serving a sentence in prison for his crimes here. The complaint is brief and simply recites that the plaintiff and defendant were united in marriage Oct. 15, 1915, and that almost immediately afterward he "was arrested, tried and convicted upon a charge of larceny and forgery, a felony, and that he is now serving a term in the penitentiary at Michigan City." Mrs. Warren asks that her maiden name of Youse be restored.

Notes of the Courts.

William F. Hitzeman has begun suit in the superior court against John Bloemker for the collection of $600 on account. Thomas & Townsend are attorneys for the plaintiff.

The superior court has authorized Henry Branning, jr., receiver for the Cream of Rice company, in the suit brought by Alatha G. Flanders, a stockholder, to bring and prosecute action in his own name as receiver on any and all contracts and notes, or either, given or received for or on account of subscriptions to the capital stock of the corporation.

The suit of Sherman McQuown vs. the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company for $10,000 damages has been set for trial before a jury in the superior court May 18.

In the circuit court the suits of John G. Nichols against S. Bash & Co. and Guy M. Wells against the same defendants, have been dismissed, as also was the suit of the First National bank vs. the Miller Showcase company et al.

In the suit of S. Bash & Co. vs. the Nickel Plate railroad, the circuit court has given the plaintiff judgment in the sum of $250.

The suit of Trygve Storm, doing business as the Northwest Ready Roofing company vs. Arnold G. W. Curdes, will be tried in the circuit court April 25.

CONTEST COSTS NOT HEAVY.

The cost of the primary election contest of Christian G. Vonderau against Allen Hursh for the democratic nomination for county recorder, which will be borne by Mr. Vonderau, will not be heavy. Judge John W. Eggeman in the circuit court has allowed the three special commissioners—W. A. Johnson, Clark Harrod and Albert T. Miller—$12 each for their four days' work, and has awarded to County Clerk D. C. Stout a total of $5 for witness fees. The other expenses will not bring the total greatly above $50, not allowing, of course, for the fees that may be claimed by the attorneys of the principals. The tabulation of the recount, which covered the ballots in thirty-seven precincts, showed that Hursh had 2,601 first choice votes and 147 second choice votes while Vonderau had 2,585 first choice and 116 second choice votes, a total majority of 47 for Hursh. In the original tabulation Hursh had 22 majority on second choice votes.

What He Thought

By Albert Haney

THROUGH the open windows of the little white house came the sounds of singing and occasionally one would catch a glimpse of the songstress as she moved back and forth from table to stove. If one looked long enough one could discover that she was as good to look upon as was her voice to listen to. Borne upon the August morning breeze there was wafted the appetizing odor of cooking. Mollie Wade was frying doughnuts.

A huge colander of nut-brown beauties stood at the back of the stove. Every once in a while Mollie Wade skillfully rescued one from the hot fat with the aid of a long skewer and added it to the pile.

Perhaps it was the voice of the girl as she sang. Perhaps it was the fragrant smell of the doughnuts. It might have been the fault of both. At any rate a weary knight of the road, first cousin to John Barleycorn, roused from his morning siesta, looked longingly toward the little white house.

A few minutes later Mollie was interrupted in her work and in her song by a knock at the side door, and, opening it, found herself face to face with a tramp whose apologetic attitude and voice could not belie his true character. Mollie hastily agreed to his mumbled demand for good; glad to shut the door upon his visage.

Alone in the house she fully realized that she was entirely at his mercy. What could she give him to get rid of him at once? Her eyes fell upon the pile of doughnuts and with trembling fingers she hastily filled a big with the brown beauties.

Meanwhile fate was having its own particular frolic with Mollie Wade. While she was busily filling the bag with doughnuts the arrival of a young man on the scene was the cause of the tramp's abrupt departure. Just as the young man reached out his hand to grasp the brass knocker Mollie Wade cautiously opened the door far enough to admit the passage of the bag, shoved it into the outstretched hand and with assumed bravery ordered the receiver to be off.

The young man stared in amazement from the bag in his hand to the door which had just banged shut in his face. There was still a puzzled expression on his face as he passed down the steps and out upon the road. So preoccupied was he in wondering why the pretty vision in pink had ordered him from the door that it was not until he reached his own house that he discovered he was still holding the paper bag that had been thrust into his hand.

Curiosity prompted him to open it. A delicious fragrance assailed his nostrils and he stuck his hand in the bag and withdrew it with a doughnut. He warded his eyes and tempted his palate. He ate one and immediately reached in the bag for another. A fourth followed the third and still he was not satisfied. When the bottom of the bag was finally reached still another surprise awaited him. There, in the midst of a few remaining crumbs, reposed a dainty gold brooch.

The young man had no doubts as to who was its owner, and despite his reception of the morning, felt a keen sense of pleasure in the knowledge that his discovery necessitated another visit to the little white house.

The following morning Mollie Wade was again interrupted in her tasks by a knock at the door. Vision of the [illegible] caused to her. [illegible] on earth did you find it?"

cause for fear. Aunt Letty was at home. She was nevertheless agreeably surprised when the open door revealed a good-looking young man in place of the tramp she half expected to see.

The new minister introduced himself and taking the gold brooch from his pocket handed it to Mollie Wade. "This, I believe, is your property," he said with a faint smile.

Mollie Wade gazed at the brooch in glad amazement. "My pin," she cried. "I never expected to see it again. I lost it yesterday and after searching the house from top to bottom felt certain that it had dropped into the bag of doughnuts I gave a tramp. Where on earth did you find it?"

deepened. "In the bag of doughnuts you gave me yesterday," he said.

Mollie Wade gasped, "Gave you? How-when-where? I gave those doughnuts to a tramp," she exclaimed weakly.

The new minister's smile was compelling. "No," he said, "that was what you meant to do, but the fellow ran off when he spied me coming and it was in my hands you put the bag."

"And upon you I slammed the door. What must you think of me?" murmured Mollie in sorrow.

It was not until a few months later that he dared tell her all he thought of her, but when he did Mollie Wade [illegible]

DR. KELLER WINS IN FRANCHISE LEAGUE

Indianapolis, Ind., April 14.—Dr. Amelia R. Keller, of Indianapolis, was re-elected president of the Women's Franchise League of Indiana at its annual convention at the Claypool hotel today. Her opponent was Mrs. Chas. J. Gill, of Muncie. This will be the sixth term of Dr. Keller as president. The election followed a strenuous campaign in which much bitterness was manifest. Factions had lined up behind their favorites and both worked hard.

There was talk of a third candidate for president, who might be able to harmonize all of the factions and elements, but the third candidate failed to appear. A third ticket appeared, however, fo rall offices except president. The ballot resulted as follows: Dr. Keller, 101; Mrs. Gill, 54.

COUNCIL LIKES NOT BOARD'S DECISION

Thought Garbage Plant Was to Go on Site of the Old Crematory.

Having figuratively "washed its hands" clean of the soil of the garbage plant muddle that until last Tuesday night had been a thorn of vexation in the council-manic body, the members of the city legislature have no longer anything to do with the issue. The council ratified the contract with the Edwards company to construct the plant and loaded upon the board all responsibility for any site chosen. Now the members of the council are expressing disappointment and would give something pretty for one more deal in the game. It is believed that practically the whole body of the council would vote to install the plant on the site of the old crematory if given a chance. Several members from whom statements have been obtained saw that when they threw the question of a site back upon the board they thoroughly believed that the board would select the site of the old crematory, after the Barr street dump had been given up, and not choose the No. 2 pumping station site. The question is definitely settled, however. While Bloomingdale citizens were awaiting outside the board room Thursday night to go in with their final protest against the No. 2 station site there was delivered to the board the bond of the Edwards company for the completion of the plant. All surveys for the plant were made some time ago and the Edwards company will begin work within a few days to construct the building for the incinerator.

DELAY ON CREIGHTON AVENUE.

Gas Connections Postpone Paving Work for a Week.

Failure of the gas company to complete the installation of the numerous house connections with the mains in East Creighton avenue will impose at least a week's delay in the beginning of paving operations on that thoroughfare from Calhoun street to Lafayette street. The board of works, with the fact in mind that Reservoir park is to be the theater of the great historical pageant during the Indiana centennial week in this city in June, had instructed the Grace mopany to get the paving started in time to insure its completion by the first of June and the company had set next Monday for the inauguration of work. At best it will be a week later. The Grace company says, however, that the job will be completed in time for the historical fete in June.

BOARD OF WORKS ROUTINE.

In the board of works routine Thursday night the board vacated a portion of an old unplatted thoroughfare known long ago as Canal street. It lies east of Berry and Clay streets. Plans were ordered for the opening of Meridian street from the first alley south of Putnam street to Huffman street and the plans of the Fort Wayne Electric works for an extension of its tunnel for team and power lines in Wall street to connect with the new buildings to be erected there this year.

PAVING OPERATIONS.

Next Monday the Grace Construction company will begin the work of grading Webster street from Grand street to Butler street for paving and the same day similar operations will be started on Scott avenue from Broadway to the alley west by that company. A steam shovel will be used on Butler street, but the Scott avenue work will be done by hand. The Brooks Construction company has completed the grading of Pape avenue and has started grading work on Packard avenue.

NICKEL PLATE WANTS TO BEGIN.

H. B. Reitsagen, principal assistant engineer of the Nickel Plate railway, has written to City Engineer F. M. Randall stating that the railroad has had its steel for the Osage street subway ordered since December and is anxious to get the mason work put in so as to begin work on the bridge and floor slabs this summer. He wants to know ff thei sewer to drain the subway is completed so the masonry can be at once planned. The sewer is under way and making fair progress.

FOR LIGHTING BEECHWOOD.

The board of works has approved the plans for a system of ornamental lights to be constructed in Beechwood addition, formerly the Bond homestead, and also the plans for the paving of all the streets and drives in that addition. Both classes of improvements will be done by private contract.

SURETY OF PEACE CASES ARE TRIED

Surety of peace cases were the most important business transacted in the Fort Wayne justice of the peace courts, Friday. William Ward, 1513 Fletcher avenue, was tried before 'Squire Henry J. Grabner and bound over to the circuit court under $50 bond.

The affidavit against Ward was filed by his step-father, John Mowrey, who claimed that Ward had made threats to do him bodily harm because he had refused to pay a bill for him amounting to $60. Ward has been out of work all winter, it is said, and has been living with his step-father and mother. Last Sunday the mother told her son to leave and not to come back until he had found employment. It was then, it is alleged, that the trouble took place.

Farmers Have Dispute.

The other surety of peace case was tried before 'Squire C. W. Rayhouser against Ora Engleman, who lives southwest of the city. Engleman and a Mr. Sebring own adjoining farms and it is claimed the two have had frequent arguments and disputes over a line fence separating their farms. Sebring says Engleman has threatened to do him harm.

Lambert Pleads Guilty.

Floyd Lambert entered a plea of guilty Thursday in the court of 'Squire M. J. Tancey to the charge of failing to turn over the key to the house he had vacated and was fined $1 and costs, which was stayed for a period of thirty days. The affidavit against Lambert was filed by Senora Gorman, 524 East Berry street.

FIRE ALARM GIVEN BY DOG.

Flames Slightly Damage Apartment of Mrs. Mary Layman.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 14. A small poodle dog in the flat of Mrs. Mary Layman, 20½ North Delaware street, gave an alarm which attracted persons to a fire in the room of George E. Delting, on the third floor of the building, and probably prevented more serious damage to the building.

Delting, who lives in a small room, pressed his clothes, then set the hot iron on the floor, and left. The iron burned a hole in the floor and the floor burst into flames. When the fire had communicated to the kitchen, which adjoined Delting's room, the dog began barking so loud that he attracted attention to the fire.

Delting, about a year ago, gained publicity by his statement that he was heir to about $300,000 in Germany, which he could not obtain because he could not return to Germany.

There are several justices of the peace offices in the building, and persons in the offices were driven out by the smoke.

The fire was put out with a loss estimated at $50.

VILLA SAID TO BE TOTAL ABSTAINER

But Many of His Followers Use Mexican Drinks to Excess.

Washington, D. C., April 4.—Although Francisco Villa himself is said to be a total abstainer from intoxicating liquors, many of the Mexican border outrages perpetrated by his men have followed a too-free indulgence in the Mexican national drinks, pulque and mescal.

The National Geographic Society of Washington, in a primer issued today on these two beverages peculiar to the Southern republic says:

"The colonists who settled the east coast of the United States have been charged with introducing the American Indian to 'fire-water in exchange for the tobacco habit, but no similar accusation can rest against the Europeans who conquered the pulque-drinking Aztecs of Mexico. The intoxicating properties of this unique beverage were known long before Cortez marched his army across the causeways which joined the ancient Venice-like capital of the Montezumas to the lake shores.

"Both pulque and mescal are products of the agave or 'century plant,' which was of the same utilitarian importance to the aborigines as the date palm to the Arab, the bamboo to the Burmese, and the banana to the Central American. In addition to the two important beverages, this plant supplies from its roots a starchy food; from its fibrous leaves cloth is woven and rope is made; from its pulp the Aztecs obtained a sort of papyrus paper on which have been preserved some of their most valued writings; its huge leaves when dried furnished a roofing for adobe huts; its stems still supply fuel, and rows of the sharp-spined plants afforded an impenetrable defense against the attacks of wild animals as well as an effective barricade against hostile tribes.

"Mescal and Pulque are not, as many believe, different names for the same drink. Mescal is distilled from the leaves and roasted roots of the plant, and is a sort of brandy, containing from a third to half as much alcohol as the average American whisky. Pulque, on the other hand, is the fermented sap of the plant, and is obtained from the heart of the maguey, or agave, when it has attained a growth of six or eight years. The pluque harvester taps this heart, which might be compared with the center of the date palm, and with the aid of a long reed or guord he sucks the sap from it, using his tongue as a stopper for the reed. When the reed is full he blows it into a pigskin container strapped to his back. In the course of four or five months the maguey will yield ten gallons of sap. It then withers and dies. When fresh, pulque is a sweet, innocuous liquid and is called agua miel(honey water). It soon begins to ferment, however, a process often hastened by the addition of madre, or old, pulque.

"Neither mescal nor pulque is expensive. One can get a drink of the latter for a cent, while a 14-gallon cask of the famous tequila brand of mescal may be had for 19 pesos ($9.50).

"The Mexicans surround the discovery of these maguey beverages with a legend of royal romance. Long before the Montezumas held sway over Tenochtitlan, so the story goes, one of the early emperors took as his bride the beautiful daughter of a vanquished foe The princess brought with her to Tenochtitlan the secret of a remarkable drink of which her lord and master grew inordinately fond. After imbibing freely of it he would become gratifyingly docile and torpid, leaving the princess free to her own devices. Other Aztec wives induced the princess to share with them the secret of this strange soporific and thus the whole race came under the power of pulque.

"The Aztec cannot be changed with the invention of the nauseous milk pulque, a compound of pulque and milk with a 'dash' of rennet. The rennet, part of a cow's compound stomach, is partially putrefied and the odor thus imparted is intensified and complicated by that of the pigskin in which the liquor is contained. The alibi which defenders of the Aztec can offer against the charge of being party to this olfactory crime is that before the Spaniards reached Mexico there were no cattle, horses or donkeys in the country, hence to rennet.

"Pulque cannot be shipped out of the country because no method of preserving it has been discovered, so the vast output of the extensive plantation—it is the most important industry of the states of Hidalgo, Mexico, Puebla and Tlaxcala—is consumed at home. Mexico consumes $4,000,000 worth of pulque annually."

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach; liver, kidneys and bowels.—Advertisement.

Corsage Bouquets for Your Sport Coat Now

By Betty Brown.

The corsage bouquet has blown into blossom for the special adornment of the spring sports suit. Bunches of fruit in dull colors are also used to decorate the out-door-girl's coat.

Safe Medicine for Children.

"Is it safe?" is the first question to be considered when buying cough medicine for children. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has long been a favorite with mothers of young children as it contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. It is pleasant to take, too, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. This remedy is most effectual in relieving coughs, colds and croup. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Pennsylvania Girl Finally Discovers Man Beneath Her Bed.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., April 14.—Peeking under the bed is not always barren of results, as Miss H. C. Wood, a member of the faculty of Miss Cowle's school for girls, Hollidaysburg, can testify. As a result of a peek Miss Wood took early one morning, William Koch, a Hollidaysburg young man, now languishes in the Blair county jail awaiting a hearing before Justice C. Irwin Lewis on a charge of forcible entry.

Spring.

Spring is looked upon by many as the most delightful season of the year, but this cannot be said of the rheumatic. The cold and damp weather brings on rheumatic pains which are anything but pleasant. They can be relieved, however, by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

RAILROAD NEWS

PENNSY LINES ARE BLOCKED FIVE HOURS

Broken Journal Causes Derailment of Six Cars Just East of Adams.

A broken journal under a car in a Pennsylvania westbound freight train at 1:42 o'clock this morning piled six cars upon the tracks one and a half miles east of Adams station and caused a blockade which delayed eight passenger trains and held up all the freight trains due at that point after that time for several hours. The cause of the wreck was a broken journal under a car loaded with tin plate, throwing it and three others off their trucks and derailing two other cars. Two of the derailed cars, besides the one carrying the tin plate, were loaded, one with coke and the other with earthenware, and three were empties. They were deposited upon the right-of-way so as to completely block both tracks and the wreck crew had difficulty in getting them cleared. The tracks were also slightly deranged and had to be repaired before trains could go over them and it was 6:40 o'clock before one of the tracks was opened and considerably later before the other was cleared. In the meantime eight passenger trains were waiting to pass and a number of freight trains were held back. The passenger trains affected were Nos. 49, 15, 25, 5 and 29, westbound, and Nos. 36, 6 and 18 eastbound. Nobody was injured in the wreck. The train was in charge of Conductor H. P. Pawlisch and Engineer L. F. Wood and the engine No. was 9956.

MAY BUILD AT LIMA.

Pennsylvania Contemplates Some Improvements There.

A Lima, Ohio, newspaper is responsible for a story to the effect that the Pennsylvania company is going to erect a new round house a mile or two west of the city and make other improvements at that place. According to that paper several work trains are now local there, grading and making other preparations for some sidings to be installed to give better facilities to the industrial plants at Lima. Five engine are now kept over night at Lima on the switch near the Main street crossing and considerable complaint is made, the paper says, because of the smoke issued from them. It is understood the Pennsylvania company has secured an option on thirteen acres of ground west of Lima, on which the new round house and the turntable will be located.

GOOD ON THE BOAT ALSO.

Agent F. C. Eggers, of the Wabash, has been advised that, beginning May 15, the time that summer tourist rates to the east become effective, the purchaser of round trip tickets will be given the option of traveling by rail or by boat one way between Detroit and Buffalo. He has also been advised that navigation is now open between Detroit and Cleveland, the steamers Eastern States and Western States being in that service. Navigation between Detroit and Mackinac Island and Detroit and Buffalo will be open April 26. The inquiries indicate that there will be much business over these lines the coming summer. The summer tourist rates over the steam lines become effective this season earlier than usual. Last year they were not open until June, but this year they will be open May 15. The same is true of the Niagara Falls and points in Canada rates this year.

ALL ATTEND CAMPBELL FUNERAL

(Logansport Pharos-Reporter.)

Without an exception, every official of the Vandalia railroad in this city attended the funeral of Superintendent F. L. Campbell, at Terre Haute, yesterday. A number of the clerical force and other employes also went to Terre Haute to attend the services. A general expression of sorrow prevails among the local employes over the death of Mr. Campbell, who was one of the best liked officials that has ever been in the city. R. K. Rochester, superintendent of the local division of the Pennsylvania railroad, and a number of Pennsy employes also attended the funeral.

COLONEL THOMPSON HERE.

Col. R. G. Thompson, now holding an important position in the passenger department of the Canadian Pacific, with headquarters in Chicago, is here to spend a day or two with friends. For over a quarter of a century, Colonel Thompson was connected with the Wabash, first in the capacity of ticket agent at Fort Wayne and then district passenger agent with headquarters in Fort Wayne and later at Indianapolis. He is known by everybody and knows everybody, so it is keeping him busy returning greetings from acquaintances.

NEW PENNSY OFFICE.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania yesterday the office of traffic manager of the lines east of Pittsburg was created and Robert C. Wright, freight traffic manager, will be appointed to the position. This appointment was followed by the promotion of a half-dozen men in the freight department.

GUARDING AMERICAN LINE IN THE DESERT

Trenches Held Ready for Instant Occupancy by U. S. Soldiers.

Ascension, Chihuahua, Mexico, April 14.—On the deserts and less than a mile to the north of Ascension, lies the camp of the American infantrymen, who are guarding the lines of communication. Their tents are pitched in the center of a little cotton wood fringed oasis. Around their camp is a long trench, ready for instant occupancy, while cavalrymen constantly are making their way up and down the motor supply route, which leads from Columbus, N M., to the front.

It is a tedious job, this guarding of a wagon trail in the desert of Chihuahua, according to the soliders who are members of the 24th infantry, a negro regiment. Only the occasional arrival of a motor or a wagon train carrying supplies to the troops farther to the front, who are actively pursuing Villa, breaks the monotony of the task. An engineering company, whose brown canvass shelters lie just across the Rio de Janos, is the envy of the infantrymen, for they at least are kept busy repairing the dust filled ruts made in the road by the passage of innumerable heavy truck trains.

Of course, occasionally, the silence is broken by the firing of shots. But, in the main, these only serve to demonstrate the preparedness of the men who are doing guard duty along the line.

Even the town of Ascension, lying about sixty-five miles south of Columbus, N. M., offers no distraction for the soldiers. Once a prosperous Mexican village, years of civil strife have left it little more than a huddled cluster of huts bearing the marks of the town's experiences.

Because of the order which has gone out against unnecessary firing, even hunting is under the ban. As a result the wild animals who make their homes on these flat, dusty plains are beginning to lose their fear of the soldiers. A soldier telegraph operator, dozing at his key in the headquarters, was startled by a rough tongue laid against his cheek. He awakened, so the story goes, to see a coyote, which had been standing with its forepaws on the rungs of his chair, scampering away in the darkness.

It is the arrival of the motor truck trains the soldiers look forward to. The trains bring together men of every sort. Among the drivers there is a former cavalry lieutenant retired several years ago for physical disability who, in his spare time, perfected an automobile device, the royalties from which amount to a large sum annually. He is driving a truck, just as is a former football star at the University of Michigan, who in his day was mentioned for the "All-American eleven," and there is a former officer in another army who is laboring alongside the young mechanics from motor factories doing his "bit" to help. But even the truck trains don't stop long, only a few hours for rest, every effort being made to hasten the supplies to the waiting troops in the field. When the crew of a train is ready to leave, the warm water from the radiators of the cars is let out and divided among them, a few dops to each for toilet purposes. As soon as the radiators have been refilled with cold water from the river the train resumes its journey through the dust wave. The troops at Ascension then resume their speculation as to the time of the arrival of the next train.

INDIANA CATHOLICS NOW TOTAL 249,426

Catholic Population of Continental U. S. is 29,922,062.

Indianapolis, April 14.—With its Catholic population of 249,426, Indiana now ranks eighteenth in the list of states in Catholic church membership.

Catholics in continental United States number 16,564,109, according to advance sheets of the 1916 edition of the Official Catholic directory. The increase in the number of Catholics during the year 1915 is shown to be 254,799. To the figure 16,564,109 could be added, according to Joseph H. Meier, the compiler, who has been studying Catholic population figures for more than ten years, at least 1,656,410, representing the floating Catholic population of the United States. Adding this 10 per cent would increase the Catholic figure to over eighteen millions.

Including the Catholics of the island possessions of the United States, it is found that there are 24,922,062 Catholics under the United States flag. In the Philippines there are 7,285,458. The additional 1,072,495 are in Alaska, the canal zone, in Guam, in American Samoa, in the Hawaiian islands and in Porto Rico.

It is shown that there are 19,572 Catholic clergymen in the United States. Of these 14,318 are secular clergy, while 5,254 are members of religious orders. The publication also lists 10,058 Catholic churches with resident priests; 5,105 mission churches; eighty-five seminaries with 6,201 students studying for the priesthood; 112 homes for aged; 210 colleges for boys; 685 academies for girls; 5,588 parochial schools with an enrollment of 1,497,949 children, and 283 orphan asylums with 48,089 orphans.

A. H. Schaaf has returned from Lansing, Mich., where he was one of the speakers at the annual convention of the Michigan Real Estate association.

FLEMING LIKELY TO BE AMONG BIG 4

Indianapolis, April 14.—Democratic party leaders will decide within the next week or ten days on the makeup of the four delegates at large to the national convention at St. Louis, Mo., June 14. The national delegates will be elected by the state convention which meets in Tomlinson hall April 26. On account of Governor Ralston having made a promise to speak at Swarthmore college previous to the fixing of the national convention date, it is probable he will be unable to attend.

The original plan was to have the big four delegates made up of Senators Taggart and Kern, Stephen B. Fleming of Fort Wayne, and Governor Ralston. There probably will be no change in the lineup of the first three named, but unless arrangements can be made for the governor to cancel his engagement at Swarthmore it probably will be necessary for the party leaders to find some one else to take his place in the Indiana delegation. It is probable that the question will be decided in a few days. The name of Bernard Korbly, democratic state chairman, is mentioned as a likely choice of the convention.

JUDGE NEIL TO SPEAK BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

Judge Henry Neil, author of the omthers' pension law that has been adopted in Illinois and a number of other states, will speak before the members of the Fort Wayne Rotary club at their next meeting Wednesday, April 19, at the noon hour.

The 'mothers' pension system was adopted in Illinois in 1911 and in the five years since, it has spread rapidly to other states, Indiana being the only large northern state that does not pension mothers of dependent children.

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DANDERINE"

Spend 25 cents! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Hair gets beautiful, wavy and thick in few moments.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp: the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?—Advertisement.

BOYS FOR ARMY AND GIRLS FOR HOSPITALS

Washington State Plans to Do Some Preparing at Home Next.

Olympia, Wash., April 13.—Every high school boy a soldier!

And every high school girl a trained nurse!

Such is the preparedness program to be submitted to the state of Washington at its next legislature by Representaitve Victor Zednick.

Representative Victor Zednick of Washington.

His bill contemplated compulsory military duty, providing for at least two hours' training per week, and would bring approximately 6,000 boys under its scope.

Instruction would have the approval of the adjutant general, and the trained nursing, together with a domestic hygiene course for the girls, would have the approval of the state board of health.

"This measure," explained Rep. Zednick, who is also a member of the state educational survey commission, "is modeled after the Swiss military system, and is similar to the one recently adopted in New Jersey.

"I believe the work in nursing and domestic hygiene will be especially valuable for the girls in every-day life; that it will prove one of the most practical studies in the entire curriculum.

"In like manner the military training will benefit the boys. It will develop them physically and will be valuable from the standpoint of disicpline.

"The present system of competitive athletics offers training for only a few who try for the teams. Military training will benefit all."

STATE ALTERS COMPLAINT.

Legal Matters in Muncie Saloon Situation Become Very Complicated.

Muncie, Ind., April 14.—The state decided to alter its complaint against Fred Kuback, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill Frank Whitney, a prominent "dry" leader in the recent local option and remonstrance struggle here. Judge Luther Pence, of the Madison county circuit court, acting as special judge in the Delaware county circuit court, said that the charges as they were drawn, were not good, but consented to their revision. Kuback's bond was fixed at $5,000 and his trial was set for April 26.

The legal matters growing out of the recent option election and remonstrance cases have become very complicated. So many motions, petitions, complaints, cross-complaints and demurrers have been filed that the attorneys themselves seem to have become confused.

Only Large Volume of Sales Could Make Such Values Possible

It is our confidence in the fact that the people of this city are judges of values and will respond readily to newspaper announcements that have the ring of honesty and merit to them which prompts us to buy, with our associate stores, in quantities sufficiently large to have a bearing on the market price. The concessions which we receive from the manufacturers we readily pass on to you, our customers, thus putting this business, as it were, on a co-operative basis.

Made In Grand Rapids—the Home of the Finest Furniture

This Davenport instantly conveys the impression of high quality. The tapestry coverings are of exceptionally beautiful design, in the most harmonizing color combinations, the fabric itself being closely woven and of long wearing quality.

Here Is a Detailed Description of This Beautiful Davenport

This not only adds to the comfort of the Davenport itself, but also makes it very easy to clean, as you can easily understand. It is very easy to get at every nook and corner, a feature which every housewife will appreciate.

82 Inches Long 35 Inches Wide and 36 Inches Deep

Those are the massive dimensions of the great over-stuffed Davenport. Just measure 82 inches off on the wall of your living room and you will have a good idea of how this Davenport will look in your home. The illustration is an exact reproduction in every detail.

This Side-Icer Refrigerator $16.75

With 500 Lbs. of Ice Free

A Continuous Stream of Cold, Dry Air

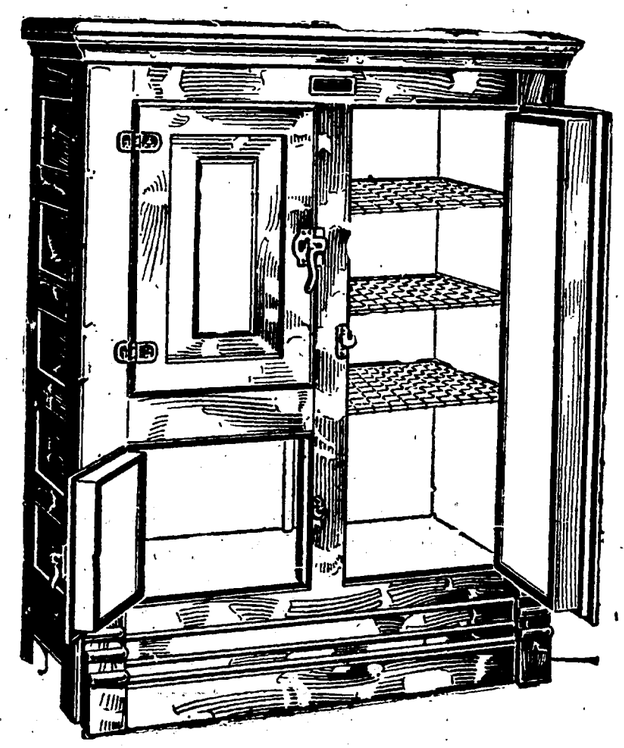
As long as there is ice in this refrigerator, a continuous stream of cold, dry air flows over the contents of the food compartments, carrying away all the odors and removing all possibility of contamination. There is absolutely no chance of your milk or butter being flavored from onions, fish or any other food that might be placed along side them.

The Illustration Tells Only Half the Story

You can only get a general idea of the real value of this refrigerator from the illustration. To fully appreciate it you will have to examine its construction and the minor details which a picture cannot show, but which are the points you should really consider in making a selection. Therefore, we request you to come in and see for yourself.

Easy to Clean and Keep Clean

Open the side door; reach inside and wash off any dirt the ice may have left, throw in a dipperful of clean water and the job is done.



All Hardwood and Highly Polished

These refrigerators are constructed of wood carefully selected. The side and doors are panelled. The highly polished surface is equally as good as the finish of the best dining room furniture; so well has it been applied that the varying atmospheric conditions in the kitchen do not affect it in the least.

Rust-Resisting Tinned Wire Shelves

The rust-resisting tinned ware shelves are a feature seldom found except in the higher priced refrigerators. They can always be kept perfectly clean; they do not hinder a free circulation of air, and they cannot absorb odors from food.

Other Styles

We have more than fifty styles of refrigerators, ranging from $7.75 up, and, with each refrigerator sold, we give a coupon book of 500 pounds of ice, delivered as you want it.

LOCAL MAN ELATED WITH BIG BENEFITS

Mrs. Katie Bixler Says Husband Didn't Expect Relief Tanlac Brought.

"Although I purchased Tanlac for my husband against his will, he is delighted that he tried the medicine," said Mrs. Katie Bixler, a well known Fort Wayne woman who lives at 1911 Sinclair street. Mr. Bixler is employed by a Fort Wayne contractor and also is well known here.

"My husband had no faith in Tanlac and I'll confess that I had only faint hopes of his getting relief," Mrs. Bixler continued. "He'd tried about everything and nothing helped him. For ten or twelve years he suffered from stomach trouble in the form of indigestion. When he ate breakfast he hardly ever could keep the food on his stomach. Often he would go to bed at night without attempting to eat supper and he'd just toss, and roll, and groan all night. It seemed that there was a heavy weight on his stomach all the time. Formations of gas formed in his stomach frequently, and he belched often.

"After taking about a bottle and a half of Tanlac my husband improved steadily. The belching and the formations of gas in his stomach are entirely gone now. The heavy feeling he formerly suffered in his stomach also has left. He sleeps soundly all night now and in the mornings he feels rested and refreshed. His appetite is fine. The kidney pains in the small of the back also have been relieved.

"My husband was greatly surprised when the benefits came for he had little faith. He has taken about two bottles and a half of Tanlac now."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite and the like and is a fine spring tonic, rebuilding broken down tissues and cleansing the system.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Fort Wayne at the Wayne and Calhoun streets store of the Meyer Drug Co., where the Tanlac Man is explaining the new remedy. It also may be obtained at the other Meyer stores, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor.—Advertisement.

NO AFFIDAVIT IN BLIND TIGER CASE

Negress Under Bond for a Week With No Charge Against Her.

When Eleanor Gillen was called in the city court, Friday morning, to present herself for trial on a blind tiger charge, her attorneys, Stephen A. Callahan and W. C. Ryan, developed that there had been no affidavit filed against her. Judge H. Waveland Kerr announced that there was no case pending against her and she walked out of the court room free, after having been under $200 bond for a week. Then there was some scurrying to find one Harry McDonald, a witness who was known to be ready to swear that he had purchased beer of the woman, who is a negress with a home on the jail flats, the old redlight district. McDonald at length was found, but it was decided to have Officer Jack Lynch who, with Deputy United States Marshal W. H. Haggerty, made the arrest, sign the affidavit. Deputy Prosecutor Byron Hayes prepared an affidavit, Officer Lynch signed it and later Bailiff George Eisenhut went to North Calhoun street and placed the negress again under arrest. If there is a conviction on the blind tiger charge Deputy Marshal Haggerty probably will take steps for the prosecution of Mrs. Gillen for violation of the federal internal revenue laws.

Other City Court Cases.

Grover C. Miller, charged with issuing and uttering checks against an imaginary bank account, was given an indefinite continuance. Friends had testified in his behalf at the hearing earlier in the week and convinced the court that the young man had acted without criminal intent.

Joseph Malloy, a drunk, was fined $5 and costs, and Terrence Doyle, who also acknowledged a souse, drew a like amount. They went as comrades to jail for fifteen days.

William Carroll, a loiterer, was turned loose to find a job or a road from town, and Pam Hilt, a drunk, was given a clearance.

Judge Kerr entered an indefinite continuance in the case of Frank W. Minnich, a magazine agent with offices in the Shoaff building, who had slapped a young solicitor when that employe called him a liar and had been arrested for assault and battery.

Alexander Mitchell, a civil war veteran with 78 years charged to him, was tried for intoxication and allowed to go. He came from dry territory in Michigan and was en route to the soldiers' home in Marion, and stopped here to visit a daughter. He tarried to quench his thirst and had not seen his daughter up to the hour of appearing in the city court. He had been held for a few days to become perfectly sober.

ANTHONY WAYNE WILL BE THERE SATURDAY

So Will Little Turtle and All the Celebrities for the Centennial.

"Mad Anthony" Wayne in cog., will mingle with lesser celebrities at Saengerbund hall Saturday afternoon. Frank Stouder says so.

Half-past 2 o'clock is the hour set for a large number of Fort Wayne citizens of recognized lung power to assemble at the hall, corner of West Main street and Maiden lane, and meet Donald Robertson, the producer of the great historic Fort Wayne pageant. Mr. Robertson hopes, at this time, to be able to make his selections for the principal characters in the play. It is to be inferred, therefore, that "General Wayne" and all of the old-time heroes will be there not only unbeknown to other folks but in concealment from themselves—for no hint has been given out as to who will be selected for any of the parts.

Seating Contract Let.

The Centennial cabinet closed its contract last evening with the P. A. McHugh Seating Co., of Chicago, to provide all of the seats and tenting needed for the production of the spectacular play at Reservoir park.

The original plan contemplates the arranging of the vast amphitheater for the audience, which will seat 14,000 persons. The lower section will consist of 156 boxes in double rows, each box to contain six chairs. These boxes are to be six feet square, and the total will accommodate 936 box seats.

Just back of the boxes will be arranged a series of grandstand chairs in tiers, providing a total of 4,630 seats.

Immediately in the rear of these grandstand seats will be placed a series of "bleacher" seats which will continue up the side of the reservoir embankment, providing approximately 7,754 seats. Additional provisions have been made to bring the total to 14,000 seats.

The contractor also provides a large number of tents and canvas walls to enclose the portion of the area needed by the performers and actors in the pageant. The tents will be provided with partitioins and shelving and other conveniences. The contractor provides entire area of the pageant grounds, the entire arear of the pageant grounds, the ticket booths, entrances, and everything connected with that portion of the big affair.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, April 14.—Except at the immediate opening wheat traders seemed to be disposed to minimize the seriousness of Mexican and Germany difficulties and to be guided by influences that had a more tangible bearing on supply and demand. Assertions that the rainfall in Nebraska was much less plentiful than had been supplied gave an advantage to the bulls and helped to cause a rapid recovery in values. Opening prices, which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to ⅝@¾c lower, were followed by a decided advance all around.

The close was unsettled, varying from a shade off to ⅝c net advance, with May at $1.16⅝@1.16½ and July at $1.15.

Corn swayed with wheat. Lightness of receipts tended to lift prices and so, too, did talk of improved demand from the seaboard. After opening ⅛c off to a shade up the market scored a moderate general gain.

The close was steady at ⅛@¼c to ⅜c net advance.

Oats took the same course as other cereals. Liberal sales to the east were reported.

Higher prices on hogs gave strength to provisions. Buying, however, was not aggressive.

Aside from U. S. Steel, whose initial sale consisted of one lot of 3,500 shares at half a point recession, early dealings were notably free from large individual offerings.

Supporting orders were of a more substantial character than on the previous day, leading stocks soon recovering to or over original prices of that session. Dealings were on the largest and broadest scale of recent weeks, the first hour's business approximating 300,000 shares. It was regarded as significant that activity was most pronounced on the rebounds. Rails again displayed more firmness than any other group but U. S. Steel also reflected steady absorption. Attention continued to focus on Washington, another severe break in Paris exchange being ignored. Bonds were steady.

EMPEROR WILLIAM AT DIVINE WAR SERVICE

Berlin, April 14.—Emperor William yesterday attended a divine war service conducted at the German main army headquarters by Cardinal Felix von Hartmann, archbishop of Cologne.

The cardinal brought greetings to the soldiers from home and pledged to the further support of the Catholic soldiers. He then offered prayers for the victory of German arms and the safe return of missing German soldiers.

Cardinal Hartmann presented to Emperor William 360,000 marks collected by Prussian Catholics for the benefit of wounded soldiers.

BIG JUDGMENT GIVEN.

Rochester, Ind., April 14.—After being out all night, a jury in the Fulton circuit court today gave Walter McNeill $14,125 in his $70,000 damage suit against the Rochester Bridge company and its liability company, the Aetna Insurance company. McNeill lost the sight of an eye while working in the local plant several years ago and was paid $150 in full settlement of his hospital and doctor's bills, it was said. His attorneys sought to prove that he was insane at the time he signed the paper. The defendants in the case will appeal.

DALTON DEAL IS OFF.

Cincinnati, April 14.—The deal in which "Jack" Dalton, the outfielder of the Buffalo Federals, was to come to Cincinanti, will be called off, according to an announcement made by President August Hermann at the ball park here today. "Dalton tried to get us to pay him more than we had arranged to," said Hermann, "and I am going to call off the deal."

USE MUCH RAW COTTON.

Washington, April 14.—Cotton manufacturers used more raw cotton during March than in any one month before in the nation's history. Census bureau statistics announced today show the 600,000 bale mark was passed for the first time as far as records show. The exact quantity of cotton used during the month was 613,620 bales, exceeding the previous record month, which was March last year, by almost 90,000 bales.

WRANGLE SENT TO CONFERENCE.

Washington, April 14.—House and senate disagreements over the repeal of the free sugar clause of the tariff law went today to conferees of the two houses. A senate amendment would be for putting sugar on the free list for four years from May 1. The house bill would defer it indefinitely. Revenue between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 a year is involved.

WHAT IT COST ROBERTS.

Noblesville, Ind., April 14.—Henry Roberts, who was recently nominated by the republicans for state statistician, spent $1,250.50 in his campaign, according to his expense statement filed with the county clerk here. The principal expenditures were hotel bills and railroad fare.

NITRATE ADVOCATES WIN.

Washington, April 14.—Champions of a government hydro electric plant to produce nitrate for the manufacture of war munitions and fertilizer won their fight in the senate today by inserting an amendment proposing an appropriation of $15,000,000 for that purpose into the Chamberlain army increase bill. The vote was 43 to 22.

VETERAN EDITOR DEAD.

Reliable Medicine for Distressing Bronchial Coughs

Hoarseness, Tickling Throat, Severe Coughing, All Go When Foley's Honey and Tar Is Used.

Bronchitis too often leaves a severe racking cough that weakens the system and paves the way for such grave diseases as pleurisy and pneumonia. Sometimes there is a nervous hacking, worse on arising and at nightfall, that is especially wearing and should by all means be stopped promptly. FOLEY'S Honey and Tar is exactly suited to these conditions. It directly affects the mucous lining of the throat, clearing it at once of hoarseness, removing the tickling phlegm and stopping the severe racking cough.

Coughs usually grow worse at nightfall and prevent the quiet rest so necessary to one weakened by a cold.

Chas. T. Miller, Ed. Cannelton, Ind., Enquirer, writes: "For three years I was troubled with bronchial affections was hoarse and sometimes could hardly speak louder than a whisper. Had to entirely give up singing, and coughed constantly from sore throat day and night. I took FOLEY'S Honey and Tar and got relief. This spring the trouble arose again. I bought a bottle, took five doses, and have the remainder in the bottle on my desk now, to take if another attack develops. It is great for bronchial colds and coughs.

TO RESIST SHOCK WHEN PEACE COMES

Correct the Defects in Railway Laws, Advise Manufacturers.

New York, April 14.—"For resisting the industrial shock which many think will follow peace in Europe," the Railway Business association (manufacturers) has issued a bulletin declaring that "the most effective insurance policy in which the American people could invent," would be the re-establishment of railay credit and railway purchasing power.

If the roads, the statement says, "were regulated with a view to the national welfare, they would have such earnings in periods of large tonnage as would provide them with a surplus fund. This in years of general depression would enable them to proceed without apprehension to make additions and betterments. Present regulation now assures the proper use of railway resources."

Defects in Regulation.

The bulletin is headed "Defects in Railway Regulation." Chambers of commerce and national trade associations are invited to consider the adoption of resolutions on the question of making railroad regulation more salutary.

It is pointed out that an opportunity to make influence felt is afforded by the pending congressional inquiry into this subject.

Expenses, it is asserted, "have risen faster than earnings, and no branch of the government performs the function of providing enlarged revenues to meet the higher costs. The country is entitled to adequate mechanism and methods of regulation. Delegates to national party conventions and members of the federal senate and house are entitled to know what men of affairs think about this question."

Points Out Evils.

The association points out evils:

"(1) The people of each state have suffered injury at the hands of authorities in other states.

"(2) National defense is shorn of transportation efficiency by reason of divided and conflicting regulation of railways.

"(3) National growth in time of peace has been retarded through weakening of the railroads by conflicting and overlapping jurisdictions.

Federal Defects.

"(4) Litigants in interstate commerce are exposed to injustice because the interstate commerce commission has, under the law, the incompatible functions of detective, prosecutor, jury, judge and mechanical expert.

"(5) Subordinates are adjudicating cases which, under the law, the commission alone is competent to decide. These subordinates are of greatly inferior official dignity in emolument and tenure, and are not presidential appointees.

"(6) Shippers of one commodity suffer discrimination when another commodity pays less than its share of the total cost of transportation, because the commission in adjusting rate situations has no power to order a rate raised.

Roads Not Protected.

"(7) National industry and agriculture are under the dead weight of a transportation system which cannot grow with the country's needs, because the government protects the individual shipper, but does not undertake to protect the individual railroad.

"The federal statute contains no rule for the guidance of the commission defining just and reasonable rates as rates which will enable the roads to attract new capital and grow as the country grows. The government, in other words, having left it to private capital to provide rail highways, has never by statute recognized its duty to permit conditions under which private capital could or would perform that function adequately.

"Correction of these defects in the regulatory system would go far to restore to the railways their ability to aid national prosperity."

ROAD MARKERS TO BE STANDARDIZED

Trained Crew Is Shortly to Be Sent Over Lincoln Highway.

Detroit, Mich., April 14.—H. C. Ostermann, Field Secretary of the Lincoln Highway association, has just announced plans for repainting and standardizing the road markers on the route of the Lincoln Highway all across the country. This important step will be undertaken in the immediate future and will be of the greatest benefit to the tourists making the cross country trip.

It is planned to send a trained crew of painters over the route to paint all signs and to standardize the system by replacing the markers where necessary to make it uniform. There will be eight markers to the mile and two at each turn in all cities and villages.

The Willys-Overland company has contributed two specially decorated service cars for the purpose and the Lincoln Highway association will furnish all materials, the communities along the route being asked to contribute proportionately to pay the salaries of the men doing the work. The various localities have each marked and painted the route individually up to this time, and while the results have been highly satisfactory in every way, many of the signs are now weather-beaten and some are not placed to the best advantage, therefore the association has undertaken to standardize the entire system.

Each community will have the work done at a much smaller expense than if it were to do the work locally, Mr. Ostermann having figured the entire expense according to the population, territory to be benefited and the total number of markers to be used, and then making an equitable division of the amount along the route.

The plan meets with high approval, as pride in the Lincoln Highway is characteristic in each locality through which it runs.

SEEING NOTHING BUT PROSPERITY

Outward Signs at Buenos Aires All of the Most Optimistic Sort

Buenos Aires, March 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—With the carnival season now making its annual entry, there are no outward signs of anything but prosperity in the capital of the Argentine. So far as society is concerned, it is exulting over the favorable prospects for the opera season which, the newspapers say, will make Buenos Aires the center of the operatic world this year.

The general feeling in business circles regarding economic conditions, however, is rather pessimistic.

The fact is, the price of grain, which guages the prosperity of the provinces, has fallen precisely when a substantial increase in price was anticipated. The markets of Great Britain and her allies are practically the only ones open to Argentine produce, and having organized a collosal "corner" Great Britain has become the grainery and store house of the group. She buys for all, carries for all, pays for all. By thus doing away with competition between themselves, the allies are in a position to dictate prices rather than have prices dictated to them.

The Argentine producers find that while the European demand is always for more, the supply is arranged from England by limiting the number of steamers available for the River Platte trade. All grain must be forwarded by freighters, the mail boats being requisitioned for the transport of chilled meat. The scarcity of freight vessels has accordingly given rise to serious congestion of the grain shipments.

At Galvan, and the stations near Bahia Blanca, the port of shipment for the southern zone, there were at the end of last month 140,000 tons of wheat stored in elevator sheds or stacked in the open awaiting shipment, and at intermediate stations along the Great Southern railroad there are 9,500,000 sacks of wheat and oats stacked in the open. Similar conditions prevail along the Great Western and Central Argentine lines. In fact, up to the end of last month the grain of this year's harvest loaded or ready for loading was only 123,000 tons. For the same period last year the total was 444,000 tons. Thus far charters up to the 15th of July next for Argentine grain aggregate only 550,000 tons, which is approximately 1,050,000 tons short of the total for the corresponding period of last year.

Owing to the fact that a large number of Italian harvest hands have gone back to Italy and the general current of immigration has been meagre, the grain growers have also had some trouble with labor, there being such a scarcity of workers that high prices have to be paid. It was only through the timely action of the department of labor, which organized the unemployed, and regulated the supply in accordance with the geographical zones and the actual demand, that the harvesting of the crops has, so far, been accomplished. As regard to the grain, the oats are of exceptional quality and quantity. The wheat has yielded heavily, but the grain is, generally speaking, light inweight, being from three to four pounds per bushel under the standard.

In regard to corn the outlook is not so favorable. It is estimated that the actual yield along the Western railroad lines will be 50 per cent. less than was officially forecast. The early crop turned out well, but locusts, hail and drought accounted for the falling off in the yield. The estimated output of this grain available for export is given by the Central Argentine railroad at 1,000,000 tons, while last year the same line gave for export 2,400,000 tons. There is still a good deal of last year's grain on hand.

Altogether the situation in the Argentine and South America generally is rather ambiguous. With visible assets worth millions of dollars on hand and with ready markets awaiting supplies, these perishable assets cannot be forwarded or liquidated for lack of freighters. This handicap is emphasized by the fact that under the influence of the war in Europe and the high prices offered for vessels the nascient mercantile marine of Argentina has practically vanished from sight.

Physicians have decided that several forms of nervous diseases, sometimes dangerously severe, can be caused by persons standing up and holding straps while riding in street cars.

IRISH STEW OFFICIAL "FIGHTING FODDER" OF THE ALLIED ARMIES

The war-lords have sniffed the Irish stew!

The humble concoction of onions, potatoes and a "bit o' meat' is helping to build the "sinews of war" for the allied armies, for Irish stew has been selected as the official "fighting fodder." An order has been rushed to the United States for 600,000,000 one-pound cans of it.

What's good food for a fighting man should be good food for the man of-place. Irish stew then, should be as good served out of the family trencher as out of a tin can on the battlefield. The army cooks have changed the old-fashioned recipe a little. Their 600,000,000-can order excludes potatoes. This army recipe may be worth experimenting with and the housewife may find it an improvement on the family cook book formula. Here are both:

From the Family Cook Book

Put two pounds of meat—beef, mutton or veal, and four pounds of potatoes in a large sauce pan. Have the potatoes peeled and sliced and lay meat and potatoes in alternate layers. Season to taste with salt and pepper and finely minced onion. Add one pint cold water and let simmer gently two hours. Serve hot.

From the Army Cook.

1,200,000 pounds onions.
1,200,000 pounds beans.
1,200,000 pounds beef.
1,200,000 pounds rice.
1,200,000 pounds carrots.

NEW PROCESS FOR RADIO PHOTOGRAPH

French Scientist Claims to Have Made Important Discovery.

Paris, April 5.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Charles Vaillant, head of the radiographic laboratory of the Lariboisiere hospital in Paris, has announced a successful means of replacing the present costly process of x-ray photographing on a glass negative with printing directly on to paper.

Vaillant's new process uses ordinary sensitized paper for taking radium photographs. The cost of the paper is only a twentieth of that of the glass negative, and there is also a saving in weight and space.

Vaillant has only three fingers left out of ten, namely two forefingers and a thumb, the forefinger of the left hand and the forefinger of the right. The rest of his fingers he lost, one after the other, by holding them at the end of a tube, thus trying on himself the penetrative effects of the radium rays. Repeated amputation, however, did not lessen Vaillant enthusiasm. He is already the discoverer of a radiographic method of determining whether or not an infant was born dead or alive.

The infant born dead comes out on the negative completely dark, whereas its having uttered a cry, or lived an instant, an hour, or ten hours, is proved by the development on the plate first of the stomach and then of the lungs. The practical legal result is that infanticide can now be detected without recourse to an autopsy.

For the moment Vaillant's mind is concentrated on getting the most out of radiography for the benefit of the wounded in war. "I want," he says, "to extract all the secrets I can from science, so as to help the surgeon to operate with greater certainty and save as many heroes as possible. My little personal war is with science and I mean to make her pay me for my amputations."

HER TWO HUNGRY BABES.

Lead California Woman to Attempt to Pass Forged Check.

Los Angeles, April 14.—A sick husband and the cries of two hungry babies drove Mrs. Rose Krehan, a pretty young woman of 22, to try to pass a bogus check in Los Angeles, for which she is now in jail. Mrs. Krehan was arrested by detectives as she was in the act of passing a check for $15, bearing the name of Robert Holwagner. Mrs. Krehan, sobbing hysterically, said that her husband is in the county hospital and that she is supporting two infants.

EVER FISH WITH A KITE? FINE SPORT

Catalina Veteran Tells Just How the Thing is Done.

By M. C. Larkin.

Catalina Island, Cal., April 14.—"Did you ever fish with a kite?" said Captain Dan, looking at me in his quizzical way.

"A kite?" said I. "What kind of guff are you trying to stuff me with now—fish with a kite!"

It's a way that Captain Danielson has when he's about to tell you one of the tricks of the trade. For 14 years O. I. Danielson has been a boatman on the big game fishing banks at Catalina Island, biggest sport fishing grounds in the world, and he has chugged out onto the blue sea there with some of the world's richest sportsmen fishing from the stern of his boat.

"Yes," Captain Dan went on, "if it's tuna we're wanting we generally fish with a kite. It's a dodge that was invented on the banks here and it's a thing we can always rely on to make the big fellows strike.

Secret Discovered.

"George Farnsworth was the lad who put this kite thing over on us, an' he fished with it for seven years before the rest of us got wise. He had all the men who went out to fish with him sworn to secrecy; but one of them finally spilled the beans.

"At first Farnsworth used to make kites of marine-blue silk and they were invisible against the sky. And he used to fly them within 300 yards of us and we never got hep to his game.

"The idea of the kite is this: 'The Tiger of the Sea,' meaning the leaping tuna, is a particular wary fish. He bites at nothing but a flying fish. So we let out a kite on maybe 150 feet of light string and tie it to our fishing line eight or ten feet from where the flying-fish dangles from the hook. The kite and the momentum of the launch keeps the flying fish skipping along over the water and Mr. Tuna, thinkin' the bait is sure enough alive, strikes and instead of a bobbin' kite, the sportsman has a plunging 'Tiger of the Sea' tugging on the end of his line. An' generally he swears it's a whale and not a fish at all."

"Baby Cringo" Wins Liberty With Song

HARRY JOLINE

There are more ways than one of capturing a Villa bandit. Four-year-old Harry Joline tried singing. And it worked.

Baby Harry and his parents were held prisoners by Villa's men in Mexico recently. Harry was given the freedom of the prison, which happened to be a bull-pen. He sang baby songs to his guards and sang to sweetly the "bebie gringo" and his parents were released.

Harry showed his real wisdom when with his parents he traveled 14,000 miles in 45 days to his home in Philadelphia and kept well every day of the journey. The climate and altitude changed so often during the trip Harry's clothes were sometimes changed three times a day.

Recruits Will Be Sought for Civilian Camp at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, April 14.—The canvass for recruits for the civilian military camp this summer at Fort Benjamin Harrison will be conducted from Chicago, with the exception of Indiana recruits. The Indianapolis bureau will have charge of this work, and every town and city in the state will be canvassed for enlistments.

There are thirteen other states in the central department, and these all will be canvassed from Chicago. It is expected companies of 100 to 150 men will be brought out of all the larger cities of the central states. Chicago already is active, even before the publicity campaign opens. It is said between 70 and 100 men sent in applications for enlistment. Paul B. Harms, a clerk in the central department, will be sent to Indianapolis to supervise the enlistments from this state.

Adjt. Gen. F. L. Bridges, H. O. Garman and Gordon E. Varney have been named as a committee to handle the money for the camp. Hamilton Buchanan has been appointed to obtain speakers to create interest in the camp.

The local committee is nearing the end of its work in raising the $4,000 necessary to defray expenses. The total lacks a few hundred dollars of being complete, and it is probable the amount will be subscribed this week.

LOCALS OPEN THE SEASON SUNDAY AT DEFIANCE, O.

MART CLEARY'S GANG GOES DOWN TO BUCKEYE STATE FOR OPENING BATTLE

Defiance will put on its other clothes, invite its country cousins in, and dust off the megaphones Sunday and do honor to Fort Wayne's baseball team. The locals open their season at the town down the Maumee Sunday afternoon, and the Buckeye townmen are awaiting the event with some impatience.

This will be the first time the Clearyites will be able to get together, as conditions have been such as to make practice impossible, and the strength of the local boys is an unknown quantity. It is rarely a team goes into a regular game without practice, and if they run into anything like form it will prove the locals a mighty good organization.

The Central league ball park still is unfit for practice, although the river has gone down. The infield still is covered with pools and the ground is in no shape for playing.

SHOP LEAGUE NOTES.

IN the past week or ten days the Fort Wayne Industrial league managers have been mighty busy stirring up players and a number of regulars have been added to the lists. The Bowser plant has put Geo. Weberus, Rip Watt and Al McKee on its lineup, Walter Prince and Butch Henline have gone to the Electric works, Pitcher Rube Ternet is a new employe of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, and Lefty Grimes has joined the Turners.

At the meeting of the shop league managers held in the office of President Mart Cleary last evening the leaguers submitted reports on the advertising book campaign, which indicated a mighty successful week. Secretary-Treasurer Ora Goff, who by virtue of his office is also noble and annointed keeper of the sacred scorebook, finds but a few blank spaces in the dummy, and knows that by next Saturday they will be filled.

The Bowster team will work out Saturday afternoon at Weisser park, and expects about forty candidates out to practice. The Pennsy practices Saturday at Lawton park and the Electric works at Randall field. The Turners will have their first workout Saturday with twenty-five men on deck.

Because the grounds which the Dudlo company has hoped to use are in such condition that it would require a young fortune to get them in shape, the shop league has abandoned the plan and hopes to play its third set of games in Foster park.

HOW MY DAD TAUGHT ME TO PLAY BASEBALL

DIAGRAM SHOWS POSITION OF SECOND BASEMAN

PRACTICE ALL SORTS OF DIFFICULT FIELDING.

Fifth of a series of photos posed especially for The Sentinel by Joe Tinker, Jr., showing how to play baseball.

SECOND BASE.

No position in the infield requires greater judgment than second base. The boy playing this base must be a bear at holding swiftly thrown balls and in looking out for high fly balls. He also must be very quick in putting the ball on a runner. Then, too, he must be active in backing up the shorstop.

Another important part of his play is to study the style of the various batters for his position in the field is governed by the character of the batting he is called upon to face. When the first baseman runs in for a ball it is up to the second baseman to cover first base.

Always time your throw to first and take good aim. When a runner is on first base and another on third the second baseman should be on the watch to make a quick return to the catcher when the latter throws to second in order to nip the runner at third should he start for home on a double steal.

CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL LEAGUE

An interclass baseball league, with teams representing all classes, has been formed at the Catholic central high school and play will begin within a few days. A schedule is being worked out and several games will be played each week until the close of the school year. This is the first of the junior leagues to be established this year.

Lawrence, Kan., April 14.—The signing of George Clark, University of Illinois football star, as assistant coach at the University of Kansas, already has boosted the university's football stock for next fall, it has been pointed out. With Clark to give the men rudimentary training Coach Herman Olcott expects to devote more time to the teamwork of his eleven.

Detroit, Mich., April 14.—Three former stars of the Grand circuit are entered in the important stake races at the Detroit meeting this season. These comebacks are Joe Patchen II, Benington and Omar. The allowance rule enables fast horses to enter such races as the M. and M. after they have been incapacitated for a season.

St. Louis, April 14.—The world's champion balk line billiard tournament will be held in St. Louis next October. It has not yet been announced who will be entered in the tournament, but that the contest would take place here was stated in a telegram received from R. B. Benjamin, manager of the Hoppe-Yamada tour. An effort will be made to obtain several international stars for the St. Louis tournament.

DEL GAINOR QUITS GAME FOR RAILROAD

One-Time Local Baseball Star Leaves Red Sox for Rails.

Del Gainor, one-time Fort Wayne Central league first sacker, and one of the most successful graduates of the local lot, has quit baseball for good according to announcement from Boston. Del played first and outfield as utility man for the Red Sox last season, running into more than half the season's games, and did equally well in both positions. Gainor got a job last fall on the West Virginia Central railroad, and likes it so well that when it came to spring practice he wouldn't give it up.

PAULDING FARM HOME BURNED.

Paulding, Ohio, April 14.—A large farm fire loss occurred when the home on the Chris Stoller farm, north of Paulding a couple of miles, known as the Cedar farm, originally developed and improved by Beugnot and Schaab, was entirely destroyed, including a portion of the contents. The fire is supposed to have started from a defective flue. The building was a large one, and a very well built, well preserved frame structure. It probably cost in the neighborhood of $4,000 when erected, and of course could not be replaced for anything near that sum today. The building was insured for $3,500 in the Amish Church Mutual Insurance company. Rebuilding will be instituted as soon as arrangements for it can be accomplished.

PETE HENDERSON, CANADIAN, ENTERS SPEEDWAY RACE

Pete Henderson steps across the boundary line of Canada to the States and crawls in behind the wheel of a "Made in U. S. A." car with his head full of determination to win the Sixth International Sweepstakes Race on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30.

Henderson is one of the youngest drivers in the game both in age and in experience, but neither has youth nor his limited experience deterred him from the ironclad vow to make veterans do or die. That he has pluck was shown last summer when one of his team mates gave up a race at Burlington because of axle trouble. Pete looked the car over, yes, the axle was in a weakened condition, but Pete realized that motor racing is a chance from start to finish, so he took the car and finished the race with a broken axle. With such indomitable courage as this Henderson's friends believe he is destined to be a star and expect great things from him at the wheel of a Maxwell at Indianapolis, May 30. Originally he was scheduled to drive a Dussenberg, but has since joined the Prest-O-Lite racing team that owns four Maxwell cars. The Maxwell cars are being finished at Indianapolis and Pete is hanging around impatient to get going i: know about the printing of that most wonderful book—the Bible? Read the interesting facts and figures about it given below, and perhaps you will know more!

WHAT DO YOU

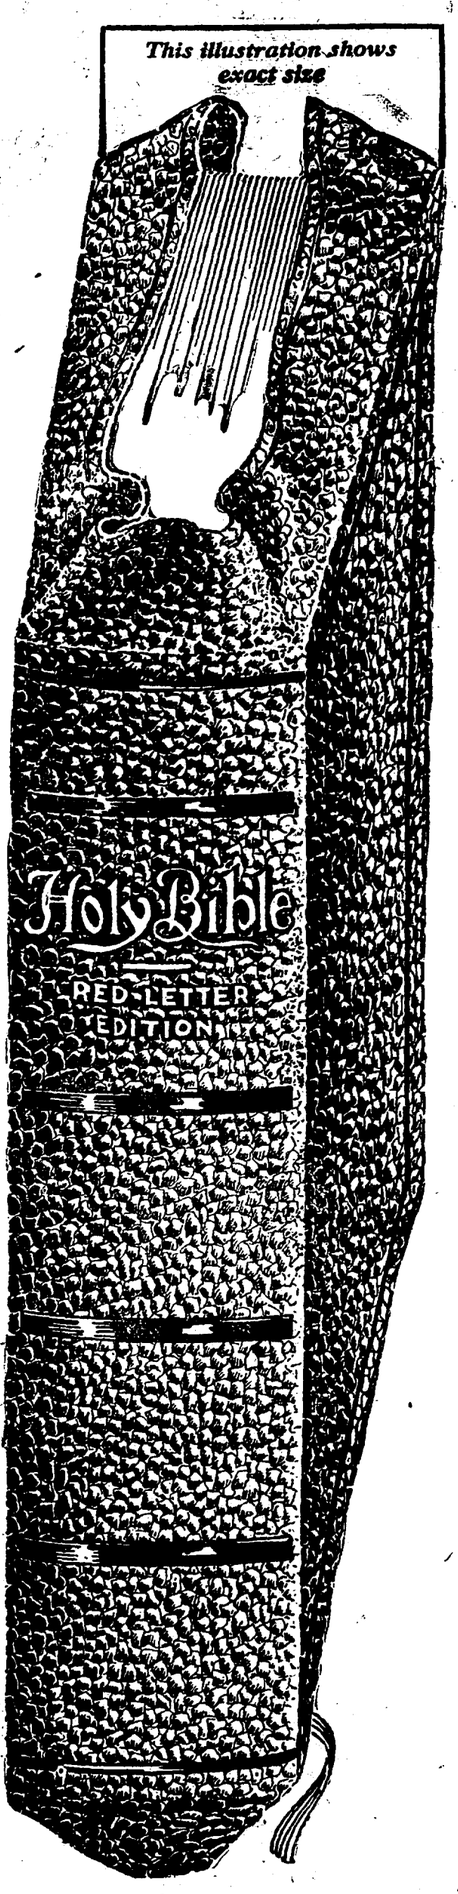
THE FORT WAYNE SENTINEL

offers the very best edition ever printed for popular use, to its readers, in what might be called a "gift distribution:"

The Big Print Red Letter Bible



Fascinating Figures About The Bible

Over 200 million copies of the Bible have been printed. Touching end to end, they would go 'round the world —25000 miles. Piled one on another, it would take 4000 mountains like Mt. Everest, the highest in the world, to reach the topmost book. But this is not all. The public libraries of the entire world could not contain them. It would take two of the largest ships ever built, loaded to the deck, or a hundred freight trains, with 25 cars to the train, to transport them. Stacked in columns, they would make 100,000 Eiffel Towers, the tallest structure ever built by human hands. To print them would require at least 100 billions of pages of type.

The mere physical facts about the Bible stagger the imagination. All the other books ever printed seem microscopic by comparison. The Bible has been read by more people than any ten thousand other books. Today it forms the basis of religion for several hundred millions of the most enlightened peoples of the earth. The greatest war in history began in 1914, and shook the world from center to circumference. As a result, untold millions of people, startled out of their lethargy, took to the Bible to save their sanity and restore their mental vision. The first year of the war saw more Bibles sold than in any other year since it was printed.

It was the consideration of these facts that led this newspaper, in conjunction with all the leading newspapers of the country, to seize upon the psychological moment in which to inaugurate a nation-wide revival of Bible-reading. The edition now offered in these columns is the same as is being offered by the leading papers everywhere—not for profit to themselves—but for the benefit of their readers.

We invite comparison with any other edition of the Bible. We challenge competitive examination; secure in the knowledge that the Famous Red Letter Edition we offer, is easily first—and beyond any ordinary offering by publishers who seek only profit.

FOR SELLING ILLEGAL SERUM

Hartford City, Ind., April 14.—Judge W. T. Eichhorn, in the circuit court here has taken under advisement the case of the state against Oscar Ervin, well known farmer, who is charged with unlawfully selling hog cholera serum. State Veterinarian Nelson attended the trial. John Slater, of Missouri, of the Slater Serum company, was also present to aid in the defense. It was the serum of this company that Mr. Ervin is alleged to have sold illegally. The defense contends that the state has no right to legislate such matters because there is a federal statute covering the case. The state holds that the law, under which the prosecution is being conducted, is more specific than the federal statute and for that reason is legal. The case is attracting considerable attention in the county.

BOARD IS DIVIDED ON PROPOSED CANAL

Col. Millis Favors New Waterway—S. F. Bowser is President.

The meeting of the directors and members of the Erie & Michigan Deep Waterways association at the Randall hotel, Thursday evening, when officers were elected for the ensuing year, was featured by the reading of a message from Congressman Cyrus Cline telling of the filing of the army engineers' report on the Toledo, Fort Wayne and Chicago barge canal with the chief of engineers at Washington.

The message was as follows: "Canal report filed with chief of engineers, signed by Col. W. V. Judson and Maj. P. S. Bond. I understand Col. Millis will file a minority report of the construction. Finds (meaning Judson and Bond) that construction feasible by either the north or south route. Estimated cost, $148,000,000. Commercial necessity for construction does not now exist. Col. John Millis will report that necessity for construction does exist now."

S. F. Bowser Named President.

S. F. Bowser, head of the Bowser Oil Tank & Pump works, was elected president to succeed the late Perry A. Randall. J. W. Caswell, head of the Caswell-Runyan Manufacturing company, of Huntington, was elected vice president for the southern route; Richard Elbel, of South Bend, vice president for the northern route; A. M. Groves, Fort Wayne, secretary, and Thomas J. Logan, Fort Wayne, treasurer.

The reading of the message from Congressman Cline and the election of officers followed a banquet at 6 o'clock served in the main diningroom of the hotel. The message from Congressman Cline caused much enthusiasm for it was the general opinion that a victory had been won.

J. W. Caswell, who acted as temporary president, said that the report was probably better than one in which all members of the board had voted favorably. "It gives us occasion to rejoice and I am quite sure now that Col. Millis' minority report will bring the canal in time."

In accepting the presidency of the association Mr. Bowser said: "I hope to live until this canal is constructed." All present agreed that he would. He announced that he would appoint the board of directors within the next few days.

Short addresses were delivered by C. B. Williams, of Huntington; C. S. Bash, Fort Wayne; T. E. Ellison, Fort Wayne; Charles R. Lane, Fort Wayne; T. J. Logan, Fort Wayne, and a number of others.

URGES COMPULSORY HEALTH INSURANCE

Federal Health Experts' Report Finds Unfortunate Conditions.

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, April 4.—Overwork and underpay are the principal forces at work in breaking down the health of American workingmen and women. This is the conclusion of the U. S. Public Health Service in a bulletin just published, dealing with the effects of modern industrial conditions upon the lives and happiness of thirty million American wage earners.

Dr. B. S. Warren, surgeon, and Edgar Sydenstricker, statistician, of the Public Health Service, are the authors of Public Health Bulletin No. 76, entitled "Health Insurance, Its Relation to the Public Health," which shows the conditions in American industry today. This report recommends a plan for compulsory health insurance for wage earners, to be administered by the state and federal governments. Its outstanding feature, however, is the indictment of present-day social and economic conditions.

"Each of the 30,000,000 workers in the United States loses on the average about nine days every year on account of sickness alone," says this report. The causes of disease are given as follows:

The occupational hazards of disease; irregularity of employment, unhealthful conditions of living; the employment of women in industry under modern conditions of work, particularly of married women; and the economic disadvantage at which a large proportion of wage workers and their families are placed as the result of low wages and insufficient annual income.

The report makes it clear that "economic disadvantage" as a cause of disease overshadows all the rest. For example, inadequate diet is set down as the first of "unhealthful conditions of living,' and the report says:

"Income statistics published by federal and state governments in the last few years indicate that a considerable proportion of the families of wage workers have not been able to maintain a diet that will provide for proper nourishment.

"A larger proportion can maintain an adequate diet only at the sacrifice of healthful environment and of other items which go to constitute a reasonable standard of living. There can be no doubt that nourishing food is sacrificed in a large number of instances in order to obtain some of the comforts and amusements and to gratify some of the wants which are entirely natural and to be expected of the average American."

Less than half of the families of American wage workers get enough wages to maintain decent conditions of existence, according to this report.

"An examination of a number of studies of the budgets of American workingmen's families indicates that the point of adequate subsistence is not reached until the family income is about $800 a year,' the report continues. "Less than half of the wage earners' families in the United tates have an annual income of that size, according to all statistics of income for workingmen's families."

PIERCETON'S BUILDING BOOM

Pierceton, Ind., April 14.—A building boom is apparent in this town. At the Reid, Murdoch plant, the new addition is nearing completion. The brick work is just about completed and the roof is being put on one part of the structure. The contractors plan to turn over two floors this week for the installation of the machinery. The building is 87 by 153 feet, a part of it being three stories high. Work is progressing rapidly on the new overall factory, and it is probable that the brick work will be completed this week. This is a handsome structure and will be a great improvement to the business part of town. The two flats which will be on the upper floor will be strictly modern. In the new McNamara addition in the south part of town the foundations have been completed for three dwellings facing on First street, and half a dozen other new residences are under construction in various parts of the town.

NO FURTHER CLASH WITH MEXICANS COMES

PRESS FOR DETAILS OF PARRAL FIGHTING

Funston Making Every Effort to Get American Version--Washington Fears for Safety of Tompkins' Command.

Washington, April 14.—American Consul Edwards at El Paso telegraphed today that his reports indicated there had been no further fighting with American troops since the affray at Parral Wednesday night.

When Secretary Baker left the cabinet meeting he said there was "absolutely no change in the Mexican situation" and that the status of the American troops was the same.

Consul Edwards said Americans reaching El Paso from the interior of Mexico brought varied rumors of the fighting at Parral, but no confirmation of the report that 150 Mexicans were killed. All his information was that the Americans retired from Parral Wednesday and there was no news of further hostilities.

Arrival in the suburbs of Mexico City last night of Gen. Carranza with his retinue from Queretaro was reported by Special Agent Rodgers, who said it was believed Carranza planned to remain there during the negotiations for withdrawal of the United States troops and be in close touch with Gen. Obregon and other cabinet members.

Fear for Tompkins and His Men.

Deep anxiety was plainly manifested in official circles today over the fate of Major Tompkins and his little force of United States cavalry, attacked in Parral, Mexico, on Wednesday. Known to be outnumbered, perhaps beleagured in a district notoriously anti-American, it was feared the troops might be in grave danger.

Lack of information regarding the outcome of the first battle the American troops have had in Mexico with the natives and what steps Gen. Funston has taken to prevent further trouble, the question of what effect the attack will have on the administration's Mexican policy was under consideration today by President Wilson and his official family.

Gen. Carranza's note and telegram urging the withdrawal from Mexico of the American troops and all information at hand regarding the latest military developments were ready to be laid before the cabinet. It was said to be practically certain that no immediate order for withdrawing the troops would be given.

Gen. Funston today reported that he had received no word from Gen. Pershing on the fight Wednesday at Parral, but that he is continuing to press for information.

Secretary Baker said today there had been as yet no change in Gen. Funston's orders, but declined to discuss questions of policy raised by the Carranza note. The border commander's hands were entirely free, he said, to make any necessary disposition of the 30,000 men under his command.

FUNSTON SEEKS DETAILS.

Making Every Effort to Get American Story of Fighting.

San Antonio, Texas, April 14.—Maj. Gen. Funston is making every effort today to learn from Gen. Pershing the American side of the story of the fight at Parral. Wireless, field telegraph and every other available means of communication have been employed to get a report on the incident and the measures General Pershing has taken to relieve the little cavalry force that was forced to fight for its life Wednesday night.

Secretary Baker's instructions had not reached Gen. Funston early today, but scouts already are investigating Carranza troop movements in northern Mexico, through which the line of communications extends and officers in charge along the line of the Columbus to Casas Grandes have taken steps to guard against attacks.

BULLETIN.

General Pershing's Camp at Front, April 12.—(Via Aeroplane to Chihuahua April 13, Via El Paso Junction, April 14.)—About forty mounted men, believed to be Villa soldiers of Gen. Tarango's command, attacked last night an automobile supply train and were driven off after a short fight.

There were no American casualties. One Villa bandit was killed.

Any extensive movement of troops along the line, the seizure of railroads or the dispatch of additional men into Mexico will depend upon the exact wording of Secretary Baker's instructions and upon the character of Gen. Pershing's report.

PERSHING AND HERRERA MEET.

Carranza Commander in Pleasant Chat With American Leader.

Pershing's Camp at Front, April 7.—(By Courier to Columbus, N. M., April 14.)—A report reaching here from Mexican sources last night was that Julio Agosta, a Villa leader near Guerrero, had declared he would no longer fight against Americans. Agosta has been considered one of Villa's most steadfast men. His announcement, if true, is taken as strengthening the reports that Villa has met with serious defection among his own people. A conference of considerable significance took place here today when Gen. Louis Herrera, commander of the Carranza army, called upon Gen. Pershing. The meeting occurred in the middle of a mesa, five miles broad and twenty miles long. The two staffs sat in the open in a circle of cracker boxes and bacon tins, the only available chairs in the American headquarters camp. A hot sun blazed on the tins and flashed from the silver buckles on the leather chappare encasing the legs of the Mexican officials.

It was the first meeting by the men since the Pershing expedition crossed the border with a general of the Mexican staff. Herrera had arrived with twenty-five men several hours earlier at the ranch houses, about a mile from the American camp. His first greeting there was from an American private, a cavalryman who was at the ranch trying to buy food. This private walked up to the Mexican, whose coming into the region was unannounced, and held out his hand to the general, of whose rank he was ignorant. Gen. Herrera shook hands.

The conference, Gen. Pershing said this afternoon, was very pleasant. Gen.

SHRINERS' SPECIAL OVER NICKEL PLATE

Committees from Mizpah temple, Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, have completed negotiations with the Nickel Plate railroad for a special train to carry the members of the band, the patrol and other Fort Wayne nobles to the imperial council meeting in Buffalo.

The dates for the meeting are in mid-July, and the Fort Wayne contingent is expected to number fully two hundred members of the Shrine fraternity.

ROBS SLENDER LARDER TO BUY BOOZE; GETS COUNTY ROAD JOB FOR 120 DAYS

While his wife worked as a kitchen slavey and scullery maid in a cheap restaurant to get money to support her three little children, Henry Elwell, her husband, was robbing the meager larder of the family home in the stables at the rear of 421 East Berry street, toting off the eggs and the flour to get money to buy booze.

That is why Elwell was touched up with a fine and costs that footed $20 and given a jail sentence of one hundred days, altogether aggregating a penal term of four beautiful spring and summer months, which Judge H. Waveland Kerr in the city court Wednesday morning adjudged that the devoted husband and tender father should spend working on the public highways of Allen county under auspices and direction of the board of commissioners, the per diem of $1 to go to his wife, as provided in the "lazy husband" act.

Mrs. Elwell testified that for months she had not seen the color of money earned by her husband, though she admitted that he did now and then purchase groceries. Last Saturday night he came home, brewed a quarrel and then went out and invested in a quart of whisky. He raped the pantry of the flour and eggs, toted off the family clock and some clothing and was hawking them about for drink money. Elwell's defense was that his wife preferred to slosh around at dish-washing in a restaurant to remaining at home, caring for the children and cooking his meals while he earned the living. Of the three children—aged, respectively, 7, 4 and 2 years—one is at the home of Mr. Elwell's brother and two are cared for at the Relief union, the wife paying for their keep.

"Where Are You Going, My Pretty Maid?" "I'm Going Rag-Picking, Sir," She Said.

Miss Philippine Schmidt will have complete charge of the waste paper department of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, and already has a comprehensive plan of action mapped out. Fort Wayne people will be asked to hold waste paper of all kinds for the visit of the league's paper wagon, and the money obtained will be devoted to the establishment and upkeep of an open-air school. Miss Irene Byron, for several years executive secretary, will take an active part in the paper business.

Mayor Hosey Beats Retreat from Crowd of Angry Bloomingdalers.

IN DISGUST AND ANGER HE FLEES

Turbulent and Almost Riotous Protest Meeting Before Board.

"You don't know what you're talking about! You make me tired; you make me tired!"

And with these words, uttered in a mighty burst of wrath, Mayor William J. Hosey grabbed his hat and rushed from the office of the board of works Thursday night, leaving Chairman Robert E. Kelly and Member Frank E. Singrey, of the board, and City Attorney Guy Colerick to continue a turbulent and at times riotous combat of words with about fifty of the citizens of Bloomingdale and the north end of the Fourth ward, over the location of the new garbage incinerator on the grounds of waterworks pumping station No. 2

Got the Mayor's Goat.

It was the first time that those who have been associated with the mayor in more than a dozen years of a political and official career filled with tempestuousness, had seen him quit the field of strife. But the radical disagreement of the crowd of remonstrants with his views "got his goat" and he could stand it no longer.

The mayor, however, had earlier pleaded that another engagement would prevent his remaining long in the meeting, though he had continued in the wordy battle until 9:30, giving and taking with good will.

121 GIVEN WORK BY EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

During the past week 121 persons, 109 men and twelve women, were given jobs through the Fort Wayne branch of the state free employment bureau. The demand for help has been so great that the bureau was unable to fill more than half of the orders that were received. The demand for help is not only confined to Fort Wayne but many orders have been received from various cities. Saturday an order for six boilermakers, three blacksmiths and three machinists were received from Gary, all of which goes to demonstrate that there is plenty of work for all who want to work.

During the week the men were given employment as follows: Laborers, 76; boys, 2; dishwashers, 2; distributors, 3; drivers, 8; clerk, 1; dairyman, 1; farm hands, 5; machinist, 1; porter, 5; teamsters, 3.

Twelve women were given employment as follows: Dishwasher, 7; day workers, 2; general housework, 1; housekeeper, 1; nurse girl, 1.

HARLEQUIN CLUB PRODUCTION HERE

The play is a comedy by George Ade depicting the humorous side of college life. About one-half of the cast of more than one hundred are real co-eds from the university. This will be the first time in the history of the club that girls have taken part in the staging of the productions.

At a business session of the Purdue Alumni association of Fort Wayne at Harmony hall on the evening of April 12 the following officers were elected: President, L. D. Nordstrum; vice president, Roy Young; secretary-treasurer, A. J. Magley. The annual stag banquet will be given in the near future.

FROM COAST TO COAST FOR PURSE OF $3,000

A man, well up in years, judged from the fact that his brow was wrinkled and his hair had turned to white, walked into The Sentinel office at noon Friday, and announced himself as W. S. Chapman, aged 72, of Millington Green, Md. He stated that he was a hiker from Baltimore, Md., to Sacramento, Cal., on a wager of $3,000.

He began his long journey on March 9, 1916, and has two years to complete his task in order to win the money which has been put up by the Jockey club of New York city. He is following the Lincoln highway as closely as possible, and states that he has enjoyed his experiences thus far. However, he was not very well pleased with the condition of some of the highways in Ohio.

Mr. Chapman has secured a written statement from the mayor of each city where he has stopped, one of the conditions necessary to win the wager.

NEW INFANTRY ATTACK FORMS

Violent Bombardment at Verdun Forecasts Renewed German Assault.

PERSIANS AND TURKS BEST THE RUSSIANS

Eighty Trading Vessels of Foes Sunk by Germans During March.

Today's War News Given in Summary

French positions near hill 304, in the Verdun sector est of the Meuse, were subjected to violent bombardment last night. It was operation similar to those which usually precede infantry attacks and indicate that the next phase of the German assault on Verdun may develop shortly. East of the river there is recrudescence of activity on the part of the Germans, although no heavy actions are recorded in the official French communication of today. A small attack of French positions south of Douaumont in the part of the line where some of the heaviest fighting of the Verdun campaign has taken place, is said by the French war office to have geen repulsed. Along various sections of the front, east of the river, the artillery was more active.

The Turkish was office reports the defeat of three Russian cavalry regiments by a mixed force of Persians and Turks in Persian Armenia.

Several minor engagements have occurred along the coast of Asia Minor, between coast defenses and warships, one of which is said to have been hit.

The extent of the damage to shipping of the entente allies since the inauguration of the new German submarine campaign is indicated by an official statement from the German admiralty. It is said that in March 80 trading vessels of hostile nations, with an aggregate tonnage of 207,000, were sunk by German submarines or by mines.

Paris, April 14.—West of the Meuse a violent bombardment was delivered by the Germans against the French lines to the west of hill 304, says the French communication published this morning.

Yesterday to the eats of the Meuse a small attack was made on the French positions south of Douaumont, but it was completely repulsed. There was a lively bombardment south of Haudemont. In the Woevre district artillery duels took place.

BOYS CAUSE A FIRE.

Three Companies Called to Put Out Blaze on Superior Street.

Small boys playing in an old shed on the rear of a piece of property belonging to Jay M. Moderwell at 215 Superior street, set fire to the structure Friday afternoon and but for the timely arrival of the fire department a disastrous blaze would have resulted. The fire, however, was extinguished by the use of chemicals. Three companies responded.

FINAL WORD TO BERLIN WITHIN NEXT 48 HOURS

Washington Will Submit Testimony in Submarine Cases and Demand Evidence of Germany's Good Faith.

Washington, April 14.—After a prolonged cabinet meeting today it was announced that a communication to Germany on the submarine question would go forward as planned probably within the next forty-eight hours. It was said the case was complete without the affidavits which arrived on the steamer St. Paul.

The plan to present the American case with the accumulation of evidence that not the Sussex alone but other ships as well have been destroyed in violation of Germany's promises to the United States remained unchanged.

With the statement of fact will be a demand for evidence of Germany's good faith to make good her assurances. Nothing in the nature of a time limit will be attached, it was understood.

Developments in the strained situation are expected to follow rapidly.

The evidence collected by Secretary Lansing was placed before the cabinet today. Affidavits on the Sussex case which arrived on the steamer St. Paul were not before the cabinet but it was said other evidence was so complete that they were not entirely necessary to the preparation of the case.

The president and the cabinet showed no disposition to let the Mexican situation postpone action on the submarine question. The administration considers the German note practically shows that a submarine attacked the Sussex.

The president and the cabinet are understood to have agreed that the presentation of the facts shall be accompanied by a definite and final demand for evidence of Germany's good faith and observance of her guarantees, but probably will be accompanied by no time limit which properly could be described as an ultimatum.

EVIDENCE CLOSELY GUARDED.

Affidavits Collected in Sussex Case Arrive in New York.

New York, April 14.—Guarded by Sir Charles Allom, of the British foreign office, the evidence in the Sussex case, which has been gathered for the American state department arrived here on the St. Paul. It included affidavits of the survivors and was part of an exceptionally large amount of embassy mail, filling twenty big sacks. The affidavits are those gathered by attaches of the American embassies in Paris and London.

Among the St. Paul's 586 passengers was Edward H. Huxley, of Englewood, N. J., president of the United States Rubber Export company of this city, who was a passenger on the Sussex, escaping uninjured. Mr. Huxley after confirming previously cabled news dispatches regarding the attack on the Sussex, stated positively that from the hour that the vessel left the British shore until the moment that she was attacked and for nine hours thereafter not another vessel was sighted except the destroyer which came to the rescue. Mr. Huxley made this assertion in connection with the text of Germany's note of April 10 to the state department citing an attack by a German submarine on an unarmed vessel in the vicinity of the Sussex at the hour when the latter met with mishap. Mr. Huxley also said he was positive the Sussex carried no ammunition. The German note declared that a "violent explosion" on the ship which was torpedoed warranted the "certain conclusion that great amounts of munitions were aboard."

When he and other passengers were in the junior officer's room on board the rescuing destroyer, Mr. Huxley said a warrant officer who had talked with the captain of the Sussex declared that the captain had said he had seen the wake of a torpedo.

Mr. Huxley showed a letter which he said had been written by Captain Thomas Carroll, French embassy, in which Carroll said: "I have just helped take from the poor Sussex nearby the body of a woman with a piece of a German torpedo imbedded in her stomach."

The Sussex had on board only three military officers—two French and one Russian—Mr. Huxley declared. It was understood that Mr. Huxley planned to visit Washington and confer with state department officials regarding the Sussex.

All members of the encampment are invited to the exercises. The class to be initiated will number upwards of twenty.

AMERICAN PEOPLE READY.

Cheers and Shouts of "Yes" Answer President Wilson.

Washington, April 14.—President Wilson speaking at a Jefferson day banquet of democrats from all parts of the country here last night, prayed that the United States would not be drawn into a quarrel not of its own choosing, but asked if the people were ready to go in where the interests of America were coincident with the interests of humanity, and have the courage to withdraw when the interests of humanity had been conserved. He was interrupted by cheers and shouts of "yes."

Milk Prices May Advance; Lose Money, Say Dairymen

Radical changes are to be made in the dairy business in Fort Wayne in the event of the organization of the "Milk Dealers' Protective Association," which is now being agitated. A meeting of the dairymen of the city was to have been held Thursday evening in the assembly room of the court house, but because of the downpour of rain the attendance was so small that it was decided to postpone action until a later date.

The claim is made that there is not a dairyman in the vicinity of Fort Wayne who is actually making money and to rectify this condition the new association proposes to curtail if not altogether abolish the credit system. An agitation is also on to increase the price.

"We will either raise the price or quit selling to grocers at wholesale," one of the local dairymen predicted Thursday evening. "If we expect to make a profit we must do one of these two things."

To rectify the alleged evils and abuses in the dairy business in this city, the movement for the milk dealers to organize was started.

The proposed constitution and by-laws declare that "the objects of the organization shall be for the mutual protection of each member, and the united co-operation of all members for the betterment and uplifting of the conditions confronting the milk dealers of Fort Wayne."

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR NEW BUILDING

To Hilgeman & Wehrenberg, general contractors of this city, has been given the contract to erect a two-story and basement brick and steel building for the Fort Wayne branch of the Western Newspaper Union, ready-print publishers and jobbers in printer's supplies. The building, which is to cost $20,000, will be erected at the northwest corner of Berry and Clay streets and operations will be started early. Henry Hilgeman, of the contracting firm, secured the contract in Chicago Thursday, where he closed up matters with H. H. Fish, head of the Western Newspaper Union. The Fort Wayne branch of the Western Newspaper Union has had its offices and plant in the old Carnahan building, 819-21 Clinton street, for about twenty-three years.

WOULD PROTECT ARTISTS.

Should Have Lifetime Equity in Paintings, Says Authors' League.

New York, April 14.—The Authors' League of America has begun a movement to arouse the interest of organizations of artists in the enactment of a law giving artists a life time equity in their painting. This would protect painters whose works greatly increase in value in their life time. The idea was suggested because of the experienc of Ralph Blakelock, one of whose paintings recently was sold to the Toledo (O.) museum for $20,000. Blakelock sold it twenty years ago for $50. For sixteen years he has been an inmate of sanitariums and asylums. A similar movement was started in France but was discontinued when the war broke out.

The Store That Does Things

Ninth ward, made the onslaught that set off the powder magazine in the chief executive's surcharged bosom and he was at the moment ably abetted by George H. Crouse, the Columbia street commission merchant, who is a resident and large property owner in Bloomingdale. Both were pressing hard on the mayor, with accusing fingers close under his nostrils. To the confused noise of the three-cornered combat the crowd added a din that made it impossible to distinguish much that was said until the mayor's voice, loud with temper and seething with disgust, proclaimed his state of mind and he rushed from the room.

Returns, But Does Not Stay.

The mayor returned hot-foot a moment later to snatch up a forgotten umbrella and he laughed sardonically as he hastened in and turned around and went right out again.

There were jeers and calls for Mayor Hosey to come back and answer some more questions, but the other engagement pressed and he was seen no more during the hour and a half further that the objectors remained to argue the garbage site question and heckle the board.

The mayor had not taken his departure, however, until he had pretty thoroughly cleared his system of the notion he conceived of all the storm and tempest that for weeks has been lashing the seas of public opinion in Bloomingdale.

"There is nothing to this but a state of overheated imagination," the mayor had more than once declared, as he defended the board of works and himself

Singrey Brews a Near-Riot.

Frank E. Singrey, one of the majority members of the board and its former chairman, contributed much to the gaiety of the occasion and came near starting a riot.

"What have we got to do to get consideration here—must we pay money?" shouted one Bloomingdale property owner, as he leaned over the counter in the board office, carrying on a supplementary debate with Member Singrey.

"Don't you say that, mister; don't you say that," shouted Singrey. "This board can't be bought. You can't buy us."

"O, I guess you can when it comes election time and you want our votes," rejoined the Bloomingdaler.

Member Singrey leaped to his feet and advanced belligerently to the counter, shaking his fist.

"You stop right where you are," he shouted in a voice thick with passion. "You can't come in here and accuse me of graft. I'll have you in a cell in the other end of this building in ten minutes. This board is honest—it never has taken a cent. No one can buy us. Don't you accuse us. I'll have you locked up."

Chairman Kelly and others sought to mollify the outraged member of the board by explaining that the Ninth ward citizen had not said what Mr. Singrey had supposed and in no wise had aspersed the integrity of the board or its members. Member Singrey couldn't unravel it that way and sat brooding over the supposed insult and frequently raised his voice in protest against the accusation. For a time it appeared that a Donnybrook fair would be staged then and there on the flooor.

Crowd Has Sense of Humor.

Once during the course of one of Member Singrey's several addresses to the crowd he solemnly said:

"Not one of you can say that this board, this administration has ever failed to give Bloomingdale something whenever it had a chance."

The crowd had its sense of humor right with it. A prolonged and welkin-splitting chorus of derisive howls greeted this sally of the board member. They wailed, they hooted and they shrieked.

"You bet you haven't!" "You gave us the asphalt plant and its stink!" "You gave us the old crematory!" "You want to give us this new garbage plant!" "You want to hand us anything that nobody else wants!" These and other accusing phrases were shouted in almost indistinguishable confusion.

And so the battle raged until almost 11 o'clock, having been a continuous performance for more than three hours. Near the end of the meeting, breath being exhausted and temper having burned itself out, the turmoil abated and a better feeling prevailed.

Chairman Kelly Unruffled.

Chairman Robert E. Kelly, of the board, a Bloomingdale resident and an extensive property owner there, had to face the hostility of the people among whom his whole life of more than half a century has been passed. His friends and neighbors of a life time were pleading that he reverse his judgment. Through it all the chairman kept his temper, presided over the meeting with calmness and poise, gave everybody a square deal and with rare good temper and forebearance ignored some unpleasant things.

Many times during the meeting, when turbulence rose high from the fused heat of many excited minds, he averted what seemed an imminence of unwise extremes. He raised his hand in mute appeal or lifted a few words in monitory protest and "Confusion heard his voice and Wild Uproar stood ruled."

At times a dozen persons were speaking and shouting at once and often the talk ascended to a mere discord of high-pitched voices in which no man could have sworn to more than his own words.

Speakers Beg Reconsideration.

Councilman Deitschel headed the Bloomingdale delegation and after the board had disposed of its routine business of the session, opened the ball. He said the people of his ward believed they were getting the worst of a bad deal in which faith had been broken and had come over to appeal to the board for a reconsideration. Chairman Kelley then opened the meeting to a free discussion and it became free enough.

Rev. G. W. Doege, the young and public-spirited pastor of Trinity German Lutheran church, in Bloomingdale, arose and read from manuscript his well considered and temperately stated views and presented a strong argument against placing the garbage plant at No. 2 station. Following him August W. Stahlhut, George H. Crouse, Edward Oelschlager, Lawrence E. Heiny and other Bloomingdale residents and property owners spoke in protest and arguments against the site chosen. L. J. Libbing spoke for the people of the north end of the Fourth ward and during the night engaged in several arguments with Mayor Hosey and members of the board. At the end several of them prayed the board to reconsider the decision that had been made and to procure figures to be shown that the chosen location for the plant would not prove a costly choice. Several of the Ninth ward people protested that the garbage plant would impair their property values hundreds of thousands of dollars.

City Attorney Explains.

City Attorney Guy Colerick made a good-tempered argument, reviewing the history of the garbage plant project for the past eight months, stating that the first plan contemplated relieving Bloomingdale of the old crematory and that there was no thought of placing the plant at No. 2 station. Bloomingdale, he said, was the victim of circumstances. The garbage plant must go somewhere; nobody wanted it; every place proposed as a site had stirred up the hostility of the residents of that section. The board had chosen the site that promised the most satisfactory service and the greatest economy. He frankly admitted that it would injure property values in Bloomingdale.

Finally the meeting broke up. The board will not reconsider its judgment and the garbage plant will be built at No. 2 station unless the people of the Ninth ward find and adopt a legal recourse that will prevent it.

Herrera, he said, told him about the disposition of Mexican troops and inquired about positions of some of the American columns. Shortly before sunset Herrera and his escort rode out to rejoin his troops who, he said, were on their way to Santa Rosalia. He said he had several hundred men. The American scouts in camp watched Gen. Herrera with much interest. They said they had been reliably informed about two weeks ago that Herrera had declared, after the American expedition crossed the border, that if the Americans passed Casas Grandes, he would join Villa. Since that time the Americans have progressed so far to the south that Casas Grandes is but a short first section of the line.

He asked many questions about Villa, in fact, not appearing to know as much about the recent course of the bandit as the Americans who have been close on his trail of late. Herrera had heard troops at camp today say that Villa is really dead, but said he knew nothing except the rumor. The supply train of mules, following cavalry column, which went south from here yesterday, was fired upon several times some distance out of this camp. The supply train guard chased the Mexicans who did the shooting, taking them prisoners.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of Sunday School Course of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

PETER AND CORNELIUS.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 10:1-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—There is no distinction between Jew and Greek; for the same Lord is Lord of all, and is rich unto all that call upon him.—Rom. 10:12.

Thus far Christianity had to do with Jews and Jewish proselytes only. Now its circle begins to widen so as to include the Gentiles. The central figure of this lesson, Cornelius, was a captain commanding one hundred men in the Roman army. The chasm between blacks and whites, which so widely exists in America, is nothing compared to that which divided the Jew and Gentile. We take the whole story of Cornelius in today's lesson and consider the Easter story next week.

I. A Prepared Convert (vs. 1-8). (1) His position. Caesarea was on the great sea and was the political capital of Judea. It was about seventy miles from Jerusalem and thirty from Joppa. Cornelius, who was captain of a band of men born in Italy, was a Roman citizen, and perhaps had been connected with the great Roman general Scipio. (2) His character. He was a man of promptness, appreciation and obedience, (v. 33). He was also a God-fearing man, whose piety included his whole household. He was a man of prayer and generosity (vs. 31, 32), for he gave "much alms" to both Jews and Gentiles. The result was that he was honored greatly by all, especially by the Jews. It does not seem that Cornelius was a proselyte to the Jewish faith (vs. 28-11:3), and he certainly was not as yet a saved man (11:13, 14). Cornelius was a man of a vision, not of dreams or of trances, for this vision came in the open daylight (v. 30), when an angel, looking like a man, appeared unto him. His fear was calmed and he was informed that his prayer, for he was a "seeker after God," had been heard. The "memorial" (v. 4) spoken of was that part of the meal offering which the priest burned upon the altar and which ascended unto the Lord as a sweet savor (See also Mal. 3:16). Cornelius is put to a strange test. He is to send for an unknown man to receive instruction. The angel was not to enlighten him, as it is man's province to witness for God. There is not a recorded Bible conversion without some human instrumentality. Cornelius, soldier that he was, at once obeyed instructions and sent out two devout retainers after Peter. Man alone could finish the work of the angels.

II. The Prepared Preacher (vs. 9-23). Tanning was considered an unclean occupation, but in Simon's house was the man God wanted to use on this occasion. No matter how poor a preacher, or unlikely the situation, if we obey God we can preach better than Gabriel. God laid, as it were, his right hand on Cornelius, and his left upon Peter, and drew them together. Again God uses a dream, linking the natural and the supernatural. A hungry man dreams of food, a very common occurrence, and God gave supernatural direction to a natural dream. God knows the right time to do the right thing. We do not need dreams for our guidance as we have a full and sufficient revelation in the Word for our guidance.

III. The Prepared Ones Meet (vs. 23-33). Cornelius had his whole household ready when Peter arrived (v. 24), perhaps more people than on the day of the first great Pentecost. He said, "We are all here present in the sight of God to hear all the things that have been commanded thee of the Lord." This is a great statement if we consider its full content. Peter refused to accept worship, that alone belongs to Christ (v. 25) and he explained how God had thrust him outside of the circle of Jewish believers. He then rehearsed what God had done and asserted that "He is no respecter of persons," and that in response to those in every nation who work righteousness God had sent forth Jesus for the salvation of men, (1) That men might have peace through him (v. 36); (2) That he might be Lord over all; (3) That he had been anointed with the Holy Spirit and power; (4) That he had been crucified (1 Pet. 1; 18, 19; 2:24); (5) That God had raised him from the dead; (6) That he is to be the judge, and (7) That because of what he had done—"through the name of Jesus"—all that believe shall have "remission of sins." (This is a good sermon outline.) Following this wonderful sermon, there occurred the Gentile Pentecost (vs. 44-46).

Practical. Cornelius had a lack, and he went to God to have it supplied (v. 4). Peter found his enlightenment in prayer.

God revealed his regard for all mankind, and that Jesus Christ can and will save all who come to him by faith.

At Caesarea the infant church discovered that its field is the world and that the Pentecostal program was for all mankind.

This occasion taught Peter and the church that henceforth we are to regard all men as brothers and seek to win them for their Savior and ours.

ASKS AMENDMENTS OF SCHOOL LAWS

State Board of Education Had Made Several Recommendations.

Indianapolis, April 14. Three resolutions adopted by the state board of education, at its recent meeting, are being made public by Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction. One is a recommendation to the state legislature requesting that the law prescribing the qualifications for teachers be amended, another deals with qualifications of a grade school teacher and the third is a recommendation that teachers in non-commissioned high schools be required not to attempt to teach more than two years' work during a school year.

The recommendation to the legislature follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the state board of education that the act of 1908 requiring that after Aug. 1, 1908, all new teachers in the public schools of the state should be graduates of high schools and should have not less than 12 weeks training in a school accredited for the training of teachers following such graduation in order to receive a twelve months' license should be amended so as to require a period of not less than one year of 36 weeks in an accredited school for applicants to be eligible to receive a 12 months' license. And also that to be eligible to receive a 24 months' license, such graduates should be required to spend a period of not less than two years of 36 weeks each in an accredited school for the training of teachers."

The board recommended that grade school teachers be required to have at least one year of professional training above graduation from a commissioned high school in order that the pupils may be better prepared for taking up the work in commissioned high schools.

In addition to limiting the work of teachers in non-commissioned high schools, the board urged that, should the school authorities permit a teacher to attempt to teach more than two years' work, the pupils from such schools shall not be allowed advanced standing in any commissioned high school after October, 1916.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING

Job 5:8-27.

8 I would seek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cause:
9 Which doeth great things and unsearchable; marvellous things without number:
10 Who giveth rain upon the earth, and sendeth waters upon the fields:
11 To set up on high those that be low; that those which mourn may be exalted to safety.
12 He disappointeth the devices of the crafty, so that their hands cannot perform their enterprise.
13 He taketh the wise in their own craftiness: and the counsel of the froward is carried headlong.
14 They meet with darkness in the daytime, and grope in the noonday as in the night.
15 But he saveth the poor from the sword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the mighty.
16 So the poor hath hope, and iniquity stoppeth her mouth.
17 Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth: therefore despise not thou the chastening of the Almighty:
18 For he maketh sore, and bindeth up: he woundeth, and his hands make whole.
19 He shall deliver thee in six troubles: yea, in seven there shall no evil touch thee.
20 In famine he shall redeem thee from death: and in war from the power of the sword.
21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue: neither shalt thou be afraid of destruction when it cometh.
22 At destruction and famine thou shalt laugh: neither shalt thou be afraid of the beasts of the earth.
23 For thou shalt be in league with the stones of the field: and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee.
24 And thou shalt know that thy tabernacle shall be in peace; and thou shalt visit thy habitation, and shalt not sin.
25 Thou shalt know also that thy seed shall be great, and thine offspring as the grass of the earth.
26 Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season.
27 Lo this, we have searched it, so it is; hear it, and know thou it for thy good.

The Barge Canal Report.

Congressman Cline, by telegraph from Washington Thursday evening, advised the meeting of the Erie and Michigan Deep Waterways association, in session here, of the filing of the long-expected and anxiously-awaited report of the United States army engineers upon the feasibility of the proposed barge canal to connect Lake Erie with Lake Michigan by way of the Maumee river and Fort Wayne. Mr. Cline summarized the report by stating that the three engineers concurred in the belief that the construction of the canal was feasible by either the northern or southern route out of Fort Wayne, and estimated the cost of the undertaking at $148,000,000.

Upon the commercial necessity for the canal, however, there was a sharp division in the engineers' board. Colonel Judson and Major Bond were able to find no commercial justification for the outlay necessary to build the waterway. In other words, they express the belief that the available traffic and the demands of business are not of sufficient volume to warrant the government in proceeding with the construction at this time. Colonel Millis, however, disagrees with his coneres. His investigation had led him to the conclusion that the commercial warrant for the canal does exist; that its importance would justify the outlay and that as an element in the transportation between east and west the canal would be worth the outlay. He believes that in the saving of the present long haul about the lower peninsula of Michigan and as a connecting link in transportation between the central west and the eastern seaboard the canal would be so valuable a factor that it should be carried through to completion.

Very naturally there will be local disappointment in the adverse majority report, but there is occasion for gratification, nevertheless, in the findings of Colonel Millis. It is just possible he may be right and the majority wrong in the conclusions. At any rate, with the place of the late P. A. Randall as president of the Waterways association filled by the selection of Mr. S. F. Bowser, there should be no cessation in the efforts to sustain Colonel Millis' conclusions.

The candidacy of Edward G. Hoffman, of this city, for democratic national committeeman from Indiana to succeed Senator Taggart is being received with notably high favor all over the state, and at Indianapolis it is admitted that the contest is probably between Mr. Hoffman and W. H. O'Brien, of Lawrenceburg. The cordial and unanimous endorsement given Mr. Hoffman by the Twelfth district committee has resulted in many assurances of support for him from other sections of the state. He should be given Indiana's place on the democratic national committee.

The Northern Indiana Gas and Electric company has just announced a lower schedule of rates for artificial gas at Lafayette, to become effective on July 1. We gathered from the general tenor of recent objections at Lafayette to the recent gas and electric merger that that city was confident all it ever got out of the gas company was the worst of it. Perhaps Lafayette will not be gracious enough to come forward with a voluntary and complete retraction of its crool, crool words.

Telephone concerns are uniting in a complaint to the Indiana state tax board regarding what are termed the excessive high taxes levied upon them in this state and have appealed for a lowering of the figures. Let us hope the telephone companies are not deluding themselves that they are alone in the conviction that taxes are too high. Just a suspicion of that same sort of view is being entertained by most folk who have taxes to pay.

Governor Ralston's selection of Anthony Deahl, of Goshen, as a member of the Indiana public service commission, is apparently a most excellent one. Mr. Deahl is a lawyer and the present county attorney of Elkhart county, but he has never held what may be considered important public office. He is known as a "dry" democrat, has been active in the cause of good citizenship in his home city and county, and is rated as a thoroughly high-grade citizen.

"Times and men are getting better," declared a speaker at the meeting of the Indiana wholesale grocers. The first proposition was unreservedly admitted. Then the wholesale grocerymen adjourned and hurried home to look up their list of bad accounts for confirmation of the latter section of their orator's pronouncement.

THIS MAY LOOK LIKE A JUNE 7 GRIN, BUT IT'S ONLY A FLOWER SHOW SMILE.

T. R. has been pelted with bouquets, verbal and floral, from Sululand to Oyster Bay but they do say the colonel's grin was never so broad and so genial as when New York friends pelted him with flowers and filled his arms with roses at the international flower show.

POPULATION GROWTH

(Bradstreet's)

Estimates made by the census bureau experts indicate that the population of continental United States is growing at an average rate of over 1,600,000 a year. According to their figures, the population on July 1 last was 100,899,318, and on January 1 last 101,208,315. They now estimate that the population on July 1 next will be 102,017,302, or a gain of 1,617,984 for the twelve months. For the curious in those matters the bureau furnishes calculations indicating that the population of the country is increasing at the rate of 4,433 persons a day, 184 an hour and 3 1-15 a minute. It is proper to say that the census bureau estimates are based upon the rate of increase between the censuses of 1900 and 1910. As a matter of contemporaneous human intest, it may be noted that in calculating figures of per capita circulation the treasury experts use somewhat larger estimates of population, their figure for January 1 last being 101,577,000, or in round numbers 368,000 in excess of that given by the census experts for that date. According to the census bureau, the western states have led in the rate of growth, Washington heading the list, with Oklahoma, Nevada, North Dakota and New Mexico following, in the order named. It is worth while to notice that there is a considerable variance between the figures given by the census bureau experts for the population of New York state and that arrived at by the state enumerators last year. The population of the state as figured by the latter as of the date of June 1, 1915, was 9,692,254. The national census officials estimate that the population of the state on July 1, just one month later, was 10,080,568. There is here a difference of over 394,000, and that on the basis of a calculation allowing an increase of 186,000 a year. It may be noted that the police census in New York city showed a considerably greater number than that revealed by the state census.

STILL MORE ABOUT GASOLINE

Gasoline's long flight skyward begins to show the expected tragic results. Among the "innocent victims' of the present gasoline raid are a Baltimore motor transportation company which went out of business last week on account of the increased cost of motor fuel, and one of the largest of the New York taxi-cab companies which failed the other day for the same reason.

It is not only the owner of a small car who can qualify as the innocent victim of the soaring cost of gasoline. Department stores in some of the large cities use over 10,000 gallons of gasoline a month for which they are now paying $2,400 a month. Thus all shoppers are "innocent victims" because the extra charge must, of course, be paid by them as their share of the cost of delivery of the goods they buy.

That is why everybody is tremendously interested in Uncle Sam's present investigation of gasoline.

The federal trade commission is now working on this inquiry with the department of justice. Among other points which will be considered is "the exact relation between the several companies into which Standard Oil was dissolved in 1911."

That is exactly what the "innocent victims" want most to know. According to Herbert S. Bigelow, of Cincinnati who has studied the subject, "the Standard's privilege of taxing the American people is worth three times as much as it was when the trust was prosecuted."

If indirect methods of controlling the big oil corporations only result in tripling the burden of the people, why should not Uncle Sam try direct competition?

He owns his own gas lands.

Why should he not develop them?

HURRAH! A YELLOW RAMBLER

Because the Chinese have been farming some sections of their country for 4,000 years, the United States department of agriculture believed that they must have discovered many things which would prove of great value to American farmers. So a "plant explorer," Frank N. Meyer, was sent to China three years ago, with instructions to collect vegetation adapted to swampy or alkali lands, or to conditions of drought or excessive heat.

Meyer tramped about 1,500 miles in his search. Perhaps his most valuable discoveries are those which concern the growing of aquatic plants and vegetables, which offer promising possibilities for the utilization of swamps.

The find which flower lovers will most appreciate is that of a yellow rambler rose.

In a time when most of the nations of the earth are industriously swapping destructive devices, one way or another, it is a comfort to record any constructive endeavor of man, however slight it may be.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS THE BASIS OF ALL LAW

Nowhere in all the centuries of recorded speech will you ever find so brief and comprehensive a summary of the moral obligations due from one man to another as in the Ten Commandments. They form the basis of all the law, written and unwritten, that has ruled and guided mankind from the time of Hammurabal until the present. But they are only one of the inspired features that make the Bible the Book of Books, whose teachings have guided mankind for centuries. The Big Print Red Letter Edition, offered by this paper to its readers, is the most comfortable and convenient form in which the Bible is printed. Suppose you read the coupon offer in today's paper, elsewhere. You ought to have a copy for your family and yourself.

HUNGARIAN MILLS FORMING BIG TRUST

Development Occasion of Much Apprehension in Austria

Zurich, March 15.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Considerable apprehension has been excited in Austria by the announcement that the Hungarian flour mills are being organized into a powerful trust. Almost wholly dependent upon Hungary for wheat and other breadstuffs, the Austrian millers and bakers fear that this new corporation will increase still further their subjection to the other half of the monarchy.

Among the various questions which have arisen during the war, where the interests of the two nations have been divergent, none has occasioned more bitter feeling than those connected with the grain trade. Austria is chiefly an industrial country and Hungary an agricultural one, exporting enormous quantities of grain every year; a very large proportion of which goes to Austria.

When foodstuffs began to get scarce in the dual monarchy, Austria naturally suffered first. While in Hungary everybody had plenty to eat, the prices were moderate the Austrians were on short rations, paying exorbitant prices, and having to suffer all the inconveniences and annoyances of the break ticket system.

Charges of selfishness and attempted extortion were made against the Hungarian landowners and peasant farmers, but the millers were also accused of taking unfair advantage of the situation. They managed to get the government in Budapest to put all kinds of obstacles in the way of sending grain to Austria, insisting that they ought to have all the milling profits.

Remembering this, the Austrian millers are the more alarmed now at the prospect of this new trust in Hungary, feeling certain that very little grain will be allowed to cross the frontier. The bulk of it will be converted first into flour and meal in the country where it is grown. Moreover the Hungarian millers will be able to fix the buying and selling prices of both grain and flour.

In the struggle the Austrian millers are handicapped by the fact that many of them are in a small way of business, whereas the Hungarian mills are mostly of considerable capacity. And in addition the natural advantages are all on the side of Hungary so far as production is concerned.

Hungary cultivates over 25,000,000 acres of grain, against Austria's 16,000,000. Hungarys' chief products, however, are wheat and corn, while Austria's are oats and rye.

HE HAD MARRIED 13 WIVES SINCE 1902

When One Obtained Divorce Two Others Were in Court

Santa Fe, N. M., April 14.—That three of thirteen women her husband had married since 1902 lived in New Mexico was the testimony of Mrs. Emelie Edwards-Vissers in her divorce suit against Arthur L. Vissers, a traveling man, who makes rounds periodically of Albuquerque, Santa Fe and Las Vegas. She was granted a divorce on testimony that she, in company with Mrs. Irene Rogers Vissers, the alleged eleventh wife, had both met another wife, Mrs. Effie Vissers, who married Vissers in 1914 and had never been divorced from him.

Three of the wives of the traveling man, who, like the proverbial sailor, seemed to have had a sweetheart in every port, were in the courtroom at the trial. The women testified that Vissers was "captivating" in his wooing, was "aristocratic" in his bearing, danced "divinely," and possessed a "striking" personality. The three New Mexico wives were given in the court proceedings as Jessie Diamond Vissers, Albuquerque; Crystal Vissers, Las Vegas, and Myrtle West Vissers, Santa Fe, while the Texas wives were given as Mrs. Maggie McGan Vissers, Houston, Tex.; Tulo Longworth Vissers, Fort Worth, and Effie Vissers, El Paso. All of the women were widows when Vissers is alleged to have married them.

There are several kinds of warts, some contagious. The scientific name of the most common is verruca vulgaris.

Society

Thirty young women enjoyed an afternoon as guests of Miss Marie Landenberger, who invited the company in honor of Miss Dorothy White. A part of the time was spent in sewing, but Miss Landenberger had planned a guessing contest concerning a sewing basket that caused both merriment and interest. When the contest ended Miss White found herself the possessor of a white needle and thread case, all ready for future use. Tables were laid for refreshments with appointments in yellow and white, including nut baskets, place cards and flowers that were a combination of jonquils, daffodils and snapdragon blossoms. A lovely bouquet of flowers indicated Miss White's place at the table. Miss McIntosh, of Indianapolis, and Miss Kelsey, of Huntington, were visiting guests.

Both Miss White and her fiance, Charles J. Worden, were honor guests last evening at an auction bridge party of charming appointment, given by Misses Margery and Louise Pickard at their home in West Wayne street. Pink roses were the decoration of the rooms and a bouquet of pink roses and swansonia formed a gift for Miss White and Mr. Worden received a boutonierre of a pink rosebud with a tiny blossom of swansonia to wear.

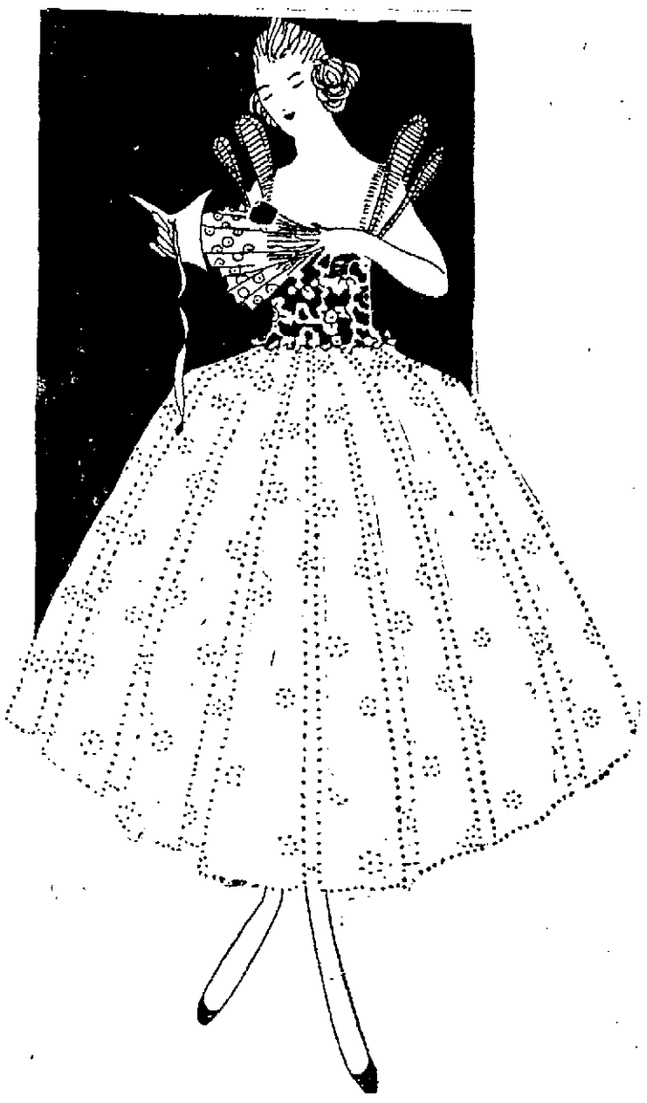
H-O-O-P-S-? OF COURSE NOT; JUST A HOOP SKIRT EFFECT.



By Betty Brown.

No, she isn't wearing hoops—really, nobody wears hoops these days, but the modiste who made this wonderful dancing frock kindly explained to me that it is made in "the raised hip style and in hoop skirt effect." It may seem extreme, but that most conservative of fashion censors, the Fashion Art League of America, gives it official sanction, so you may accept it as one of the modes that will rule ballroom fashions this season. The billowy skirt is made of net in blue and gray and rose tints that blend in cloud-like effect. Ir deseau beads trim it, and beads and jewels embellish the long, tight bodice of black velvet.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A disturbance is centered this morning over Lake Ontario, and another overlies southern Texas, with high pressure over the plains states. Precipitation has resulted from this distribution of pressure over a belt from the great lakes southwestward to Arizona, but in the greater portion of the western and southern states the weather has been fair. Practically seasonal temperatures prevail but the weather is colder in the lower lake region, Ohio, central Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and on the southeastern slope.

"Style at a Price"

NEW SKIRT SHORT AND WIDE

By Betty Brown.

Late spring styles will bring no startling changes in the fashion world. That is the news I hear from a noted designer of modes. As the wide skirt, paniered and puffed into barrel-like roundness and width has been established designers are concentrating their attention on the skirt—for this season the skirt really makes the gown.

MUCH COLOR IN SPRING HATS

Did you say dye famine? It may be on the way, but it hasn't arrived, if one may judge by the colors that bloom in spring millinery. The Easter bonnet may be all-black straw or gray braid, but most likely it will be a rainbow tinted affair of Georgette crepe or printed silk.

The effect of flowered crepe drawing tightly over a low crowned, wide brimmed sailor in gray or rose tints is charming and especially becoming to girlish faces.

NEW-FASHIONED GIRL LENDS CHARM TO OLD-FASHIONED FROCK.

By Betty Brown.

The new fashioned girl in the old fashioned gown lends enchantment to the spring "fashion views"—she's the belle of the fashion shows, and before long you will be meeting her at afternoon teas or wherever well dressed girls gather.

"The old fashioned girl with her alert movements, erect carriage and athletic strides gives to the old fashioned gown just the suggestion of modern vivacity that makes it quaint and almost saucy," says Mme. Alla Ripley of the Fashion Art League of America, whose 1860 designs are models for all "old fashioned gowns," and the gown I am showing you today illustrates what she says. It is a one-piece street frock in drab color faille with bask made coat-style of striped black and white faille; the striped material trims the skirt which you will notice is extra wide and of uneven length at the bottom. The final touch of quaintness is the frilled collar of white organdie.

AT KEITH PALACE

MATINEE FOR KIDDIES.

Chance for Youngsters to Enjoy Sigsbee Dogs Saturday.

Every kiddie in Fort Wayne will want to see Sigsbee's wonderfully trained dog acrobats at the New Palace and to that end a special matinee has been arranged for the little folks on Saturday afternoon. These dogs are almost human in their intelligence, performing tricks that are not only new but amazingly new. They open a bill of unusual class at the New Palace, a program that includes Ed Blondell, the big fat boy, who resembles nothing more than he does Clumsy Claude of the funny picture sections. Blondell is appearing in the skit, "The Lost Boy." Those French Girls, two animated young girls, who seem to be a combination of springs and dynamos, are presenting a high speed arrangement of song, dance and physical culture demonstrations. Mumford and Thompson, the comedy guys, in their laughable talk fest, followed by some really delightful vocal efforts, also are favorites on this new bill. Thurber and Madison, a male acrobatic dancer and a clever woman, are taking the audiences along on a shopping tour. They close with a satirical number, "In Vaudeville." Bert Howard, the comedy pianist, plays a piano in a score of different ways, tells some stories and has some modern adaptations of nursery rhymes.

WANTED—Men and boys. Perfection Biscuit Co.

AT THE TEMPLE.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM."

Makes Powerful Appeal at Temple—"Damaged Goods" Coming.

One of the best dramatic productions of "Ten Nights in a Barroom" ever seen in this city was witnessed in the initial performance of the play by the Temple Stock company last night. Five acts and twelve scenes are comprised in the most powerful temperance lesson ever written, and in spite of the fact that the drama is one of the oldest now on the American stage, an appreciative audience followed the fortunes of Joe Morgan, the drunken father, who, aroused at last at the very threshhold of pauperism and ruin, reforms over the deathbed of his little daughter and is restored to manhood's highest estate through his emancipation from strong drink. The part of Joe Morgan was cast for Maurice Jenkins and his many friends were delighted with his wonderful interpretation of the role.

For the first half of next week the management has secured the great success, "Damaged Goods," which will be seen for the first time in this city in stock. It will also be the first time that this piece has ever been seen in this country at popular prices. Manager Biemer states that no one will be barred from seeing this great moral lesson.

Special Children's Saturday Matinee, Place; Marvelous Acrobatic Dogs.

AT THE GRAND

"THE SOCIAL PIRATES."

First Episode in Sensation of Year Friday and Saturday.

At last! the sensation of the year—"The Social Pirates," featuring those stellar lights, Marian Sais and Ollie Kirby, in the roles of Mona and Mary, the two very attractive and wonderful girls, who foil the society vultures by the use of woman's wiles and sharp wits, is here. The first episode will be shown today and tomorrow at the Grand. In this most wonderful production that has startled the moving picture world with its grandeur and magnificence there is suspense that holds with a vise-like grip through every scene. Every episode is a different, exciting adventure met with but the two girls, and each is separate and complete in itself. When you see the first one you can hardly wait for the next, so eager are you to see what will happen to the girls.

The tricks and schemes used by unscrupulous schemers who prey on society are exposed by Mona and Mary, bound by a compact to right the wrongs of the helpless victims of these schemers. The girls choose as their prey the apparently impregnable tricksters, whose cleverness has placed them beyond the reach of the law. The way in which they succeed in dealing justice to these vultures of society is truly remarkable.

In "The Little Monto Carlo," the first of the series, which will be shown tomorrow, the girls befriend Stella, a former chorus girl, and by a clever ruse succeed in bringing justice to Holbrook, a man about town, who has wronged her. Don't miss it. "Myrtle, the Manicurist," is a Broadway all star feature, in three reels, and is a whole show in itself. It will be shown in connection with the "Social Pirates."

WAYS OF NEW SPRING COAT

As to flare and width all skirts agree—as to length and style no two coats seem to be of the same mind—or style. Our old friend, the tailor-made serge is invariably below-the-hip in length; the coats of taffeta often stop before they reach the hip line. The very short coat that flares out boldly from the waist line is the coat most favored by the fashionably dressed.

Two billions of lead pencils are made each year. Half of them are made of American cedar.

CATHOLIC BOYS' HOME MAY BE ERECTED HERE

Knights of Columbus Seek to Arouse Interest in This Matter.

Following the adoption of a report on the feasibility of establishing a home for delinquent Catholic boys in Indiana, by the state council of the Knights of Columbus lodge, members of the Fort Wayne order are endeavoring to arouse sufficient interest to have the institution erected in Fort Wayne. According to an official of the lodge the chance to have the institution located in this city is very good.

The establishment of this home for boys has had the qualified approval of both the bishops of the state, and have given the Knights of Columbus commission on a home for delinquent children assurance that they will co-operate and assist them in a substantial manner. Several available sites have been offered to the commission but the members deem it advisable to raise the necessary funds for the erection of a building before selecting a location.

The proposition has been under advisement for six years and people interested in the affair are of the opinion that the time is ripe for action. Stephan A. Callahan, chairman of the commission and grand knight of the local order, has sent a letter to every member of the order in Indianapolis urging his support on the matter of securing the building for Fort Wayne.

David Warfield as Van Der Decken

David Warfield as "Van Der Decken."

A large audience and one of the most representative of admirers of dramatic art went to the Majestic theater on Thursday evening to see David Warfield in his new play, "Van Der Decken" of the "legendary tale of the sea," by David Belasco, as the programs also expressed it. Only people who have seen Belasco plays and who have also seen Mr. Warfield can fully appreciate what it means in the way of a play, to see "Van Der Decken." The play is wonderful in its pictures of Holland and sea life a century ago, with the interior of a fisherman's hut and the dressing and habits of the inmates so faithfully and realistically expressed by Marie Bates, Ernest Stallard, William Hoag, Fritz Leiber, Frederick Graham, Harold Russell, Horace Graham and Jane Cooper.

The numerous details of the first act were absorbing in an educative way and the leading up to the appearance of Van Der Decken himself, keyed the interest of everyone beyond the point of merely seeing Mr. Warfield, to an eagerness for the progress of the play. There was a breathless interest at times in the audience as Mr. Warfield related the story of Van Der Decken and again as he sees Trintie Staats and in her recognizes the spirit of his young wife from whom he had been separated two centuries before. The crux of realistic action in the act comes with the storm and the lightning that strikes Van Der Decken in the face, stage work that has never been surpassed in anything seen in this city.

The entire play was impressive to an unusual degree partly for the production of the old legend, partly because of Mr. Warfield's art and partly for the presenting in a beautiful and attractive manner the belief entertained by many people of the reincarnation of the spirit time after time in a human body until it attains a state of perpetual grace.

And in quite a convincing manner Mr. Warfield makes his audience see that through his act of relinquishing Trintie and sending her home, he lifts the curse from himself to an extent that he can again pray. Not often does one see in a theatrical performance such a moment of reverential beauty as is expressed when Mr. Warfield finds he can again call upon the deity whom he had cursed so long before. Also, so beautiful a presentation of a man chivalrous and courteous as Van Der Decken is described in the legend, and as Mr. Warfield acted him, were a something to ponder in these days of laxity in courtesy and respect of attitude on the part of both men and women of the younger generation. The love of home which the legend testifies and beautifies and which Mr. Warfield delivers with a force that is terse and fraternal makes its appeal individually. It is the main thread of the play and it is perfect in its presentation. Mr. Warfield's art always leaves an audience with a sense of having seen real life, not acting.

Terre Haute Young Woman Shoots Man She Says Wronged Sisters.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 14.—Miss Jennette McMahan last night shot and dangerously wounded Lawrence de Carle, called the police and when the officers responded, told them she shot the man because he had wronged her small sisters and had not been punished by the court. De Carle was hurried to a hospital, where it was said his wounds were dangerous, and the woman was held on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. De Carle pleaded guilty in the circuit court April 5, to a charge of mistreating a girl 14 years old. He was released on suspended sentence.

The shooting was in De Carle's room in a hotel, where Miss McMahan accompanied him on his invitation, after she had accosted him on the street and told him she wanted to talk about private matters.

Miss McMahan is 27 years old and a half sister of the two girls, 14 and 10 years old, who were in his rooms when the man was arrested April 5. De Carle is 46 years old, unmarried, and a well to do tailor.

McHugh, "Grandstand King," Negotiated Contract for Pageant Seating.

Cleveland, April 14.—Patrick A. McHughes, who, the police say, killed Francis M. Covell and then shot himself to death at Conneautville, Pa., after notifying the sheriff of his deed, was known far and wide as the "grandstand" king.

P. A. McHugh

The man whose life came to a tragic end furnished the chairs used in the grandstands of every circus in the United States. He also made the chairs used at the great Hudson-Fulton pageant and the inauguration of President Wilson.

The tragedy was the outcome of a dispute over a lease. When it was over Covell's body lay on the boiler steps, his partner, Sherman Pease, lay senseless on the floor, and John C. Arter, of Cleveland; was bleeding from many wounds.

The McHugh Seating company, of which P. A. McHugh was the head, has been awarded the contract for the placing of the seats for the Centennial pageant to be given here in June. McHugh was here but a few weeks ago at which time he submitted his bid. His death will have no effect upon the company's taking the seating contract here.

It seems that after all there is a knack to this long life business. Alec Panoche, oldest member of the Mt. Carmel tribe of Indians, submitting the suggestion that baths should be taken never less than once a year.

PIONEER PREACHER CALLED.

Rev. John M. Dustman, Who Worked in Indiana, Dies in Van Wert.

Van Wert, O., April 14.—Rev. John M. Dustman, a pioneer resident of this county, is dead at the family home, south of town. He was 75 years old and was a native of Fairfield county, his residence here dating since childhood. In an early day he was ordained a minister in the English Lutheran church and in course of his active career filled the pulpit of churches at Carey, Upper Sandusky and in Tuscarawas county and at Butler and Middlebury, Ind. He belonged to the old-time school of preachers of the gospel, who were noted for their sacrifices and gentle ministrations in the years when this part of the country was being settled. His direct survivors are one son, Stanley Dustman, who lives in Indiana; three brothers, D. C. Dustman, of York township; H. C. Dustman, of Ridge township; F. L. Dustman, of Columbus, and three sisters—Mrs. Lodema Poe, of Gordon avenue; Mrs. Joseph Ross, of Ohio City, and Mrs. Boroff, of Scott.

DISTURBS HOME LIFE

Domestic Chores Sidestepped by Children Training for Big Spell

Hicksville, Ohio, April 14.—Two thousand rural school pupils are in mad competition for the honor of being declared the champion speller of Defiance county. Parents are buying dictionaries, the cattle are being neglected and the chores postponed until dad helps son or daughter out on a list of difficult words. Any boy or girl who shows the least proficiency in the art of throwing the proper letters together to make a difficult word, at once becomes a teacher's pet. Pupils are studying spelling books as if they were dime novels. Thus, pupils, teachers and parents are all worked up over the contest. District matches are to be held in the different sections of the county next Friday afternoon and then will come a county spelling match at which the champions of the districts will be pitted against each other for the honor of being declared the best in the county.

KICKED BY A HORSE.

Columbia City, Ind., April 14. Garland Herrold, the nine year old son of Mr. Frank Herrold, of Columbia City, operator at the Pennsylvania depot, met with a most unfortunate accident. He is making his home with Mr. and Mrs. John Winters, of near Etna. He went to the barn to lead one of the horses to water with a rope tied around its neck, and while he was returning to the barn the horse kicked him. He does not know himself how it was done as it all happened so quickly, but the horse was feeling good, and in jumping around, kicking up its heels, the accident occurred. A gash two inches long was cut about the eye, on the left side of his face, laying the flesh open large enough to lay two fingers in it. Nine stitches were taken in closing the wound.

DUNKARD AS LAZY HUSBAND.

Warsaw, Ind., April 14.—The jury in the case of the state against Percy Petgen, who resides near Silver Lake, charged with non-support of his wife and children, returned a verdict of guilty and the defendant was given a fine of $25, having been prosecuted under the "lazy husband" act. This was the first case tried in this county under that new law. The evidence taken was of a sensational nature and during the entire trial the court room was crowded. Petgen is a Dunkard and for this reason the case was all the more interesting as an act of the nature of the charge brought against Petgen is not tolerated in their church.

The charge against Petgen was brought by Calvin Eiler, father of Mrs. Petgen.

UNABLE TO GIVE BOND.

Bluffton, Ind., April 14.—Benjamin Smith was unable to furnish bond in the sum of $500 when arraigned before Judge Denney at Portland, on a charge of criminal assault, and was remanded back to the county jail to await trial. His alleged victim is Miss Flossie Ellen Smith, 14-year-old girl now living in Bluffton. The Smiths formerly resided south of Portland. Smith was arrested here Tuesday by the Bluffton police and turned over to the Jay county sheriff. John Smith, stepfather of the girl, has been in the Wells county jail several weeks, awaiting trial also on a criminal assault charge, for alleged abuse of Flossie Smith, who is his stepdaughter.

MISIONARY LEAVES GRABILL

Grabill, Ind., April 14.—After spending eight days in Grabill and adjoining towns, Miss Sallie Botham, a returned missionary from Africa, has gone to Berne, where she will hold several meetings in interest of the missionary cause. During her stay here, Miss Botham held eight meetings in Grabill and neighboring towns. The three meetings held at the Missionary church here were well attended. Reports from the meetings held at Auburn, Leo and Harlan by Miss Botham, were to the effect that they also were all attended.

WILL GET HORSE THIEVES

Van Wert, Ohio, April 14.—William Miltenberger and William Holland, two men who were arrested last fall at South Chicago at the instance of Sheriff Gunsett for the theft of a horse and buggy from Norah Snyder, at Ohio City, were placed under arrest by the officers of that city as they were released from the Cook county jail. The men took a horse from the hitching rack at Ohio City and drove it to South Bend, where it was traded. The men proceeded to South Chicago, where they sold the buggy to a milk man.

GOSHEN VETERAN DEAD.

Goshen, Ind., April 14.—Charles F. Slote, aged 71 years and a civil war veteran, died Thursday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Jonas Richerick, here, of paralysis after a prolonged illness. About two weeks ago he was stricken while chopping wood at the Richerick home. The deceased was a member of the Forty-eighth Indiana regiment of volunteers and served through the war. For about eight years he had resided with his sister. He had been in poor health but only in the past few weeks has his condition been serious. After being stricken he never rallied.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES

Huntington, Ind., April 14.—Oliver P. Gustin, a civil war veteran and pioneer of Andrews, died at his home in Andrews, after an illness of several weeks of dropsy. Mr. Gustin was seventy years of age Tuesday. Surviving are two children, Frank Gustin of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Maggie Kurchil, of Wabash county; three sisters, Mrs. Myra Blackburn, of Allen county, Mrs. Manda Murray, of Toledo, O., and Mrs. Mary Parks, of St. Joe, Ind., and seven grandchildren. Mrs. Gustin died five years ago.

BIG DEAL IN HICKSVILLE

Hicksville, Ohio, April 14.—The deal for the sale of the American building, under way for some time, has just been closed. William Purdy, the owner, traded it for a 243 acre farm at Roselms, Paulding county. This is Hicksville's largest business block and in it Hicksville has as fine a building as can be found in a town of this size in the state. Mr. Purdy has now disposed of the major portion of his Hicksville property, having sold the Hicksville Handle Co. some time ago. It is not known just what Mr. Purdy will do.

PLANNING CENTENNIAL DAY

Hartford City, Ind., April 14.—The centennial celebration in Hartford City, which is to be held for one day only, some time in October, will be combined with the fall festival, which is an annual event in Hartford City, if present plans materialize. A big parade will be a feature of the centennial work in this county and there will be a distribution of books containing a history of Blackford county.

MODERN ROME HAS ENOUGH HOUSES NOW

Italian City Enjoying Novelty for First Time in Many Years

Rome, Italy, March 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—For the first time in the history of modern Rome there are enough houses in the city to accomodate its population. According to recent municipal statistics, the city has almost a room for each of its 600,000 inhabitants. In the twelve-year period cited, the population has increased 106,500, the number of new rooms 95,887, and at a total building cost of $12,000,000.

The solution of the housing problem of Rome has been closely studied by American cities through their own experts and through United tates consular reports because here new, cleaner and roomier dwellings have not meant an increase but a decrease in rents for poor people.

The problem in Rome has offered peculiar difficulties, partly, because Rome has been at times the most populous and at other times the least populous of the cities of the world. In its most populous days, when its inhabitants have been variously estimated at from one to three million, it solved its housing problem by the invention of the sky-scraper of nine stories. When the temporal power of the Papacy ended in 1870, Rome had a population of 200,000, living in ancient, damp and unhealthy stone houses, and since that date it has been struggling to provide enough room for its yearly increasing population, coming in part from foreign countries but principally from its own provinces.

The two citizens who have been most prominently identified with the solution of the problem are former Mayor Nathan and former Premier Luigi Luzzatti. The method of the latter was to raise city taxes on old houses and to let new ones go free of taxes for a given period. Mayor Nathan put an extra tax of three per cent. on land on which the owners refused to build. He also secured the adoption of ordinances providing low taxes for dwellings occupying but one-fourth of the building plot and the rent of an apartment of which did not exceed $20 a month. Other parts of the scheme involved the preservation of ancient Rome as public monuments and parks and inducing the poor population to leave the old buildings for the higher, healthy sections outside the ancient medieval sites.

The result of these various measures has been the building up of the over Tiber section known as Prati and the high quarter above the ancient city, which really lies in the Tiber bottoms, known as Alta Roma, outside of Portia Pia and generally surrounding the central station of the State railway. In these quarters may be seen blocks of model apartment houses that are not unlike in aspect those in the newly built uptown sections of New York city, the suburbs of Chicago, Kansas City or Cincinnati. With the improvement of the street car communications, the poorer people are also gradually removing far outside the ancient walls and building little homes on the Campagna Romana which thirty years ago was a bandit-infested desert filled with the ruins of ancient Rome.

Meanwhile ancient and medieval Rome is being cleaned and beautified. While many of the famous palaces are still inhabited by the owning prices, they are slowly abandoning them, subletting parts for business offices and living apartments, themselves building new palaces and villas on the Janiculum, the ia NomentVana, and elsewhere.

The effort of the Italian government to give employment to laborers whom the war has thrown out of their regular positions has in some instances stimulated work on new public buildings, and when the war is over it is expected that the ambitious project of tearing down some of the squalid dwellings near the Vatican will be put into execution and new streets laid forming a proper vista to St. Peter's.

DO LITTLE ON PLATFORM.

Democratic Congressman to Take Up State Policy Soon.

Washington, April 24.—Not much progress has been made thus far on the Indiana democratic platform, which is being worked into shape by a committee from the Indiana delegation in the congress. Senator Kern and Representatives Adair and Dixon, the members of the committee, have not held a meeting since the conference Sunday, at which they were appointed to draw up the state platform. However, it is said that the committee expects to have a meeting soon and decide on some of the disputed points in the platform.

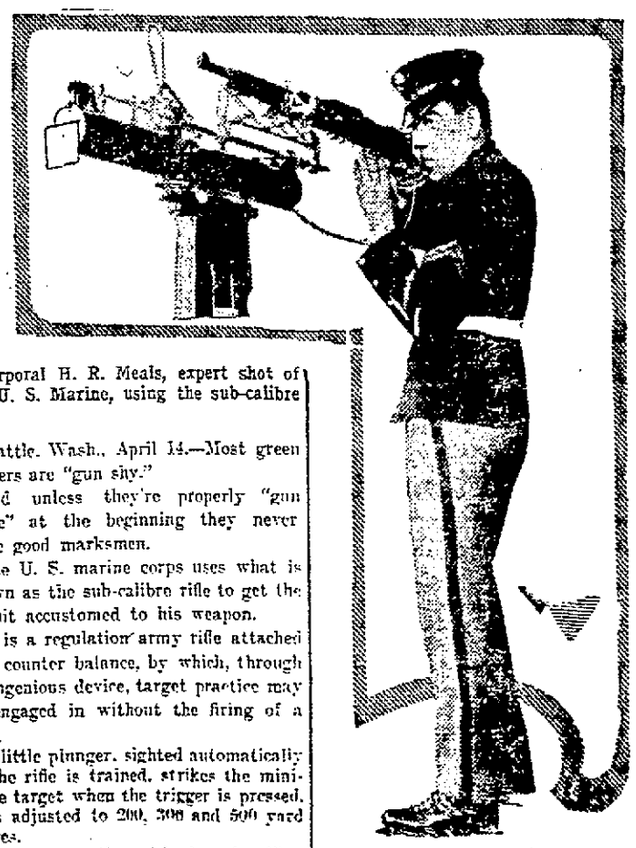
CHEAPER GAS FOR LAFAYETTE.

Lower Schedule of Rates Goes in Effect on July 1.

Lafayette, Ind., April 14.—C. M. Geist, president of the Northern Indiana Gas and Electric company, has announced a reduction in artificial gas rates to Lafayette consumers effective July 1, 1916, which, it is estimated, will result in a saving of $25,000 per year. The existing net flat rate is $1 per 1,000 cubic feet. For this is substituted a sliding scale which provides a net price of 90 cents for the first five thousand cubic feet; 80 cents for the next twenty thousand feet; 70 cents for the next twenty thousand cubic feet and a rate of 60 cents per thousand cubic feet for all over fifty thousand cubic feet.

RAW RECRUITS, GUN SHY, TAUGHT HOW TO SHOOT WITH "KICKLESS" WEAPON.



Corporal H. R. Meals, expert shot of the U. S. Marine, using the sub-calibre rifle.

Seattle, Wash., April 14.—Most green soldiers are "gun shy."

And unless they're properly "gun broke" at the beginning they never make good marksmen.

The U. S. marine corps uses what is known as the sub-calibre rifle to get the recruit accustomed to his weapon.

It is a regulation army rifle attached to a counter balance, by which, through an ingenious device, target practice may be engaged in without the firing of a shot.

A little plunger, sighted automatically as the rifle is trained, strikes the miniature target when the trigger is pressed. It is adjusted to 200, 300 and 500 yard ranges.

Constant practice with the sub-calibre rifle by the soldier or marine novice gets him accustomed to the feel and sighting of his weapon. When he begins actual ball target practice he has so mastered the handling of his rifle that the high-power "kick" is properly received.

If a recruit is surprised and shaken by the rifle "kick" he never entirely conquers his fear of the gun, say the marine corps officers h[illegible]

CARNIVAL SEASON IN VIENNA DREARY

After Twenty Months of War Fancy Wearables Are in Oblivion

Vienna, March 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Vienna's second carnival season in war time is, if possible, drearier than the first. This year the police have officially prohibited all public balls and dances and even private dances or entertainment are not allowed in public halls, most of the latter having been turned over to the military authorities for one purpose or another.

After twenty months of war, white kid gloves and dress suits, patent leather shoes and ball gowns, fans and cotillion favors, seem to have passed into oblivion. Even were public dances allowed, there would be no young men to dance, and among the young women all inclination for such pleasures seems to have died out for the duration of the war. Though some dancing schools are still going on, pupils are few.

Money is still being expended on amusements during the carnival season but it is nearly all going into one channel, and that is the theater and opera. Night after night all these places are filled to overflowing, for the public has discovered that theater-going is far less expensive than the ball gowns and numerous other necessories demanded in the ordinary carnival season.

Naturally, the industries which have hitherto supplied all the fashionable requisites for balls and parties, have suffered greatly. Some have failed entirely, while others have saved themselves only by turning their factories into other uses having some bearing on the war. For instance, one of the finest fan factories is now making soldiers' knapsacks.

Caps are fast replacing hats in Vienna. As is known to all observing travelers, Vienna, alone among the great cities of Europe, has hitherto been conspicuous from the fact that all its men and boys insisted on wearing hats, disdaining the cheap and comfortable cap that is popular among the working classes in London, Berlin and Paris. Austria has always possessed a large hat industry and hats were almost as cheap as caps here, but the war has caused a shortage of wool and the cheap felt hats have doubled in price. The result is an increasing number of converts to the cap.

SIMPLE APPLICATION THAT DISSOLVES BLACKHEADS

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of powdered neroxin from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make larger pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of powdered neroxin and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition. Any druggist will sell you the powdered neroxin and about two ounces will be all you will ever need—Ad-

BEULAH WARREN IS SEEKING DIVORCE

Asks That Ties With Her Convict Husband Be Dissolved.

Another chapter—most likely the last—was started in the local story of Charles Luther Warren, check swindler, poppy dreamer and love pirate, whose devious operations in Fort Wayne caused a sensation six months ago, when on Friday Beulah Youse Warren began action in the superior court for divorce from Warren, who is now serving a sentence in prison for his crimes here. The complaint is brief and simply recites that the plaintiff and defendant were united in marriage Oct. 15, 1915, and that almost immediately afterward he "was arrested, tried and convicted upon a charge of larceny and forgery, a felony, and that he is now serving a term in the penitentiary at Michigan City." Mrs. Warren asks that her maiden name of Youse be restored.

Notes of the Courts.

William F. Hitzeman has begun suit in the superior court against John Bloemker for the collection of $600 on account. Thomas & Townsend are attorneys for the plaintiff.

The superior court has authorized Henry Brannine, jr., receiver for the Cream of Rice company, in the suit brought by Martha G. Flanders, a stockholder, to bring and prosecute action in his own name as receiver on any and all contracts and notes, or either, given or received for or on account of subscriptions to the capital stock of the corporation.

The suit of Sherman McQuown vs. the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company for $10,000 damages has been set for trial before a jury in the superior court May 18.

In the circuit court the suits of John G. Nichols against S. Bash & Co. and Guy M. Wells against the same defendants, have been dismissed, as also was the suit of the First National bank vs. the Miller Showcase company et al.

In the suit of S. Bash & Co. vs. the Nickel Plate railroad, the circuit court has given the plaintiff judgment in the sum of $250.

The suit of Trygve Storm, doing business as the Northwest Ready Roofing company vs. Arnold G. W. Curdes, will be tried in the circuit court April 25.

CONTEST COSTS NOT HEAVY.

The cost of the primary election contest of Christian G. Vonderau against Allen Hursh for the democratic nomination for county recorder, which will be borne by Mr. Vonderau, will not be heavy. Judge John W. Eggeman in the circuit court has allowed the three special commissioners—W. A. Johnson, Clark Harrod and Albert T. Miller—$12 each for their four days' work, and has awarded to County Clerk D. C. Stout a total of $5 for witness fees. The other expenses will not bring the total greatly above $50, not allowing, of course, for the fees that may be claimed by the attorneys of the principals. The tabulation of the recount, which covered the ballots in thirty-seven precincts, showed that Hursh had 2,601 first choice votes and 137 second choice votes while Vonderau had 2,585 first choice and 116 second choice votes, a total majority of 47 for Hursh. In the original tabulation Hursh had 22 majority on second choice votes.

What He Thought

By Albert Haney

THROUGH the open windows of the little white house came the sounds of singing and occasionally one would catch a glimpse of the songstress as she moved back and forth from table to stove. If one looked long enough one could discover that she was as good to look upon as was her voice to listen to. Borne upon the August morning breeze there was wafted the appetizing odor of cooking. Mollie Wade was frying doughnuts.

A huge colander of nut-brown beauties stood at the back of the stove. Every once in a while Mollie Wade skillfully rescued one from the hot fat with the aid of a long skewer and added it to the pile.

Perhaps it was the voice of the girl as she sang. Perhaps it was the fragrant smell of the doughnuts. It might have been the fault of both. At any rate a weary knight of the road, first cousin to John Barleycorn, roused from his morning siesta, looked longingly toward the little white house.

A few minutes later Mollie was interrupted in her work and in her song by a knock at the side door, and, opening it, found herself face to face with a tramp whose apologetic attitude and voice could not belie his true character. Mollie hastily agreed to his mumbled demand for good; glad to shut the door upon his visage.

Alone in the house she fully realized that she was entirely at his mercy. What could she give him to get rid of him at once? Her eyes fell upon the pile of doughnuts and with trembling fingers she hastily filled a big with the brown beauties.

Meanwhile fate was having its own particular frolic with Mollie Wade. While she was busily filling the bag with doughnuts the arrival of a young man on the scene was the cause of the tramp's abrupt departure. Just as the young man reached out his hand to grasp the brass knocker Mollie Wade cautiously opened the door far enough to admit the passage of the bag, shoved it into the outstretched hand and with assumed bravery ordered the receiver to be off.

The young man stared in amazement from the bag in his hand to the door which had just banged shut in his face. There was still a puzzled expression on his face as he passed down the steps and out upon the road. So preoccupied was he in wondering why the pretty vision in pink had ordered him from the door that it was not until he reached his own house that he discovered he was still holding the paper bag that had been thrust into his hand.

Curiosity prompted him to open it. A delicious fragrance assailed his nostrils and the sight of the contents rewarded his eyes and tempted his palate. He ate one and immediately reached in the bag for another. A fourth followed the third and still he was not satisfied. When the bottom of the bag was finally reached still another surprise awaited him. There, in the midst of a few remaining crumbs, reposed a dainty gold brooch.

The young man had no doubts as to who was its owner, and despite his reception of the morning, felt a keen sense of pleasure in the knowledge that his discovery necessitated another visit to the little white house.

The following morning Mollie Wade was again interrupted in her tasks by a knock at the door. Vision of the tramp returning came to her. This time, however, she had not so much cause for fear. Aunt Letty was at home. She was nevertheless agreeably surprised when the open door revealed a good-looking young man in place of the tramp she half expected to see.

The new minister introduced himself and taking the gold brooch from his pocket handed it to Mollie Wade. "This, I believe, is your property," he said with a faint smile.

Mollie Wade gazed at the brooch in glad amazement. "My pin," she cried. "I never expected to see it again. I lost it yesterday and after searching the house from top to bottom felt certain that it had dropped into the bag of doughnuts I gave a tramp. Where on earth did you find it?"

The smile on the minister's face deepened. "In the bag of doughnuts you gave me yesterday," he said.

Mollie Wade gasped, "Gave you? How-when-where? I gave those doughnuts to a tramp," she exclaimed weakly.

The new minister's smile was compelling. "No," he said, "that was what you meant to do, but the fellow ran off when he spied me coming and it was in my hands you put the bag."

"And upon you I slammed the door. What must you think of me?" murmured Mollie in sorrow.

It was not until a few months later that he dared tell her all he thought of her: but when he did Mollie Wade blushingly agreed to cook doughnuts for him for the rest of their lives.

DR. KELLER WINS IN FRANCHISE LEAGUE

Indianapolis, Ind., April 14.—Dr. Amelia R. Keller, of Indianapolis, was re-elected president of the Women's Franchise League of Indiana at its annual convention at the Claypool hotel today. Her opponent was Mrs. Chas. J. Gill, of Muncie. This will be the sixth term of Dr. Keller as president. The election followed a strenuous campaign in which much bitterness was manifest. Factions had lined up behind their favorites and both worked hard.

There was talk of a third candidate for president, who might be able to harmonize all of the factions and elements, but the third candidate failed to appear. A third ticket appeared, however, for all offices except president. The ballot resulted as follows: Dr. Keller, 101; Mrs. Gill, 54.

MEAT PACKERS' CASE SETTLED.

London, April 14.—Final settlement was reached in the Chicago meat packers' case today when a check was handed to Chandler P. Anderson, representing the Armour, Swift, Hammond and Morris companies and S. Lloyd Gibson, representing the Schwarzchild & Sulzberger company, for the amount agreed upon yesterday. The sum was not disclosed.

SAYS STOCK-RAISERS LOSE.

Washington, April 14.—Governor Stuart, of Virginia, who raises cattle when not engaged with executive duties, told a house sub-committee today that stock raisers had lost money in the last year largely because of the lack of co-operation among beef packers. He testified in favor of the Borland resolution to investigate the packing industry to determine if the anti-trust laws are being violated.

COUNCIL LIKES NOT BOARD'S DECISION

Thought Garbage Plant Was to Go on Site of the Old Crematory.

Having figuratively "washed its hands" clean of the soil of the garbage plant muddle that until last Tuesday night had been a thorn of vexation in the council-manic body, the members of the city legislature have no longer anything to do with the issue. The council ratified the contract with the Edwards company to construct the plant and loaded upon the board all responsibility for any site chosen. Now the members of the council are expressing disappointment and would give something pretty for one more deal in the game. It is believed that practically the whole body of the council would vote to install the plant on the site of the old crematory if given a chance. Several members from whom statements have been obtained saw that when they threw the question of a site back upon the board they thoroughly believed that the board would select the site of the old crematory, after the Barr street dump had been given up, and not choose the No. 2 pumping station site. The question is definitely settled, however. While Bloomingdale citizens were awaiting outside the board room Thursday night to go in with their final protest against the No. 2 station site there was delivered to the board the bond of the Edwards company for the completion of the plant. All surveys for the plant were made some time ago and the Edwards company will begin work within a few days to construct the building for the incinerator.

DELAY ON CREIGHTON AVENUE.

Gas Connections Postpone Paving Work for a Week.

Failure of the gas company to complete the installation of the numerous house connections with the mains in East Creighton avenue will impose at least a week's delay in the beginning of paving operations on that thoroughfare from Calhoun street to Lafayette street. The board of works, with the fact in mind that Reservoir park is to be the theater of the great historical pageant during the Indiana centennial week in this city in June, had instructed the Grace mopany to get the paving started in time to insure its completion by the first of June and the company had set next Monday for the inauguration of work. At best it will be a week later. The Grace company says, however, that the job will be completed in time for the historical fete in June.

BOARD OF WORKS ROUTINE.

In the board of works routine Thursday night the board vacated a portion of an old unplatted thoroughfare known long ago as Canal street. It lies east of Berry and Clay streets. Plans were ordered for the opening of Meridian street from the first alley south of Putnam street to Huffman street and the plans of the Fort Wayne Electric works for an extension of its tunnel for team and power lines in Wall street to connect with the new buildings to be erected there this year.

PAVING OPERATIONS.

Next Monday the Grace Construction company will begin the work of grading Webster street from Grand street to Butler street for paving and the same day similar operations will be started on Scott avenue from Broadway to the alley west by that company. A steam shovel will be used on Butler street, but the Scott avenue work will be done by hand. The Brooks Construction company has completed the grading of Pape avenue and has started grading work on Packard avenue.

NICKEL PLATE WANTS TO BEGIN.

H. B. Reinsagen, principal assistant engineer of the Nickel Plate railway, has written to City Engineer F. M. Randall stating that the railroad has had its steel for the Osage street subway ordered since December and is anxious to get the mason work put in so as to begin work on the bridge and floor slabs this summer. He wants to know if the sewer to drain the subway is completed so the masonry can be at once planned. The sewer is under way and making fair progress.

FOR LIGHTING BEECHWOOD.

The board of works has approved the plans for a system of ornamental lights to be constructed in Beechwood addition, formerly the Bond homestead, and also the plans for the paving of all the streets and drives in that addition. Both classes of improvements will be done by private contract.

SURETY OF PEACE CASES ARE TRIED

Surety of peace cases were the most important business transacted in the Fort Wayne justice of the peace courts, Friday. William Ward, 1513 Fletcher avenue, was tried before Squire Henry J. Grabner and bound over to the circuit court under $50 bond.

The affidavit against Ward was filed by his step-father, John Mowrey, who claimed that Ward had made threats to do him bodily harm because he had refused to pay a bill for him amounting to $60. Ward has been out of work all winter, it is said, and has been living with his step-father and mother. Last Sunday the mother told her son to leave and not to come back until he had found employment. It was then, it is alleged, that the trouble took place.

Farmers Have Dispute.

The other surety of peace case was tried before Squire C. W. Rayhouser against Ora Engleman, who lives southwest of the city. Engleman and a Mr. Sebring own adjoining farms and it is claimed the two have had frequent arguments and disputes over a line fence separating their farms. Sebring says Engleman has threatened to do him harm.

Lambert Pleads Guilty.

Floyd Lambert entered a plea of guilty Thursday in the court of Squire M. J. Tancey to the charge of failing to turn over the key to the house he had vacated and was fined $1 and costs, which was stayed for a period of thirty days. The affidavit against Lambert was filed by Senora Gorman, 524 East Berry street.

FIRE ALARM GIVEN BY DOG.

Flames Slightly Damage Apartment of Mrs. Mary Layman.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 14.—A small poodle dog in the flat of Mrs. Mary Layman, 20½ North Delaware street, gave an alarm which attracted persons to a fire in the room of George E. Delting, on the third floor of the building, and probably prevented more serious damage to the building.

Delting, who lives in a small room, pressed his clothes, then set the hot iron on the floor, and left. The iron burned a hole in the floor and the floor burst into flames. When the fire had communicated to the kitchen, which adjoined Delting's room, the dog began barking so loud that he attracted attention to the fire.

Delting, about a year ago, gained publicity by his statement that he was heir to about $300,000 in Germany, which he could not obtain because he could not return to Germany.

There are several justices of the peace offices in the building, and persons in the offices were driven out by the smoke.

The fire was put out with a loss estimated at $50.

VILLA SAID TO BE TOTAL ABSTAINER

But Many of His Followers Use Mexican Drinks to Excess.

Washington, D. C., April 4.—Although Francisco Villa himself is said to be a total abstainer from intoxicating liquors, many of the Mexican border outrages perpetrated by his men have followed a too-free indulgence in the Mexican national drinks, pulque and mescal.

The National Geographic Society of Washington, in a primer issued today on these two beverages peculiar to the Southern republic says:

"The colonists who settled the east coast of the United States have been charged with introducing the American Indian to 'fire-water in exchange for the tobacco habit, but no similar accusation can rest against the Europeans who conquered the pulque-drinking Aztecs of Mexico. The intoxicating properties of this unique beverage were known long before Cortez marched his army across the causeways which joined the ancient Venice-like capital of the Montezumas to the lake shores.

"Both pulque and mescal are products of the agave or 'century plant,' which was of the same utilitarian importance to the aborigines as the date palm to the Arab, the bamboo to the Burmese, and the banana to the Central American. In addition to the two important beverages, this plant supplies from its roots a starchy food; from its fibrous leaves cloth is woven and rope is made; from its pulp the Aztecs obtained a sort of papyrus paper on which have been preserved some of their most valued writings; its huge leaves when dried furnished a roofing for adobe huts; its stems still supply fuel, and rows of the sharp-spined plants afforded an impenetrable defense against the attacks of wild animals as well as an effective barricade against hostile tribes.

"Mescal and Pulque are not, as many believe, different names for the same drink. Mescal is distilled from the leaves and roasted roots of the plant, and is a sort of brandy, containing from a third to half as much alcohol as the average American whisky. Pulque, on the other hand, is the fermented sap of the plant, and is obtained from the heart of the maguey, or agave, when it has attained a growth of six or eight years. The pluque harvester taps this heart, which might be compared with the center of the date palm, and with the aid of a long reed or guord he sucks the sap from it, using his tongue as a stopper for the reed. When the reed is full he blows it into a pigskin container strapped to his back. In the course of four or five months the maguey will yield ten gallons of sap. It then withers and dies. When fresh, pulque is a sweet, innocuous liquid and is called agua miel(honey water). It soon begins to ferment, however, a process often hastened by the addition of madre, or old, pulque.

"Neither mescal nor pulque is expensive. One can get a drink of the latter for a cent, while a 14-gallon cask of the famous tequila brand of mescal may be had for 10 pesos ($9.50).

"The Mexicans surround the discovery of these magney beverages with a legend of royal romance. Long before the Montezumas held sway over Tenochtitlan, so the story goes, one of the early emperors took as his bride the beautiful daughter of a vanquished foe. The princess brought with her to Tenochtitlan the secret of a remarkable drink of which her lord and master grew inordinately fond. After imbibing freely of it he would become gratifyingly docile and torpid, leaving the princess free to her own devices. Other Aztec wives induced the princess to share with them the secret of this strange soporific and thus the whole race came under the power of pulque.

"The Aztec cannot be charged with the invention of the nauseous milk pulque, a compound of pulque and milk with a 'dash' of rennet. The rennet, part of a cow's compound stomach, is partially putrefied and the odor thus imparted is intensified and complicated by that of the pigskin in which the liquor is contained. The alibi which defenders of the Aztec can offer against the charge of being party to this olfactory crime is that before the Spaniards reached Mexico there were no cattle, horses or donkeys in the country, hence to rennet.

"Pulque cannot be shipped out of the country because no method of preserving it has been discovered, so the vast output of the extensive plantation—it is the most important industry of the states of Hidalgo, Mexico, Puebla and Tlaxcala—is consumed at home. Mexico consumes $4,000,000 worth of pulque annually."

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

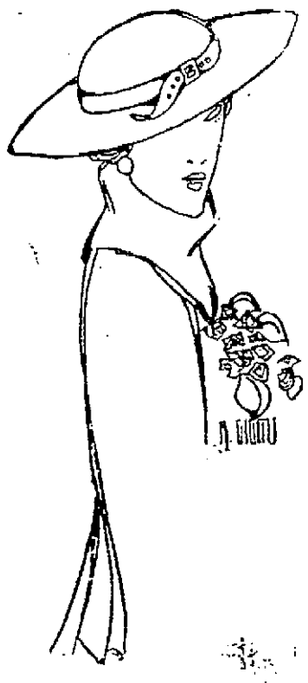
To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up. As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.—Advertisement.

Corsage Bouquets for Your Sport Coat Now



By Betty Brown.

The corsage bouquet has blown into blossom for the special adornment of the spring sports suit. A single stiff flower in dull blue and pastel shades is the corsage that seems to be particularly appropriate to the sport coat. Bunches of fruit in dull colors are also used to decorate the out-door-girl's coat.

Safe Medicine for Children.

"Is it safe?" is the first question to be considered when buying cough medicine for children. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has long been a favorite with mothers of young children as it contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. It is pleasant to take, too, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. This remedy is most effectual in relieving coughs, colds and croup. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Pennsylvania Girl Finally Discovers Man Beneath Her Bed.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., April 14.—Peeking under the bed is not always barren of results, as Miss H. C. Wood, a member of the faculty of Miss Cowle's school for girls, Hollidaysburg, can testify. As a result of a peek Miss Wood took early one morning, William Koch, a Hollidaysburg young man, now languishes in the Blair county jail awaiting a hearing before Justice C. Irwin Lewis on a charge of forcible entry.

Spring.

Spring is looked upon by many as the most delightful season of the year, but this cannot be said of the rheumatic. The cold and damp weather brings on rheumatic pains which are anything but pleasant. They can be relieved, however, by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

RAILROAD NEWS

Broken Journal Causes Derailment of Six Cars Just East of Adams.

A broken journal under a car in a Pennsylvania westbound freight train at 1:42 o'clock this morning piled six cars upon the tracks one and a half miles east of Adams station and caused a blockade which delayed eight passenger trains and held up all the freight trains due at that point after that time for several hours. The cause of the wreck was a broken journal under a car loaded with tin plate, throwing it and three others off their trucks and derailing two other cars. Two of the derailed cars, besides the one carrying the tin plate, were loaded, one with coke and the other with earthenware, and three were empties. They were deposited upon the right-of-way so as to completely block both tracks and the wreck crew had difficulty in getting them cleared. The tracks were also slightly deranged and had to be repaired before trains could go over them and it was 6:40 o'clock before one of the tracks was opened and considerably later before the other was cleared. In the meantime eight passenger trains were waiting to pass and a number of freight trains were held back. The passenger trains affected were Nos. 49, 15, 25, 5 and 29, westbound, and Nos. 36, 6 and 18 eastbound. Nobody was injured in the wreck. The train was in charge of Conductor H. P. Pawlisch and Engineer L. F. Wood and the engine No. was 9956.

MAY BUILD AT LIMA.

Pennsylvania Contemplates Some Improvements There.

A Lima, Ohio, newspaper is responsible for a story to the effect that the Pennsylvania company is going to erect a new round house a mile or two west of the city and make other improvements at that place. According to the paper several work trains are now located there, grading and making other preparations for some sidings to be installed to give better facilities to the industrial plants at Lima. Five engines are now kept over night at Lima on the switch near the Main street crossing and considerable complaint is made, the paper says, because of the smoke issued from them. It is understood the Pennsylvania company has secured an option on thirteen acres of ground west of Lima, on which the new round house and the turntable will be located.

GOOD ON THE BOAT ALSO.

Agent F. C. Eggers, of the Wabash, has been advised that, beginning May 15, the time that summer tourist rates to the east become effective, the purchaser of round trip tickets will be given the option of traveling by rail or by boat one way between Detroit and Buffalo. He has also been advised that navigation is now open between Detroit and Cleveland, the steamers Eastern States and Western States being in that service. Navigation between Detroit and Mackinac Island and Detroit and Buffalo will be open April 26. The inquiries indicate that there will be much business over these lines the coming summer. The summer tourist rates over the steam lines become effective this season earlier than usual. Last year they were not open until June, but this year they will be open May 15. The same is true of the Niagara Falls and points in Canada rates this year.

ALL ATTEND CAMPBELL FUNERAL

(Logansport Pharos-Reporter.)

Without an exception, every official of the Vandalia railroad in this city attended the funeral of Superintendent F. L. Campbell, at Terre Haute, yesterday. A number of the clerical force and other employes also went to Terre Haute to attend the services. A general expression of sorrow prevails among the local employes over the death of Mr. Campbell, who was one of the best liked officials that has ever been in the city. R. K. Rochester, superintendent of the local division of the Pennsylvania railroad, and a number of Pennsy employes also attended the funeral.

COLONEL THOMPSON HERE.

Col. R. G. Thompson, now holding an important position in the passenger department of the Canadian Pacific, with headquarters in Chicago, is here to spend a day or two with friends. For over a quarter of a century, Colonel Thompson was connected with the Wabash, first in the capacity of ticket agent at Fort Wayne and then district passenger agent with headquarters in Fort Wayne and later at Indianapolis. He is known by everybody and knows everybody, so it is keeping him busy returning greetings from acquaintances.

NEW PENNSY OFFICE.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania yesterday the office of traffic manager of the lines east of Pittsburg was created and Robert C. Wright, freight traffic manager, will be appointed to the position. This appointment was followed by the promotion of a half-dozen men in the freight department.

GUARDING AMERICAN LINE IN THE DESERT

Trenches Held Ready for Instant Occupancy by U. S. Soldiers.

Ascension, Chihuahua, Mexico, April 14.—On the deserts and less than a mile to the north of Ascension, lies the camp of the American infantrymen, who are guarding the lines of communication. Their tents are pitched in the center of a little cotton wood fringed oasis. Around their camp is a long trench, ready for instant occupancy, while cavalrymen constantly are making their way up and down the motor supply route, which leads from Columbus, N. M., to the front.

It is a tedious job, this guarding of a wagon trail in the desert of Chihuahua, according to the soliders who are members of the 24th infantry, a negro regiment. Only the occasional arrival of a motor or a wagon train carrying supplies to the troops farther to the front, who are actively pursuing Villa, breaks the monotony of the task. An engineering company, whose brown canvass shelters lie just across the Rio de Janos, is the envy of the infantrymen, for they at least are kept busy repairing the dust filled ruts made in the road by the passage of innumerable heavy truck trains.

Of course, occasionally, the silence is broken by the firing of shots. But, in the main, these only serve to demonstrate the preparedness of the men who are doing guard duty along the line.

Even the town of Ascension, lying about sixty-five miles south of Columbus, N. M., offers no distraction for the soldiers. Once a prosperous Mexican village, years of civil strife have left it little more than a huddled cluster of huts bearing the marks of the town's experiences.

Because of the order which has gone out against unnecessary firing, even hunting is under the ban. As a result the wild animals who make their homes on these flat, dusty plains are beginning to lose their fear of the soldiers. A soldier telegraph operator, dozing at his key in the headquarters, was startled by a rough tongue laid against his cheek. He awakened, so the story goes, to see a coyote, which had been standing with its forepaws on the rungs of his chair, scampering away in the darkness.

It is the arrival of the motor truck trains the soldiers look forward to. The trains bring together men of every sort. Among the drivers there is a former cavalry lieutenant retired several years ago for physical disability who, in his spare time, perfected an automobile device, the royalties from which amount to a large sum annually. He is driving a truck, just as is a former football star at the University of Michigan, who in his day was mentioned for the "All-American eleven," and there is a former officer in another army who is laboring alongside the young mechanics from motor factories doing his "bit" to help. But even the truck trains don't stop long, only a few hours for rest, every effort being made to hasten the supplies to the waiting troops in the field. When the crew of a train is ready to leave, the warm water from the radiators of the cars is let out and divided among them, a few dops to each for toilet purposes. As soon as the radiators have been refilled with cold water from the river the train resumes its journey through the dust wave. The troops at Ascension then resume their speculation as to the time of the arrival of the next train.

INDIANA CATHOLICS NOW TOTAL 249,426

Catholic Population of Continental U. S. is 29,922,062.

Indianapolis, April 14.—With its Catholic population of 249,426, Indiana now ranks eighteenth in the list of states in Catholic church membership.

Catholics in continental United States number 16,564,109, according to advance sheets of the 1916 edition of the Official Catholic directory. The increase in the number of Catholics during the year 1915 is shown to be 251,799. To the figure 16,564,109 could be added, according to Joseph H. Meier, the compiler, who has been studying Catholic population figures for more than ten years, at least 1,656,410, representing the floating Catholic population of the United States. Adding this 10 per cent would increase the Catholic figure to over eighteen millions.

Including the Catholics of the island possessions of the United States, it is found that there are 24,922,062 Catholics under the United States flag. In the Philippines there are 7,285,458. The additional 1,072,495 are in Alaska, the canal zone, in Guam, in American Samoa, in the Hawaiian islands and in Porto Rico.

It is shown that there are 19,572 Catholic clergymen in the United States. Of these 14,318 are secular clergy, while 5,254 are members of religious orders. The publication also lists 10,058 Catholic churches with resident priests; 5,105 mission churches; eighty-five seminaries with 6,201 students studying for the priesthood; 112 homes for aged; 210 colleges for boys; 685 academies for girls; 5,588 parochial schools with an enrollment of 1,497,949 children, and 253 orphan asylums with 45,059 orphans.

A. H. Schaaf has returned from Lansing, Mich., where he was one of the speakers at the annual convention of the Michigan Real Estate association.

FLEMING LIKELY TO BE AMONG BIG 4

Indianapolis, April 14.—Democratic party leaders will decide within the next week or ten days on the makeup of the four delegates at large to the national convention at St. Louis, Mo., June 14. The national delegates will be elected by the state convention which meets in Tomlinson hall April 26. On account of Governor Ralston having made a promise to speak at Swarthmore college previous to the fixing of the national convention date, it is probable he will be unable to attend.

The original plan was to have the big four delegates made up of Senators Taggart and Kern, Stephen B. Fleming, of Fort Wayne, and Governor Ralston. There probably will be no change in the lineup of the first three named, but unless arrangements can be made for the governor to cancel his engagement at Swarthmore it probably will be necessary for the party leaders to find some one else to take his place in the Indiana delegation. It is probable that the question will be decided in a few days. The name of Bernard Korbly, democratic state chairman, is mentioned as a likely choice of the convention.

WANTED—Men and boys. Perfection Biscuit Co.

JUDGE NEIL TO SPEAK BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

Judge Henry Neil, author of the mothers' pension law that has been adopted in Illinois and a number of other states, will speak before the members of the Fort Wayne Rotary club at their next meeting Wednesday, April 19, at the noon hour.

The mothers' pension system was adopted in Illinois in 1911 and in the five years since, it has spread rapidly to other states, Indiana being the only large northern state that does not pension mothers of dependent children.

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DANDERINE"

Spend 25 cents! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Hair gets beautiful, wavy and thick in few moments.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff, no itching scalp and no more falling hair, you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?—Advertisement.

BOYS FOR ARMY AND GIRLS FOR HOSPITALS

Washington State Plans to Do Some Preparing at Home Next.

Olympia, Wash., April 13.—Every high school boy a soldier!

And every high school girl a trained nurse!

Such is the preparedness program to be submitted to the state of Washington at its next legislature by Representative Victor Zednick.

Representative Victor Zednick of Washington.

His bill contemplated compulsory military duty, providing for at least two hours' training per week, and would bring approximately 6,000 boys under its scope.

Instruction would have the approval of the adjutant general, and the trained nursing, together with a domestic hygiene course for the girls, would have the approval of the state board of health.

"This measure," explained Rep. Zednick, who is also a member of the state educational survey commission, "is modeled after the Swiss military system, and is similar to the one recently adopted in New Jersey.

"I believe the work in nursing and domestic hygiene will be especially valuable for the girls in every-day life; that it will prove one of the most practical studies in the entire curriculum.

"In like manner the military training will benefit the boys. It will develop them physically and will be valuable from the standpoint of discipline.

"The present system of competitive athletics offers training for only a few who try for the teams. Military training will benefit all."

STATE ALTERS COMPLAINT.

Legal Matters in Muncie Saloon Situation Become Very Complicated.

Muncie, Ind., April 14.—The state decided to alter its complaint against Fred Kuback, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill Frank Whitney, a prominent "dry" leader in the recent local option and remonstrance struggle here. Judge Luther Pence, of the Madison county circuit court, acting as special judge in the Delaware county circuit court, said that the charges as they were drawn, were not good, but consented to their revision. Kuback's bond was fixed at $5,000 and his trial was set for April 26.

The legal matters growing out of the recent option election and remonstrance cases have become very complicated. So many motions, petitions, complaints, cross-complaints and demurrers have been filed that the attorneys themselves seem to have become confused.

This Large Overstuffed Triple Cushion Davenport 58.75

Cash or Credit

Only Large Volume of Sales Could Make Such Values Possible

It is our confidence in the fact that the people of this city are judges of values and will respond readily to newspaper announcements that have the ring of honesty and merit to them which prompts us to buy, with our associate stores, in quantities sufficiently large to have a bearing on the market price. The concessions which we receive from the manufacturers we readily pass on to you, our customers, thus putting this business, as it were, on a co-operative basis.

Made In Grand Rapids—the Home of the Finest Furniture

This Davenport instantly conveys the impression of high quality. The tapestry coverings are of exceptionally beautiful design, in the most harmonizing color combinations, the fabric itself being closely woven and of long wearing quality.

Here Is a Detailed Description of This Beautiful Davenport

This not only adds to the comfort of the Davenport itself, but also makes it very easy to clean, as you can easily understand. It is very easy to get at every nook and corner, a feature which every housewife will appreciate.

82 Inches Long 35 Inches Wide and 36 Inches Deep

Those are the massive dimensions of the great over-stuffed Davenport. Just measure 82 inches off on the wall of your living room and you will have a good idea of how this Davenport will look in your home. The illustration is an exact reproduction in every detail.

This Side-Icer Refrigerator $16.75

With 500 Lbs. of Ice Free

A Continuous Stream of Cold, Dry Air

As long as there is ice in this refrigerator, a continuous stream of cold, dry air flows over the contents of the food compartments, carrying away all the odors and removing all possibility of contamination. There is absolutely no chance of your milk or butter being flavored from onions, fish or any other food that might be placed along side them.

The Illustration Tells Only Half the Story

You can only get a general idea of the real value of this refrigerator from the illustration. To fully appreciate it you will have to examine its construction and the minor details which a picture cannot show, but which are the points you should really consider in making a selection. Therefore, we request you to come in and see for yourself.

Easy to Clean and Keep Clean

All Hardwood and Highly Polished

These refrigerators are constructed of wood carefully selected. The side and doors are panelled. The highly polished surface is equally as good as the finish of the best dining room furniture; so well has it been applied that the varying atmospheric conditions in the kitchen do not affect it in the least.

Rust-Resisting Tinned Wire Shelves

The rust-resisting tinned ware shelves are a feature seldom found except in the higher priced refrigerators. They can always be kept perfectly clean; they do not hinder a free circulation of air, and they cannot absorb odors from food.

Other Styles

We have more than fifty styles of refrigerators, ranging from $7.75 up, and, with each refrigerator sold, we give a coupon book of 500 pounds of ice, delivered as you want it.

LOCAL MAN ELATED WITH BIG BENEFITS

Mrs. Katie Bixler Says Husband Didn't Expect Relief Tanlac Brought.

"Although I purchased Tanlac for my husband against his will, he is delighted that he tried the medicine," said Mrs. Katie Bixler, a well known Fort Wayne woman who lives at 1911 Sinclair street. Mr. Bixler is employed by a Fort Wayne contractor and also is well known here.

"My husband had no faith in Tanlac and I'll confess that I had only faint hopes of his getting relief," Mrs. Bixler continued. "He'd tried about everything and nothing helped him. For ten or twelve years he suffered from stomach trouble in the form of indigestion. When he ate breakfast he hardly ever could keep the food on his stomach. Often he would go to bed at night without attempting to eat supper and he'd just toss, and roll, and groan all night. It seemed that there was a heavy weight on his stomach all the time. Formations of gas formed in his stomach frequently, and he belched often.

"After taking about a bottle and a half of Tanlac my husband improved steadily. The belching and the formations of gas in his stomach are entirely gone now. The heavy feeling he formerly suffered in his stomach also has left. He sleeps soundly all night now and in the mornings he feels rested and refreshed. His appetite is fine. The kidney pains in the small of the back also have been relieved.

"My husband was greatly surprised when the benefits came for he had little faith. He has taken about two bottles and a half of Tanlac now."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite and the like and is a fine spring tonic, rebuilding broken down tissues and cleansing the system.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Fort Wayne at the Wayne and Calhoun streets store of the Meyer Drug Co., where the Tanlac Man is explaining the new remedy. It also may be obtained at the other Meyer stores, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor.—Advertisement.

NO AFFIDAVIT IN BLIND TIGER CASE

Negress Under Bond for a Week With No Charge Against Her.

When Eleanor Gillen was called in the city court, Friday morning, to present herself for trial on a blind tiger charge, her attorneys, Stephen A. Callahan and W. C. Ryan, developed that there had been no affidavit filed against her. Judge H. Waveland Kerr announced that there was no case pending against her and she walked out of the court room free, after having been under $200 bond for a week. Then there was some scurrying to find one Harry McDonald, a witness who was known to be ready to swear that he had purchased beer of the woman, who is a negress with a home on the jail flats, the old redlight district. McDonald at length was found, but it was decided to have Officer Jack Lynch who, with Deputy United States Marshal W. H. Haggerty, made the arrest, sign the affidavit. Deputy Prosecutor Byron Hayes prepared an affidavit, Officer Lynch signed it and later Bailiff George Eisenhut went to North Calhoun street and placed the negress again under arrest. If there is a conviction on the blind tiger charge Deputy Marshal Haggerty probably will take steps for the prosecution of Mrs. Gillen for violation of the federal internal revenue laws.

Other City Court Cases.

Grover C. Miller, charged with issuing and uttering checks against an imaginary bank account, was given an indefinite continuance. Friends had testified in his behalf at the hearing earlier in the week and convinced the court that the young man had acted without criminal intent.

Joseph Malloy, a drunk, was fined $5 and costs, and Terrence Doyle, who also acknowledged a souse, drew a like amount. They went as comrades to jail for fifteen days.

William Carroll, a loiterer, was turned loose to find a job or a road from town, and Pam Hilt, a drunk, was given a clearance.

Judge Kerr entered an indefinite continuance in the case of Frank W. Minnich, a magazine agent with offices in the Shoaff building, who had slapped a young solicitor when that employe called him a liar and had been arrested for assault and battery.

Alexander Mitchell, a civil war veteran with 78 years charged to him, was tried for intoxication and allowed to go. He came from dry territory in Michigan and was en route to the soldiers' home in Marion, and stopped here to visit a daughter. He turned to quench his thirst and had not seen his daughter up to the hour of appearing in the city court. He had been held for a few days to become perfectly sober.

ANTHONY WAYNE WILL BE THERE SATURDAY

So Will Little Turtle and All the Celebrities for the Centennial.

"Mad Anthony" Wayne in cog., will mingle with lesser celebrities at Saengerbund hall Saturday afternoon. Frank Stouder says so.

Half-past 2 o'clock is the hour set for a large number of Fort Wayne citizens of recognized lung power to assemble at the hall, corner of West Main street and Maiden lane, and meet Donald Robertson, the producer of the great historic Fort Wayne pageant. Mr. Robertson hopes, at this time, to be able to make his selections for the principal characters in the play. It is to be inferred, therefore, that "General Wayne" and all of the old-time heroes will be there not only unbeknown to other folks but in concealment from themselves—for no hint has been given out as to who will be selected for any of the parts.

Seating Contract Let.

The Centennial cabinet closed its contract last evening with the P. A. McHugh Seating Co., of Chicago, to provide all of the seats and tenting needed for the production of the spectacular play at Reservoir park.

The original plan contemplates the arranging of the vast amphitheater for the audience, which will seat 14,000 persons. The lower section will consist of 156 boxes in double rows, each box to contain six chairs. These boxes are to be six feet square, and the total will accommodate 936 box seats.

Just back of the boxes will be arranged a series of grandstand chairs in tiers, providing a total of 4,620 seats.

Immediately in the rear of these grandstand seats will be placed a series of "bleacher" seats which will continue up the side of the reservoir embankment, providing approximately 7,754 seats. Additional provisions have been made to bring the total to 14,000 seats.

The contractor also provides a large number of tents and canvas walls to enclose the portion of the area needed by the performers and actors in the pageant. The tents will be provided with partitions and shelving and other conveniences. The contractor provides entire area of the pageant grounds, the entire area of the pageant grounds, the ticket booths, entrances, and everything connected with that portion of the big affair.

Washington, April 14.—Customs Collector Malone at New York was instructed today by the treasury department to seize the Johnson-Willard fight films recently made in this country by photographing the original film at a point on the boundary line between the United States and Canada.

Officials regard the presence in this country of films showing the fight a violation of the law forbidding their importation.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, April 14.—Except at the immediate opening wheat traders seemed to be disposed to minimize the seriousness of Mexican and Germany difficulties and to be guided by influences that had a more tangible bearing on supply and demand. Assertions that the rainfall in Nebraska was much less plentiful than had been supplied gave an advantage to the bulls and helped to cause a rapid recovery in values. Opening prices, which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to ⅝@¾c lower, were followed by a decided advance all around.

The close was unsettled, varying from a shade off to ⅝c net advance, with May at $1.16⅝@1.16½ and July at $1.15.

Corn swayed with wheat. Lightness of receipts tended to lift prices and so, too, did talk of improved demand from the seaboard. After opening ⅛c off, to a shade up the market scored a moderate general gain.

The close was steady at ⅛@¼c to ⅜c net advance.

Oats took the same course as other cereals. Liberal sales to the east were reported.

Higher prices on hogs gave strength to provisions. Buying, however, was not aggressive.

Aside from U. S. Steel, whose initial sale consisted of one lot of 8,500 shares at half a point recession, early dealings were notably free from large individual offerings.

Supporting orders were of a more substantial character than on the previous day, leading stocks soon recovering to or over original prices of that session. Dealings were on the largest and broadest scale of recent weeks, the first hour's business approximating 300,000 shares. It was regarded as significant that activity was most pronounced on the rebounds. Rails again displayed more firmness than any other group but U. S. Steel also reflected steady absorption. Attention continued to focus on Washington, another severe break in Paris exchange being ignored. Bonds were steady.

EMPEROR WILLIAM AT DIVINE WAR SERVICE

Berlin, April 14.—Emperor William yesterday attended a divine war service conducted at the German main army headquarters by Cardinal Felix von Hartmann, archbishop of Cologne.

The cardinal brought greetings to the soldiers from home and pledged to the further support of the Catholic soldiers. He then offered prayers for the victory of German arms and the safe return of missing German soldiers.

Cardinal Hartmann presented to Emperor William 360,000 marks collected by Prussian Catholics for the benefit of wounded soldiers.

BIG JUDGMENT GIVEN.

Rochester, Ind., April 14.—After being out all night, a jury in the Fulton circuit court today gave Walter McNeill $14,125 in his $70,000 damage suit against the Rochester Bridge company and its liability company, the Aetna Insurance company. McNeill lost the sight of an eye while working in the local plant several years ago and was paid $150 in full settlement of his hospital and doctor's bills, it was said. His attorneys sought to prove that he was insane at the time he signed the paper. The defendants in the case will appeal.

DALTON DEAL IS OFF.

Cincinnati, April 14.—The deal in which "Jack" Dalton, the outfielder of the Buffalo Federals, was to come to Cincinnati, will be called off, according to an announcement made by President August Hermann at the ball park here today. Washington, April 14.—House and senate disagreements over the repeal of the free sugar clause of the tariff law went today to conferees of the two houses. A senate amendment would defer for putting sugar on the free list for four years from May 1. The house bill would defer it indefinitely. Revenue between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 a year is involved.

WHAT IT COST ROBERTS.

Noblesville, Ind., April 14.—Henry Roberts, who was recently nominated by the republicans for state statistician, spent $1,250.50 in his campaign, according to his expense statement filed with the county clerk here. The principal expenditures were hotel bills and railroad fare.

NITRATE ADVOCATES WIN.

Washington, April 14.—Champions of a government hydro electric plant to produce nitrate for the manufacture of war munitions and fertilizer won their fight in the senate today by inserting an amendment proposing an appropriation of $15,000,000 for that purpose into the Chamberlain army increase bill. The vote was 43 to 22.

Reliable Medicine for Distressing Bronchial Coughs

Hoarseness, Tickling Throat, Severe Coughing, All Go When Foley's Honey and Tar Is Used.

Bronchitis too often leaves a severe racking cough that weakens the system and paves the way for such grave diseases as pleurisy and pneumonia. Sometimes there is a nervous hacking, worse on arising and at nightfall, that is especially wearing and should by all means be stopped promptly. FOLEY'S Honey and Tar is exactly suited to these conditions. It directly affects the mucous lining of the throat, clearing it at once of hoarseness, removing the tickling phlegm and stopping the severe racking cough.

Coughs usually grow worse at nightfall and prevent the quiet rest so necessary to one weakened by a cold.

Chas. T. Miller, Ed. Cannelton, Ind., Enquirer, writes: "For three years I was troubled with bronchial affections was hoarse and sometimes could hardly speak louder than a whisper. Had to entirely give up singing, and coughed constantly from sore throat day and night. I took FOLEY'S Honey and Tar and got relief. This spring the trouble arose again. I bought a bottle, took five doses, and have the remainder in the bottle on my desk now, to take if another attack develops. It is great for bronchial colds and coughs."

ROAD MARKERS TO BE STANDARDIZED

Trained Crew Is Shortly to Be Sent Over Lincoln Highway.

Detroit, Mich., April 14.—H. C. Ostermann, Field Secretary of the Lincoln Highway association, has just announced plans for repainting and standardizing the road markers on the route of the Lincoln Highway all across the country. This important step will be undertaken in the immediate future and will be of the greatest benefit to the tourists making the cross country trip.

It is planned to send a trained crew of painters over the route to paint all signs and to standardize the system by replacing the markers where necessary to make it uniform. There will be eight markers to the mile and two at each turn in all cities and villages.

The Willys-Overland company has contributed two specially decorated service cars for the purpose and the Lincoln Highway association will furnish all materials, the communities along the route being asked to contribute proportionately to pay the salaries of the men doing the work. The various localities have each marked and painted the route individually up to this time, and while the results have been highly satisfactory in every way, many of the signs are now weather-beaten and some are not placed to the best advantage, therefore the association has undertaken to standardize the entire system.

Each community will have the work done at a much smaller expense than if it were to do the work locally, Mr. Ostermann having figured the entire expense according to the population, territory to be benefited and the total number of markers to be used, and then making an equitable division of the amount along the route.

The plan meets with high approval, as pride in the Lincoln Highway is characteristic in each locality through which it runs.

TO RESIST SHOCK WHEN PEACE COMES

Correct the Defects in Railway Laws, Advise Manufacturers.

New York, April 14.—"For resisting the industrial shock which many think will follow peace in Europe," the Railway Business association (manufacturers) has issued a bulletin declaring that "the most effective insurance policy in which the American people could invest," would be the re-establishment of railay credit and railway purchasing power.

If the roads, the statement says, "were regulated with a view to the national welfare, they would have such earnings in periods of large tonnage as would provide them with a surplus fund. This in years of general depression would enable them to proceed without apprehension to make additions and betterments. Present regulation now assures the proper use of railway resources."

Defects in Regulation.

The bulletin is headed "Defects in Railway Regulation." Chambers of commerce and national trade associations are invited to consider the adoption of resolutions on the question of making railroad regulation more salutary.

It is pointed out that an opportunity to make influence felt is afforded by the pending congressional inquiry into this subject.

Expenses, it is asserted, "have risen faster than earnings, and no branch of the government performs the function of providing enlarged revenues to meet the higher costs. The country is entitled to adequate mechanism and methods of regulation. Delegates to national party conventions and members of the federal senate and house are entitled to know what men of affairs think about this question."

Points Out Evils.

The association points out evils:

"(1) The people of each state have suffered injury at the hands of authorities in other states.

"(2) National defense is shorn of transportation efficiency by reason of divided and conflicting regulation of railways.

"(3) National growth in time of peace has been retarded through weakening of the railroads by conflicting and overlapping jurisdictions.

Federal Defects.

"(4) Litigants in interstate commerce are exposed to injustice because the interstate commerce commission has, under the law, the incompatible functions of detective, prosecutor, jury, judge and mechanical expert.

"(5) Subordinates are adjudicating cases which, under the law, the commission alone is competent to decide. These subordinates are of greatly inferior official dignity in emolument and tenure, and are not presidential appointees.

"(6) Shippers of one commodity suffer discrimination when another commodity pays less than its share of the total cost of transportation, because the commission in adjusting rate situations has no power to order a rate raised.

Roads Not Protected.

"(7) National industry and agriculture are under the dead weight of a transportation system which cannot grow with the country's needs, because the government protects the individual shipper, but does not undertake to protect the individual railroad.

"The federal statute contains no rule for the guidance of the commission defining just and reasonable rates as rates which will enable the roads to attract new capital and grow as the country grows. The government, in other words, having left it to private capital to provide rail highways, has never by statute recognized its duty to permit conditions under which private capital could or would perform that function adequately.

"Correction of these defects in the regulatory system would go far to restore to the railways their ability to aid national prosperity."

Luck was surely with us when we were prompted by some sort of a sixth sense to accept the offers of several Rug, Carpet and Linoleum manufacturers a good many months ago. SEEING NOTHING BUT PROSPERITY

Outward Signs at Buenos Aires All of the Most Optimistic Sort

Buenos Aires, March 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—With the carnival season now making its annual entry, there are no outward signs of anything but prosperity in the capital of the Argentine. So far as society is concerned, it is exulting over the favorable prospects for the opera season which, the newspapers say, will make Buenos Aires the center of the operatic world this year.

The general feeling in business circles regarding economic conditions, however, is rather pessimistic.

The fact is, the price of grain, which guages the prosperity of the provinces, has fallen precisely when a substantial increase in price was anticipated. The markets of Great Britain and her allies are practically the only ones open to Argentine produce, and having organized a colossal "corner" Great Britain has become the grainery and store house of the group. She buys for all, carries for all, pays for all. By thus doing away with competition between themselves, the allies are in a position to dictate prices rather than have prices dictated to them.

The Argentine producers find that while the European demand is always for more, the supply is arranged from England by limiting the number of steamers available for the River Platte trade. All grain must be forwarded by freighters, the mail boats being requisitioned for the transport of chilled meat. The scarcity of freight vessels has accordingly given rise to serious congestion of the grain shipments.

At Galvan, and the stations near Bahia Blanca, the port of shipment for the southern zone, there were at the end of last month 140,000 tons of wheat stored in elevator sheds or stacked in the open awaiting shipment, and at intermediate stations along the Great Southern railroad there are 9,500,000 sacks of wheat and oats stacked in the open. Similar conditions prevail along the Great Western and Central Argentine lines. In fact, up to the end of last month, the grain of this year's harvest loaded or ready for loading was only 123,000 tons. For the same period last year the total was 444,000 tons. Thus far charters up to the 15th of July next for Argentine grain aggregate only 550,000 tons, which is approximately 1,050,000 tons short of the total for the corresponding period of last year.

Owing to the fact that a large number of Italian harvest hands have gone back to Italy and the general current of immigration has been meagre, the grain growers have also had some trouble with labor, there being such a scarcity of workers that high prices had to be paid. It was only through timely action of the department of labor, which organized the unemployed, and regulated the supply in accordance with the geographical zones and the actual demand, that the harvesting of the crops has, so far, been accomplished. In regard to the grain, the oats are of exceptional quality and quantity. The wheat has yielded heavily, but the grain is, generally speaking, light in weight, being from three to four pounds per bushel under the standard.

In regard to corn the outlook is not so favorable. It is estimated that the actual yield along the Western railroad lines will be 50 per cent. less than was officially forecast. The early crop turned out well, but locusts, hail and drought accounted for the falling off in the yield. The estimated output of this grain available for export is given by the Central Argentine railroad at 1,000,000 tons, while last year the same line gave for export 2,400,000 tons. There is still a good deal of last year's grain on hand.

Altogether the situation in the Argentine and South America generally is rather ambiguous. With visible assets worth millions of dollars on hand and with ready markets awaiting supplies, these perishable assets cannot be forwarded or liquidated for lack of freighters. This handicap is emphasized by the fact that under the influence of the war in Europe and the high prices offered for vessels the nascient mercantile marine of Argentina has practically vanished from sight.

Physicians have decided that several forms of nervous diseases, sometimes dangerously severe, can be caused by persons standing up and holding straps while riding in street cars.

Arrested on Grand Jury Indictment Returned in Posey County.

Mt. Vernon, Ind., April 14.—Isaac L. The day following the fire bloodhounds followed a trail to the door of Coan's home. He left for Harrison county, and was arrested on his return. Coan refused to discuss his arrest. The investigation was conducted under the direction of the state fire marshal's office.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Advertisement.

The letters say the firms have been delinquent since last October and that remittances and reports must be sent to the commission at once. The fee ranges from $1 to $10 for firms having in their employ from 5 to 500 or more persons; from $1 to $10 for theaters having from 100 to 1,000 or more seats, and $1 to $10 for hotels having from 30 to 200 or more rooms. The fees are required by the state inspection laws and are a portion of a tax imposed by these laws.

IRISH STEW OFFICIAL "FIGHTING FODDER" OF THE ALLIED ARMIES

The war-lords have sniffed the Irish stew!

The humble concoction of onions, potatoes and a "bit o' meat' is helping to build the "sinews of war" for the allied armies, for Irish stew has been selected as the official "fighting fodder." An order has been rushed to the United States for 600,000,000 one-pound cans of it.

What's good food for a fighting man should be good food for the man of peace. Irish stew then, should be as good served out of the family trencher as out of a tin can on the battlefield.

The army cooks have changed the old-fashioned recipe a little. Their 600,000,000-can order excludes potatoes. This army recipe may be worth experimenting with and the housewife may find it an improvement on the family cook book formula. Here are both:

From the Family Cook Book

Put two pounds of meat—beef, mutton or veal, and four pounds of potatoes in a large sauce pan. Have the potatoes peeled and sliced and lay meat and potatoes in alternate layers. Season to taste with salt and pepper and finely minced onion. Add one pint cold water and let simmer gently two hours. Serve hot.

From the Army Cook.

1,200,000 pounds onions.
1,200,000 pounds beans.
1,200,000 pounds beef.
1,200,000 pounds rice.
1,200,000 pounds carrots.

EVER FISH WITH A KITE? FINE SPORT

Catalina Veteran Tells Just How the Thing is Done.

By M. C. Larkin.

Catalina Island, Cal., April 14.—"Do you ever fish with a kite?" said Captain Dan, looking at me in his quizzical way.

"A kite?" said I. "What kind of guff are you trying to stuff me with now—fish with a kite!"

It's a way that Captain Danielson has when he's about to tell you one of the tricks of the trade. For 14 years O. I. Danielson has been a boatman on the big game fishing banks at Catalina Island, biggest sport fishing grounds in the world, and he has chugged out onto the blue sea there with some of the world's richest sportsmen fishing from the stern of his boat.

"Yes," Captain Dan went on, "if it's tuna we're wanting we generally fish with a kite. It's a dodge that was invented on the banks here and it's a thing we can always rely on to make the big fellows strike.

Secret Discovered.

"George Farnsworth was the lad who put this kite thing over on us, an' he fished with it for seven years before the rest of us got wise. He had all the men who went out to fish with him sworn to secrecy, but one of them finally spilled the beans.

"At first Farnsworth used to make kites of marine-blue silk and they were invisible against the sky. And he used to fly them within 300 yards of us and we never got hep to his game.

"The idea of the kite is this: 'The Tiger of the Sea,' meaning the leaping tuna, is a particular wary fish. He bites at nothing but a flying fish. So we let out a kite on maybe 150 feet of light string and tie it to our fishing line eight or ten feet from where the flying-fish dangles from the hook. The kite and the momentum of the launch keeps the flying fish skipping along over the water and Mr. Tuna, thinkin' the bait is sure enough alive, strikes and instead of a bobbin' kite, the sportsman has a plunging 'Tiger of the Sea' tugging on the end of his line. An' generally he swears it's a whale and not a fish at all."

NEW PROCESS FOR RADIO PHOTOGRAPH

French Scientist Claims to Have Made Important Discovery.

Paris, April 5.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Charles Vaillant, head of the radiographic laboratory of the Lariboisiere hospital in Paris, has announced a successful means of replacing the present costly process of x-ray photographing on a glass negative with printing directly on to paper.

Vaillant's new process uses ordinary sensitized paper for taking radium photographs. The cost of the paper is only a twentieth of that of the glass negative, and there is also a saving in weight and space.

Vaillant has only three fingers left out of ten, namely two forefingers and a thumb, the forefinger of the left hand and the forefinger of the right. The rest of his fingers he lost, one after the other, by holding them at the end of a tube, thus trying on himself the penetrative effects of the radium rays. Repeated amputation, however, did not lessen Vaillant's enthusiasm. He is already the discoverer of a radiographic method of determining whether or not an infant was born dead or alive.

The infant born dead comes out on the negative completely dark, whereas its having uttered a cry, or lived an instant, an hour, or ten hours, is proved by the development on the plate first of the stomach and then of the lungs. The practical legal result is that infanticide can now be detected without recourse to an autopsy.

For the moment Vaillant's mind is concentrated on getting the most out of radiography for the benefit of the wounded in war. "I want," he says, "to extract all the secrets I can from science, so as to help the surgeon to operate with greater certainty and save as many heroes as possible. My little personal war is with science and I mean to make her pay me for my amputations."

HER TWO HUNGRY BABES.

Lead California Woman to Attempt to Pass Forged Check.

Los Angeles, April 14.—A sick husband and the cries of two hungry babies drove Mrs. Rose Krehan, a pretty young woman of 22, to try to pass a bogus check in Los Angeles, for which she is now in jail. Mrs. Krehan was arrested by detectives as she was in the act of passing a check for $15, bearing the name of Robert Holwagner. Mrs. Krehan, sobbing hysterically, said that her husband is in the county hospital and that she is supporting two infants.

"Baby Cringo" Wins Liberty With Song

HARRY JOLINE

There are more ways than one of capturing a Villa bandit. Four-year-old Harry Joline tried singing. And it worked.

Baby Harry and his parents were held prisoners by Villa's men in Mexico recently. Harry was given the freedom of the prison, which happened to be a bull-pen. He sang baby songs to his guards and sang so sweetly the "bebie gringo" and his parents were released.

Harry showed his real wisdom when with his parents he traveled 14,000 miles in 45 days to his home in Philadelphia and kept well every day of the journey. The climate and altitude changed so often during the trip Harry's clothes were sometimes changed three times a day.

FROM FOURTEEN STATES.

Recruits Will Be Sought for Civilian Camp at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, April 14.—The canvass for recruits for the civilian military camp this summer at Fort Benjamin Harrison will be conducted from Chicago, with the exception of Indiana recruits. The Indianapolis bureau will have charge of this work, and every town and city in the state will be canvassed for enlistments.

There are thirteen other states in the central department, and these all will be canvassed from Chicago. It is expected companies of 100 to 150 men will be brought out of all the larger cities of the central states. Chicago already is active, even before the publicity campaign opens. It is said between 70 and 100 men sent in applications for enlistment. Paul B. Harms, a clerk in the central department, will be sent to Indianapolis to supervise the enlistments from this state.

Adjt. Gen. F. L. Bridges, H. O. Garman and Gordon E. Varney have been named as a committee to handle the money for the camp. Hamilton Buchanan has been appointed to obtain speakers to create interest in the camp.

The local committee is nearing the end of its work in raising the $4,000 necessary to defray expenses. The total lacks a few hundred dollars of being complete, and it is probable the amount will be subscribed this week.

FOR SELLING ILLEGAL SERUM

Hartford City, Ind., April 14. Judge W. T. Eichhorn, in the circuit court here has taken under advisement the case of the state against Oscar Ervin, well known farmer, who is charged with unlawfully selling hog cholera serum. State Veterinarian Nelson attended the trial. John Slater, of Missouri, of the Slater Serum company, was also present to aid in the defense. It was the serum of this company that Mr. Ervin is alleged to have sold illegally. The defense contends that the state has no right to legislate such matters because there is a federal statute covering the case. The state holds that the law, under which the prosecution is being conducted, is more specific than the federal statute and for that reason is legal. The case is attracting considerable attention in the county.

JUST A "SIMPLE SAILOR."

By Betty Brown.

Call it a simple sailor if you will, but this picturesque hat with its droopy brim and graceful lines is at least first cousin to a Paris picture hat. The tan straw is covered with brilliantly colored Georgette crepe with a many looped bow of narrow blue ribbon set at a smart angle on the crown.

BOARD IS DIVIDED ON PROPOSED CANAL

Col. Millis Favors New Waterway—S. F. Bowser is President.

The meeting of the directors and members of the Erie & Michigan Deep Waterways association at the Randall hotel, Thursday evening, when officers were elected for the ensuing year, was featured by the reading of a message from Congressman Cyrus Cline telling of the filing of the army engineers' report on the Toledo, Fort Wayne and Chicago barge canal with the chief of engineers at Washington.

The message was as follows: "Canal report filed with chief of engineers, signed by Col. W. V. Judson and Maj. P. S. Bond. I understand Col. Millis will file a minority report of the construction. Finds (meaning Judson and Bond) that construction feasible by either the north or south route. Estimated cost, $148,000,000. Commercial necessity for construction does not now exist. Col. John Millis will report that necessity for construction does exist now."

S. F. Bowser Named President.

S. F. Bowser, head of the Bowser Oil Tank & Pump works, was elected president to succeed the late Perry A. Randall. J. W. Caswell, head of the Caswell-Runyan Manufacturing company, of Huntington, was elected vice president for the southern route; Richard Eibel, of South Bend, vice president for the northern route; A. M. Groves, Fort Wayne, secretary, and Thomas J. Logan, Fort Wayne, treasurer.

The reading of the message from Congressman Cline and the election of officers followed a banquet at 6 o'clock served in the main diningroom of the hotel. The message from Congressman Cline caused much enthusiasm for it was the general opinion that a victory had been won.

J. W. Caswell, who acted as temporary president, said that the report was probably better than one in which all members of the board had voted favorably. "It gives us occasion to rejoice and I am quite sure now that Col. Millis' minority report will bring the canal in time."

In accepting the presidency of the association Mr. Bowser said: "I hope to live until this canal is constructed." All present agreed that he would. He announced that he would appoint the board of directors within the next few days.

Short addresses were delivered by C. B. Williams, of Huntington; C. S. Bash, Fort Wayne; T. E. Ellison, Fort Wayne; Charles R. Lane, Fort Wayne; T. J. Logan, Fort Wayne, and a number of others.

URGES COMPULSORY HEALTH INSURANCE

Federal Health Experts' Report Finds Unfortunate Conditions.

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, April 4.—Overwork and underpay are the principal forces at work in breaking down the health of American workingmen and women. This is the conclusion of the U. S. Public Health Service in a bulletin just published, dealing with the effects of modern industrial conditions upon the lives and happiness of thirty million American wage earners.

Dr. B. S. Warren, surgeon, and Edgar Sydenstricker, statistician, of the Public Health Service, are the authors of Public Health Bulletin No. 76, entitled "Health Insurance, Its Relation to the Public Health," which shows the conditions in American industry today. This report recommends a plan for compulsory health insurance for wage earners, to be administered by the state and federal governments. Its outstanding feature, however, is the indictment of present-day social and economic conditions.

"Each of the 30,000,000 workers in the United States loses on the average about nine days every year on account of sickness alone," says this report. The causes of disease are given as follows:

The occupational hazards of disease; irregularity of employment, unhealthful conditions of living; the employment of women in industry under modern conditions of work, particularly of married women; and the economic disadvantage at which a large proportion of wage workers and their families are placed as the result of low wages and insufficient annual income.

The report makes it clear that "economic disadvantage" as a cause of disease overshadows all the rest. For example, inadequate diet is set down as the first of "unhealthful conditions of living,' and the report says:

"Income statistics published by federal and state governments in the last few years indicate that a considerable proportion of the families of wage workers have not been able to maintain a diet that will provide for proper nourishment.

"A larger proportion can maintain an adequate diet only at the sacrifice of healthful environment and of other items which go to constitute a reasonable standard of living. There can be no doubt that nourishing food is sacrificed in a large number of instances in order to obtain some of the comforts and amusements and to gratify some of the wants which are entirely natural and to be expected of the average American."

Less than half of the families of American wage workers get enough wages to maintain decent conditions of existence, according to this report.

"An examination of a number of studies of the budgets of American workingmen's families indicates that the point of adequate subsistence is not reached until the family income is about $800 a year,' the report continues. 'Less than half of the wage earners' families in the United tates have an annual income of that size, according to all statistics of income for workingmen's families."

PIERCETON'S BUILDING BOOM

Pierceton, Ind., April 14.—A building boom is apparent in this town. At the Reid, Murdoch plant, the new addition is nearing completion. The brick work is just about completed and the roof is being put on one part of the structure. The contractors plan to turn over two floors this week for the installation of the machinery. The building is 87 by 153 feet, a part of it being three stories high. Work is progressing rapidly on the new overall factory, and it is probable that the brick work will be completed this week. This is a handsome structure and will be a great improvement to the business part of town. The two flats which will be on the upper floor will be strictly modern. In the new McNamara addition in the south part of town the foundations have been completed for three dwellings facing on First street, and half a dozen other new residences are under construction in various parts of the town.
